FERRIS IS ACQUITTED ON PERJURY CHARGE

The Court Ordered the Jury to Bring in a Verdict for the Defendant

The Case Was Outcome of Middlesex County "Ring" Investigation--Only Two Witnesses Were Called by the Defense

George A. Ferris, a former officer at the Lowell jail, who was indicted by a grand jury of Middlesex county on a complaint charging him with having committed perjury in connection with the so-called Middlesex "county ring" investigation, and whose trial on the complaint was opened before Judge Chase in the second session of the criminal court in Suffolk county in Boston, Monday, was this morning found not guilty and discharged.

It was alleged that Mr. Ferris had made statements to the effect that the late Harry E. Shaw, when keeper of the jail in this city, had given trip books between Lowell and Boston to Mrs. Shaw and her three daughters on various occasions and also that Mr. Ferris had testified before the grand jury of extravagance at the Lowell jail.

The case was opened before Judge Chase Monday morning and the government put on a number of witnesses. The government's case was rested yesterday afternoon and only two witnesses were put on by the defense, the witnesses being Joseph O. Hayden, treasurer of the county of Middlesex, and the defendant, George A. Ferris.

This is the second of the cases which grew out of the investigation of the affairs in Middlesex county, the first one being that of Jackson Palmer, son of a former mayor of this city and now a resident of Boston. Mr. Palmer was found guilty by a jury in Middlesex county and the disposition of his case will take place next month.

Mr. Ferris was also indicted by a grand jury, but his counsel petitioned for a change of venue and the case was transferred to Suffolk county. The case was practically concluded yesterday afternoon and at the end of the testimony of Mr. Ferris, lawyer Huriburt, counsel for the defense, asked the court to direct the jury to return a verdict for the defendant. Mr. Huriburt quoted the law at considerable length, the jury having been excused until this morning. He argued on questions of law, claiming that the government in order to sustain the charge of perjury, is bound to prove that the tickets used by the members of Mr. Shaw's family, were not paid for by the county of Middlesex.

Yesterday afternoon the court reserved decision on the argument to have the case taken away from the jury, and this morning upon the resumption of court the question of taking the case from the jury was further discussed and the judge addressing the jury told the members of the panel to return a verdict for the defense. In talking to the jurors he spoke in substance as follows:

"The only statement I could submit to you would be as to whether or not Ferris saw tickets delivered to members of family. "The commonwealth must directly and positively by at least one witness deny this. The commonwealth has tried to do this by members of Shaw's family. In cross-examination two of them stated that the strongest they could put it is that they had no memory of so asking.

"It becomes my duty to direct you to order a verdict of not guilty."

District Attorney Higgins of Middlesex county appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Henry R. Huriburt and Arthur Brooks of Boston and George F. Toye of Lowell.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The will of the late Col. John Jacob Astor was ready today to be offered for probate, special guardians having already been appointed to protect the interests of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the widow and Colonel's Astor's two children, Vincent Astor and Muriel Astor. Unless one of the special guardians is prevented from being on hand the will will be offered for probate and admitted without protest. A decree probating the will will be signed if no notices of contest are presented before the case is called. There were no indications this morning of any contest being made of the will which disposes of an estate variously estimated at $75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

She Was Turned Out of Her Home

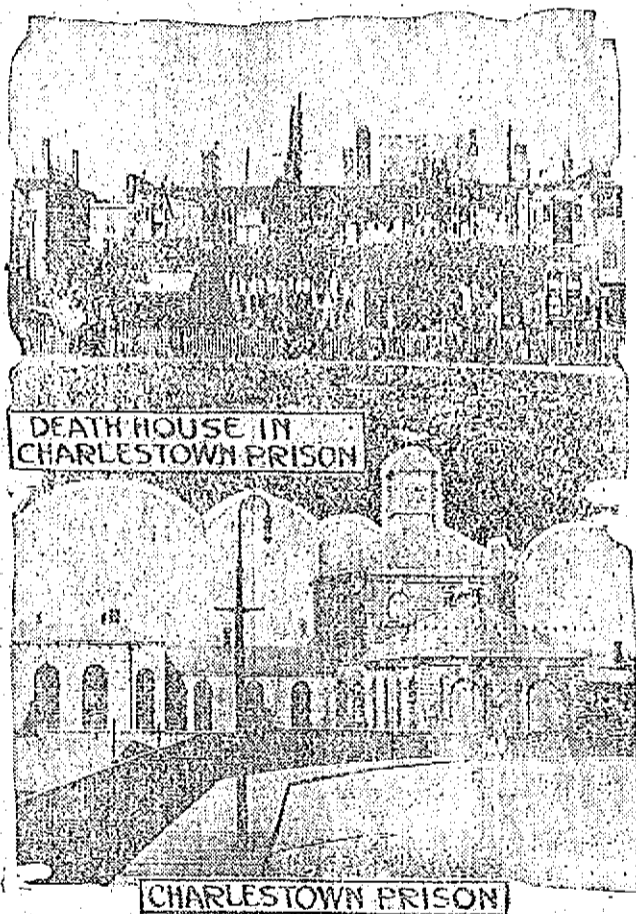

NEW YORK, May 17.—Mrs. Hanna Saunders, 75 years old, is dying in the Foundling hospital today from exposure, the result of sitting for two days on the sidewalk beside her meagre household furniture in front of a Third avenue tenement from which she was ejected on Tuesday. No one paid any attention to the woman's plight until last night when a neighbor offered to pay for the storage of the furniture if she would consent to go to the hospital.

CONDEMNED MAN WAS CALM WHEN INFORMED OF DECISION OF GOVERNOR FOSS

His Counsel and Spiritual Adviser Conveyed Sad News to Him This Morning

Prisoner Expressed Disappointment That He Would Not be Permitted to Live--He Told Prison Physician That He Did Not Need Medical Attention--He May Not Make Statement

BOSTON, May 17.—The news that he must be electrocuted next week for murdering Miss Avis Linnell of Hyannis was received calmly by Clarence V. T. Richeson today. He was informed that Gov. Foss had declined to lay the petition for a commutation of sentence before the executive council by his attorney, William A. Morse and his spiritual adviser, Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church. The attorney and the minister were admitted to the death chamber at 9.40 a. m. and with them were Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, the prison chaplain, and Deputy Warden Nathan D. Allen. Although the former, clergyman expressed disappointment that he would not be permitted to live, as he requested, he displayed no other emotion. He showed no indication of collapsing physically and when the prison physician, Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, visited the cell at noon his services were not required. Dr. McLaughlin asked Richeson if he needed any medical attention. Richeson thanked him and said he did not.

Attorney Morse and Rev. Mr. Johnson remained with the condemned man until this afternoon. Chaplain Stebbins and Deputy Warden Allen were present part of the time. Richeson read the governor's statement in the morning papers carefully and after a long talk with Mr. Morse and Mr. Johnson sent for some books, which Chaplain Stebbins obtained in the library.

It is not known whether the former minister will leave a statement. Before leaving the prison at 1 p. m. Mr. Johnson gave out the following signed statement:

"In company with the Hon. William A. Morse I visited Mr. Richeson this morning at a quarter before ten o'clock. Mr. Morse, after a few minutes conversation, stated frankly to him that the governor had decided not to interfere with the execution of the sentence pronounced by the court. He then read to Mr. Richeson from one of the newspapers the full statement of the governor.

"Mr. Richeson received the communication from Mr. Morse with the same spirit of fortitude which he has exhibited from the beginning. He did not collapse in any way but throughout the trying ordeal showed the remarkable courage which all along has been the occasion of astonishment to me.

"He stated to us that his principal thought as he faced execution was not for himself but for the sorrow of his family and friends.

(Signed) "Herbert S. Johnson"

GOVERNOR FOSS GIVES OUT STATEMENT BEARING ON RICHESON CASE BOSTON, May 17.—Clarence V. T. Richeson must die in the electric chair for the murder of Avis Linnell. In an official statement issued last evening Governor Foss announced that executive clemency cannot be extended to him.

Attorney William A. Morse, his counsel, at once gave up the fight. In a statement issued later he declared Richeson must now look for merciful judgment to his God, to whose service in the innocence of his boyhood, he consecrated his life.

Abandoned, Richeson slept peacefully in his death cell at Charlestown prison last night, unaware of his fate. He was visited last evening by his spiritual adviser, the Rev. Dr. Herbert S. Johnson. He was still hoping then that his plea for clemency would be heard. His spiritual adviser left him shortly before 9 o'clock. The two guards took their places before his cell door and Richeson bade them good night.

Governor Foss received the report of the three alienists he named as a commission to test the sanity of Richeson, yesterday afternoon. The consensus of these opinions marked Richeson as an abnormal man and some of them as actually suffering from a form of insanity. But none agreed that he was so mentally deranged that he was oblivious of the knowledge of right from wrong.

While they reached the conclusion that he was subject of attacks marked by extreme emotional disturbances, with loss of memory, they could not show that the crime was committed during such attacks.

It was at this point that responsibility for his crime commenced and restrictions of the law entered.

The alienists held Richeson "accountable for his crime, although voluminous evidence had been laid before the governor showing that the condemned man was far from normal.

Attorney Morse abandoned the fight when he learned that the governor had reached the decision not to refer the petition to his council.

Considering the mass of documentary evidence which had been presented in behalf of Richeson, the summary by Governor Foss was brief. It was given out by his secretary, Dudley Holman. The statement in full is as follows:

SUES FOR $40,000 FOR INJURIES RECEIVED

Workman Says That He Was Not Properly Protected While at Work

The Case of Comstock vs. Livingston Was Settled--Plaintiff Sued to Recover on $10,000 Promissory Note

Today's session of the superior civil court was taken up by the examination of the witnesses in the cases of Alexis C. Lamarte of this city vs. Patrick Conlon, the contractor, and the same plaintiff vs. The Guarantee Construction Co. The cases are being tried simultaneously. The jury was empaneled late yesterday afternoon, after which they were taken out to view the premises, the Massachusetts mills where the alleged accident occurred. The ad damnum in each case is $20,000.

In the case in which Mr. Conlon is the defendant, Mr. Lamarte alleges that while he was at work on a boiler house in process of construction in the yard of the Massachusetts Cotton Co. and in the employ of Mr. Conlon as a bricklayer, on the 14th day of June, 1911, a heavy iron hammer with a sharp edge fell from above, striking him on the head crushing and breaking his skull. He further alleges that it was the duty of his employer to provide a safe place to work and that he was not warned, and that where he was working was unsafe. He claims that he was sick and disabled for some time and that he suffered great pain and expense. He also claims that his injuries were serious and permanent. He sues to recover damages and recompense for his suffering, asking for $20,000.

The defendant's answer to the claims is a general denial. In the second case the plaintiff, Mr. Lamarte, alleges that through the negligence of an employee or employees of the Guarantee Construction company, which company was at work on the building at the time of the accident, an iron hammer, or rivet cutter was permitted by said employee or employees of the company to fall causing injuries to the plaintiff as described in the claim against Mr. Conlon. In this case the plaintiff seeks damages of $20,000.

F. W. & S. E. Qua are appearing for the plaintiff in both cases. M. O. Garner and J. W. Britton are the attorneys for Mr. Conlon and the lawyers for the Guarantee Construction Co. are H. R. Eygraves and H. D. McLellan.

Case Settled In the case of Adeline R. Comstock, executrix vs. William E. Livingston, an action of contract to recover on a promissory note of $10,000, payable to the order of the testatrix, Hannah E. Livingston, of whose estate Adeline R. Comstock is the executrix, which was opened at the civil session of the superior court before judge and jury Wednesday morning, and in which the judge excused the jury yesterday, and heard the evidence, was settled late yesterday afternoon. The complaint set forth was that Mr. Livingston owed the amount of the note and the interest on it from Oct. 2, 1904. William H. Bent appeared for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defendant.

Topping Testifies at Steel Trust Inquiry

NEW YORK, May 17.—At the hearing of the government's steel trust inquiry John A. Topping, formerly chief executive of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and now chairman of the Republican Iron and Steel company, gave some interesting testimony regarding the absorption of the T. C. and I. by the trust. His version was widely at variance with the reports given out at the time of the absorption. He asserted that the company was prosperous at the time and, Roosevelt to the contrary, the merger was not made to avoid a panic. It was made, the witness said, for money making considerations alone. Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, who is representing the government in the investigation, asked the witness if the business of the T. C. and I. company had been good or bad before its absorption by the trust. The answer was that the business was good and was rapidly increasing.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE

After Five Minute Trial in Court

BOSTON, May 17.—After a five-minute proceeding, in which there was much mysterious whispering by counsel and the one witness, Grace Rogers Mitchell was granted a divorce yesterday in the divorce session of superior court from William A. Mitchell, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Thomas G. Plant Shoe company. Mitchell lives at 30 St. Mary's street, Fenway. His wife charged him with infidelity. The case was uncontested.

Much mystery and evident desire to hide the case from the press has been evinced. After the close of the case Judge Pierce said he understood an agreement for alimony would be reached but declined at the time to enter any decree therefor.

Ex-Gov. John L. Bates, who appeared for the libellant, and George W. Anderson, who appeared for the libellee, refused to talk.

The single witness received instructions from Mr. Anderson before he went on the stand to speak in as near a whisper as possible. His name could not be heard, but he did say he was a broker.

He told of a certain automobile trip in Providence to which he was a party and of a certain hotel. Nothing more of his testimony could be heard.

The two attorneys, the mysterious broker, Mrs. Mitchell, who is handsome and about 25 years old, and an elderly woman entered the court room after 4 o'clock.

Atty. Anderson at once asked that the case be heard in the judge's lobby. Judge Pierce refused. The clerk of the court knew nothing of the case that was to follow, so had to send a court officer to the vault to get the papers. The case has not appeared on the list for this sitting, and was only filed on March 19. For some reason the parties to the libel desired a speedy separation.

Though young Mrs. Mitchell appeared in court she was not called upon to testify. The young broker who did testify left the court room immediately.

Mrs. Mitchell left the court house at the Somerset street entrance and drove away in a closed carriage.

Mrs. Mitchell stated in her libel that she married at Boston on Oct. 1, 1902, and lived with her husband in Brookline in 1902, in Cambridge, in 1903 and 1904 and in Boston up to Sept. 16, 1910, at 50 St. Mary's street.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Musical comedy at its best is seen and enjoyed at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The Temple Players, presenting "Songs and Dances of Ireland," are scoring the biggest hit of the season. Miss Grace

Hawthorne, leading soloist of the company, is winning new friends in her two numbers, "Killarney" and "Come Back to Erin." The other members include Jack Allman, Helen Nichols, two recent additions to the cast; Jas. Byrnes, Jr., Miss Winnifred Gilrairie, Miss Lawless, Miss Murphy and Miss Murray. The program contains many bright and catchy numbers and a series of dances that combine in making the offering a real leader.

Miss Blanche Holt & Co., in "The Clayton's best output, "The Star Boarder," is a most enjoyable farce comedy that's brimful of fun, and especially well interpreted by Miss Holt and three assistants.

Lightning Weston, counterpart of wonderful ability, gives a marvellous exhibition of his skill with the crayon, and Leslie Thurston, lady xylophone soloist, is a real leader in her class. Emma Cameron, the week's soloist, is being heard in the latest and best song hits.

KEITH'S LE PALACE D'ART

singing and motion pictures being given at Le Palace d'Art this week is attracting much attention, and as the policy becomes more firmly entrenched in the public mind there isn't the slightest doubt but that it will become the summer dramatic centre of the city. Yesterday's changes in pictures and songs brought with them increased interest. One of the most tense pictures this city has yet seen is "Suppressed Evidence," strongly melodramatic and of the sort to elicit applause. Another excellent representation is based upon an incident in the life of the French monarch, Henry IV, and put into picture form by the celebrated Pathe firm of Paris. The picture is beautifully colored. "Come Picking Or the Irish Coast" is just what its name implies, a series of scenes taken by the Pathe company off the Galway coast of Ireland, where the fisher folk work early and late landing red fish for continental markets. "When Daddy Got Wise" and fact that he called to renew his subscription for The Sun. "I was always a great admirer of The Sun," said Mr. Nolan, "and you cannot imagine how good it is to read home news when you are thousands of miles away. Your newspaper seems almost a living thing to me and when it comes it is just like meeting a fellow from your own home town."

Mr. Nolan went to Alaska about eight years ago and he came back to Lowell for a short visit three years ago. He is now working a claim in Juneau, 200 miles this side of Dawson, and he is quite well satisfied with the way in which his mine is panning out. He does not boast of riches but he allows that he will not have to fix any more looms for a living.

Mr. Nolan will remain in this section of the country for about two months. He is subject to bronchitis and is suffering an attack of it at the present time. Next week he will go to the White mountains where he will remain for a few weeks. This is the rainy season in Alaska and he always tries to avoid the rainy season. His mine, however, is being operated all the time and, unlike the average man, he has a good income whether he works or plays. Mr. Nolan spends his winters in San Francisco, Cal. The Alaskan winter, he says, is too severe for comfort, so he goes to Frisco and takes it easy during the winter months. There is little else doing around Juneau except mining but a little farther on there is a diversity of occupation. The country abounds in fish and big game of all kinds. There is to be found there the black, the brown, and the grizzly bear; moose, caribou, deer, mountain sheep and other animals whose fur and meat are valuable. Mr. Nolan arrived in Lowell yesterday. He likes Lowell and says that if the same opportunities were open to him in this section of the country as in Alaska he would much prefer to live here. It will not be long, however, before he will be able to live wherever he may please and it's a good bet that when he decides to rest on his oars and enjoy the fruits of his labor he will return to Lowell. In the meantime The Sun will keep him posted on all that is going on at home and will carry sunshine and companionship to him in his mining camp in the mountains of Juneau.

Maxime Lamirande was arrested on a warrant charging him with threatening his wife, Alice. He entered a plea of not guilty and inasmuch as one of the witnesses was not present, the case was continued till tomorrow, bail being fixed at $200.

On Probation
Alphonse Giguere denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with being a stubborn child, but after hearing the testimony of the mother of the defendant, which was to the effect that Alphonse was a pool room "tender" and that he spent practically all the money he earned in playing his favorite game, the court found him guilty but in order to give him a chance to reform, placed him in the care of the probation officer.

Drunkenness
John J. Hart was arrested yesterday in a drunken condition and in order to baffle the police he gave his name as Ryan. The keen eye of Deputy Downey detected Hart in the cage this morning and after a few questions on the part of the deputy, the defendant admitted his name is Hart and as this was his second offense, he was fined $5. John Murphy and Arthur Prescott, two other second offenders, were fined a like amount.

Roderick Bruce denied he was drunk yesterday but as the evidence was against him he was found guilty and ordered to the common jail for a term of three months. Patrolman J. H. Clark, who made the arrest stated that he apprehended the defendant in Middlesex street near the station at 11:15 o'clock last night. He said Bruce was staggering drunk and smelled strongly of liquor. Patrolman Doolley said he saw Bruce in the afternoon at which time he was pretty full. He said he ordered him to go home and lost track of him later. Bruce denied he was drunk but when the deputy informed the court that Bruce comes to Lowell every Saturday night from Granville and gets drunk, the court imposed the above sentence.

Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

ARBOR DAY IN MAINE
PORTLAND, Me., May 17.—Today had a double significance in Maine. It was observed both as Arbor-day in accordance with the proclamation of Governor Plaisted who suggested as especially important the teaching of children to love the trees of Maine and as Hague or Peace day for which arrangements were made by the Maine branch of the American School Peace League. The planting of over 10,000 silver maples was a feature in this city.

SELECTING A HAT

In the opinion of the milliner there are five golden rules to be observed when choosing a hat.
First appearances are the safest. Be judged by the first rapid impression which the looking glass affords.
Study the color of the eye before any other consideration.
Be certain that the headpiece fits.

As every head is individual in shape, to fit a bandeau suitably means a great deal from the point of view of comfort and becomingness.

See yourself in a full length mirror before making a decision. A hat often looks well in its relation to head and shoulders where it falls ignominiously as the crowning piece of the whole figure.

Have the hair well dressed before embarking on a hat choosing expedition.

CAMBRIDGE MAN ROBBED AND HIT WITH HAMMER

Two Thieves Got Away With $95 and Left Junk Shop Man Unconscious

BOSTON, May 17.—Two young men entered the junk shop of Alex Smith, 123 Main street, Cambridge, yesterday afternoon, at 4:15, closed the outside door, and after robbing Smith of $95, beat him over the head and face with a hammer and left him insensible. Smith is at the Cambridge Relief hospital with five ugly wounds, but his skull was not fractured. His condition, however, is serious.

Main street, ran to the shop but could not open the door. A few minutes later two men came out and hastened away. Smith staggered out shortly afterward and the two boys helped him to the shop of George F. Reid, a few doors away. According to the story Smith told the police, the men walked to the rear of the small building where he was at work. They tried to weigh themselves and a second later one seized Smith and demanded his money, at the same time beating him. He begged for mercy, saying that he had a wife and five children, and telling them to take his money, but spare his life. The money, which was in an inside pocket, was not forthcoming quick enough, and as one man stepped back to the door and fastened it the other threw Smith to the floor and choked him. Smith weakened and the robber snatched the money. But Smith managed to seize his assailant and firmly set his teeth in one hand. The man yelled with pain and called his companion. A hammer lying on the floor was used to shower blows on Smith. The man, escaped by pulling out one of Smith's teeth. One of the men returned for a raincoat, which he wrapped about the injured finger. It is believed they hastened to the Kendall square station of the Subway. Descriptions of the men agree that they are about 23 or 24 years old, well dressed, one tall and the other short, both wearing black derby hats.

Consult Your Complexion

Whenever you are in doubt as to what creams and emollients to use.

The texture of the individual skin varies, as does also the supply of natural oils. The skin that is dry and easily roughened needs an entirely different course of treatment from the skin that is naturally oily. But no woman need have a shiny skin. For the face with a tendency to shine, Riker's Violet Cerate should be used on retiring, after the skin has been washed with pure soap, and left a little moist. The Cerate should be worked into the skin with an upward rotary motion. In the morning the face should be washed with water—not too hot—in which a sprinkling of Almond Meal has been dissolved. The use of a small rubber complexion brush passed over the face after drying will prevent that shiny look.

What Billie Burke, the Noted Actress, says of Violet Cerate

Gentlemen:

I am a constant user of your Violet Cerate, which I consider most satisfactory and beneficial, particularly when something more than ordinary cleansing cream is required.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend it to the woman who is particular about her complexion.

Sincerely yours,

RETURNS TO WED OLD SWEETHEART

Man Thought Drowned 25 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—James McDonald arrived here yesterday on the steamer Harvard enroute to Alberta, Canada, to meet Miss Harriet Woodside, his sweetheart of 25 years ago who until a week ago believed him dead. McDonald sailed from the New England coast in the whaling ship Fannie Griffith, a quarter of a century ago on a voyage for his health. He expected to return and be married. The Fannie Griffith was wrecked. After many hardships he returned to the New England village and found that Miss Woodside had married. He did not let his presence become known and returned to the sea. In following years he occasionally had news of his one time fiancée through a common friend. He learned last week in Los Angeles that her husband had died and he left for Canada the next day.

THE FIREMEN'S BILL TO BE VOTED UPON

Provides One Day Off in Five

It will be up to the voters at the next city election to say whether or not the firemen shall have one day off in five. An act relative to this matter was approved by the legislature last month and will be submitted to the voters at the annual city election. The act reads as follows:

Section 1. Members of the fire department of every city shall be excused from duty for one day out of every five days, without loss of pay.

The time and the manner of excusing members of fire departments from duty, in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall be determined by the chief, or other officer or board at the head of the fire department.

Section 2. The chief or other officer, or board at the head of the fire department of any city shall have authority, in case of any public emergency, to prevent any member of the department from taking the day off herein provided for at the time when he is entitled thereto, or at the time assigned thereto, provided that such day off shall be granted to him as soon thereafter as is practicable, and such days shall be in addition to any annual vacation now or hereafter allowed to the members of said departments, and such annual vacation shall not be diminished on account of the days off herein provided for.

Section 3. This act shall be submitted to the voters of every city except the cities of Boston and Brockton, at the annual city election in the current year, and shall take effect in any city upon its acceptance by a majority of the voters voting thereon; otherwise it shall not take effect. If in any such city the subelection for the current year shall have been held prior to the passage of this act, this act shall be submitted to the voters of such city at the annual city election in the following year. (Approved April 22, 1912.)

STOLE PENNIES

MAN GIVEN A SENTENCE OF FOUR MONTHS

BOSTON, May 17.—The theft of 109 rare pennies, dating consecutively from 1795 to 1894, has nearly broken the heart of Ethelyn J. Morris of Walnut street, who cherished them as an heirloom.

For stealing them James Grim, formerly of Walnut street, was sentenced to four months in the house of correction when arraigned in the municipal court yesterday.

Grim, also known as John L. Higgins, while rooming at the lodging house of Mabel Y. Bailey on Walnut street, stole clothes and toilet articles, it is said, and the cherished pennies from Miss Morris, also a lodger there. This occurred on Jan. 10 last. Grim skipped away.

The landlady, Mrs. Bailey, while taking a walk yesterday on Boston common, espied Grim. She grabbed him by the arm and held him till an officer placed him under arrest.

SERVICE PENSION ACT

For Veterans of Civil and Mexican Wars

Several inquiries have been made at The Sun office relative to a service pension to certain defined veterans of the Civil War and the War with Mexico, and for the benefit and enlightenment of those interested we publish a copy of the act, taken from the Congressional Record of May 7:

"Section 1. That any person who served 90 days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late Civil War, who has been honorably discharged therefrom, and who has reached the age of 62 years or over, shall, upon making proof of such facts, according to such rules and regulations as the secretary of the interior may provide, be placed upon the pension roll and be entitled to receive a pension as follows: In case such person has reached the age of 62 years and served 90 days, $13 per month; 6 months, $13.50 per month; 1 year, $14 per month; 1½ years, $14.50 per month; 2 years, $15 per month; 2½ years, $15.50 per month; 3 years or over, $16 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 65 years and served 90 days, $15 per month; 6 months, $15.50 per month; 1 year, $16 per month; 1½ years, $16.50 per month; 2 years, $17 per month; 2½ years, $18 per month; 3 years or over, $19 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 70 years and served 90 days, $18 per month; 6 months, $19 per month; 1 year, $20 per month; 1½ years, $21 per month; 2 years, $22 per month; 2½ years, $23 per month; 3 years or over, $24 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 75 years and served 90 days, $21 per month; 6 months, $22.50 per month; 1 year, $24 per month; 1½ years, $25 per month; 2 years or over, $30 per month. That any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil War and received an honorable discharge, and who was wounded in battle or in line of duty and is now unfit for manual labor by reason thereof, or who from disease or other causes incurred in line of duty resulting in his disability is now unable to perform manual labor, shall be paid the maximum pension under this act to wit, $30 per month, without regard to length of service, or age."

"That any person who has served 90 days or more in the military or naval service of the United States in the War with Mexico and has been honorably discharged therefrom, shall, upon making like proof of such service, be entitled to receive a pension of $30 per month. All of the aforesaid pensions shall commence from the date of filing of the application in the Bureau of Pensions after the passage and approval of this act. Provided, That persons who are 62 years of age or over, and who are now receiving pensions under existing laws, or whose claims are pending in the Bureau of Pensions, may, by application to the commissioner of pensions, in such form as he may prescribe, receive the benefits of this act; and nothing herein contained shall prevent any pensioner or person entitled to a pension from procuring his claim and receiving a pension under any other general or special act. Provided, That no person shall receive a pension under any other law at the same time or for the same period that he is receiving a pension under the provisions of this act. Provided further, That no person who is now receiving or shall hereafter receive a greater pension under any other general or special law, than he would be entitled to receive under the provisions herein shall be pensionable under this act."

"Sec. 2. That rank in the service shall not be considered in applications filed hereunder."

"Sec. 3. That no pension attorney, claim agent, or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for services rendered in presenting any claim to the Bureau of Pensions, or securing any pensions under this act, except in applications for original pensions by persons who have not heretofore received a pension."

"Sec. 4. That the benefits of this act shall include any person who served during the late Civil War, or in the War with Mexico, and who is now or may hereafter become entitled to pension under the acts of June 27, 1890, February 15, 1895, and the joint resolutions of July 1, 1902, and June 25, 1906, or the acts of January 29, 1857, March 3, 1861, and February 17, 1877."

"Sec. 5. That it shall be the duty of the commissioner of pensions, as each application for pension under this act is adjudicated, to cause to be kept a record showing the name and length of service of each claimant, the monthly rate of payment granted to or received by him, and the county and state of his residence; and shall, at the end of the fiscal year 1914 tabulate the record so obtained by states and counties, and shall furnish certified copies thereof upon demand and the payment of such fee therefor as is provided by law for certified copies of records in the executive departments."

"WETTEST" TOWN

IS TO HAVE FOUR MORE SALOONS

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 17.—Winthrop, Mo., said to be the "wettest" town of its size in the country, is to be limited in the number of saloons. The town has 83 inhabitants, including women and children, and the county court has just issued licenses for four additional saloons.

Winthrop now has six saloons and six wholesale liquor houses. The members of the county court declare they will issue no more saloon licenses. Winthrop is just opposite Atchison, Kan., where there are no saloons. A bridge connects the towns, and at night is nearly always crowded with persons going to Missouri to get a drink.

LIEUT. COL. DUNN

MAY BE CHOSEN COLONEL OF THE NINTH REGIMENT

Street Commissioner John H. Dunn of Boston, who is lieutenant-colonel of the 9th regiment, yesterday received assurances from at least 25 of the 30 officers of the regiment who are enti-

led to vote at tonight's election at the East armory, Boston, that they would be with him for colonel.

Judge Edward L. Logan of South Boston, who is major of the third battalion, is also a candidate, but Dunn's friends are confident that the contest will be decided on the first ballot.

Olive Oil for Thin People

Thin people as a rule are not strong, and ordinary foods, even when eaten in quantity, do not always build up the body and give strength. If this has been your experience, you should at once become a convert to the use of Pompeian Olive Oil. Two things, this, the purest of olive oils will do—first, it is a food and flesh builder. It is easily digested and is an ideal food in itself, especially for invalids and convalescents, and, second, it builds up strength and creates energy. This is due to the fact that it is much easier digested than solid foods.

Pompeian Olive Oil being absolutely pure and from the first pressing of collected, hand picked, ripe Italian olives, without any chemical treatment or adulteration of any kind, is the best remedy possible for all stomach and gastric troubles. It has a distinctive sweet, nutty flavor not to be found in other kinds.

When taken with each meal, either plain or with salads and other foods, it will soon demonstrate to you its wonderfully beneficial results.

If you will use more Pompeian Olive Oil you will soon learn that you can do away with half the other medicines you are using. In itself, it is a food-medicine without an equal.

Pompeian Olive Oil is sold by druggist and grocers. Full one-half pint cans, 25 cents; full pint cans, 50 cents; full quart cans, 90 cents.

CURED OF LOCKJAW

NEW TREATMENT ENABLES WOMAN TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, May 17.—Taken to Har Moriah hospital two weeks ago, apparently dying from lockjaw, Mrs. Ray Spiro of 55 East 118th street will leave the institution today a well woman.

Mrs. Spiro, who is 65 years old, was attended by Dr. Leo Steiglitz and Dr. S. A. Blauner, while the injection of tetanus antitoxin was supervised by Dr. Nicoll of the department of health research laboratories.

Because of her age the woman's recovery is considered most unusual. But there are other reasons why the successful termination of her illness has caused much comment. One of these is that the tetanus antitoxin was administered in large doses and was not injected into the tissues, but into the veins.

It was learned that such a course was being advocated by Dr. William Park, head of the research laboratories of the department of health. It is a comparatively new treatment in this country. Mrs. Spiro received in all 75,000 units of the tetanus antitoxin.

Best time ever, Associate, tonight.

A SUICIDE NOTE FOUND IN BERTH

Sailor is Missing From the Vermont

BOSTON, May 17.—After an all-day investigation, the police were not satisfied last night as to whether H. Schmidt, a first class carpenter from the U. S. S. Vermont, committed suicide by jumping overboard from the steamer Bay State on its passage from Portland to Boston yesterday morning, as a note in his vacant stateroom announced, or whether the note was a ruse on the part of the sailor to escape pursuit in case he deserted.

As the second steward of the steamer did not enter the stateroom occupied by the sailor until after 8 o'clock yesterday morning, an hour after the boat docked, Schmidt had plenty of opportunity to leave the boat. Capt. Austin Linscott of the Bay State and the purser reported the man's disappearance as a "probable suicide by drowning" to the general manager of the Eastern Steamship corporation.

PRESIDENT TAFT GREATLY REFRESHED BY A DAY OF REST

CLEVELAND, O., May 17.—Refreshed by a comparatively quiet day here, President Taft left Cleveland early today to take up again his speech-making tour of the state.

Friends of the president were confident today that he was more determined than ever to make the struggle for Ohio's 45 delegates to the republican national convention as strenuous as possible. Although Mr. Taft declined to discuss reports published here that he might abandon the fight for a renomination if he should lose in the Ohio primaries men close to him place no credence in such a report. They point to the fact that hundreds of delegates to the convention are instructed and pledged for Mr. Taft and that the Taft workers throughout the country have put up their best fight for him. They figure also on the bitter resentment the president has shown toward Colonel Roosevelt and few of them would concede that he would ever withdraw in favor of his predecessor.

Talk of Mr. Taft's retirement from the race for a dark horse in case he loses Ohio is also discredited by his friends.

The president's schedule for today called for speeches at Lorain, Bellevue, Fremont, Foster, Tiffin, Carey, Upper Sandusky, Kenton, Findlay, Bowling Green and a night address at Toledo.

THE SOCIALISTS URGE THAT AID BE PROVIDED FOR UNEMPLOYED

INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—The national platform adopted by the socialist convention at a session which continued until early today advocated the industrial and political demands, plans for collective ownership and aid for the unemployed, as drafted in the platform of four years ago.

"Capitalist concentration" and "Socialist industrialism" are held responsible for the platform for the higher cost of living, increased burdens of armament, poverty, slums, child labor and most of the insanity and crime.

It is charged that the anti-trust laws and railroad regulation with the prosecutions, indictments and investigations based upon such legislation have proved to be utterly futile and ridiculous.

MILK SITUATION BEING INVESTIGATED BY AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS

BOSTON, May 17.—Farmers and agricultural experts today continued their investigation into the milk situation in New England at a meeting held at the chamber of commerce. The speakers, after comparing notes, arrived at the conclusion that where there is not an actual money loss in the milk business of New England farms the loss comes over the cost of production is decidedly small. Those who addressed the meeting included Prof. Sanborn, who has a dairy farm in New Hampshire; George Albee of Concord, Mass.; Prof. Fred Rasmussen of New Hampshire college and Prof. J. M. Truman of the Connecticut agricultural college.

RICHESON MUST DIE

Statement of Gov. Foss
"Executive clemency will not be extended in the case of Clarence V. T. Richeson. The prisoner was sentenced upon his own confession and without a trial for a crime which appears impossible that any normal man could commit."

"After his confession and sentence, a plea of insanity was set up by his counsel and strongly supported by affidavits extending over his life. The character of these affidavits left no other course for the governor than to submit these and the prisoner himself to an examination by our leading alienists. In order to protect the commonwealth from the charge that the man was actually insane when the deed was committed, as well as at the present time."

"The evidence shows that Richeson's family is heavily afflicted with insanity; that he himself is neurotic, a somnambulist and a neurasthenic; that he is subject to extreme emotional disturbances, marked by loss of memory, which two alienists have diagnosed as hysterical insanity, one physician having the alternative term of hysterical delirium, and the majority opinion indicating that these attacks are hysterical attacks, marked by extreme emotional disturbances of brief duration, with loss of memory during the attack and for a varying period following it."

"The evidence, however, while clearly revealing these attacks, indicates that his crime was not committed by him during such an attack. Therefore, while there is some divergence of opinion among the alienists as to whether these attacks indicate actual insanity, there is sufficient ground for the conclusion that he is accountable for his crime and that the exercise of executive clemency in this instance would be contrary to the public good."

"The affidavits and medical evidence as to Richeson's unfavorable heredity, his lapses of consciousness and his attacks of delirium, are too voluminous to include in this statement and are not suited for publication."

Morse Gives Up Fight
Attorney William A. Morse, later in the evening, issued the following statement:

"The governor's statement has been read to me over the telephone. Although I feel that the evidence submitted warranted a different conclusion, as one of Richeson's counsel I wish to thank him for his thoughtful consideration of the petition for commutation of sentence. He was just and courageous enough, in the midst of a bitter cry for vengeance, to pause and look around him."

"I, who have been so near to Richeson during all these months, feel very sad that it must finally end in his being killed by the method at present approved by the law. He must now look for merciful judgment to his God, to whose service in the innocence of his boyhood he consecrated his life."

"I am tired out tonight. Tomorrow I must go to Richeson and tell him we have lost."

SLEPT QUIETLY

RICHESON DID NOT KNOW LAST NIGHT OF GOVERNOR'S DECISION

BOSTON, May 17.—Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Avis Linnell, slept quietly in his cell in the death-house at Charlestown state prison last night totally ignorant that the governor had refused commutation of his sentence.

The prisoner has kept buoyed up by the hope that his petition for clemency would go to the executive council and that that body would act favorably upon it. Through the weeks of severe grilling by alienists he bore himself with remarkable strength and courage. Even when transferred to the prison death cell from the jail he did not give way to his emotions, which on a number of previous occasions had caused an almost complete collapse for lesser cause.

It is feared that the former minister, upon receiving the news, will relapse into one of his attacks of "hysterical delirium" to which he has been subject at different times during his life, according to the alienists who examined him.

Anticipating such an occasion it may be expected that the execution of Richeson will take place very early next week. The sentence provides that the condemned must die some time during the week of May 19 and the law stipulates that the hour of execution must be between midnight and sunrise.

But one of the 13 who have been electrocuted at Charlestown has met death on a Monday morning, while ten of the number have been taken to the chair on Tuesday morning. The other two were executed on Friday mornings.

There is a prevalent sentiment against a Monday morning execution as occurring so close after Sunday, which has been recognized by the warden of the prison. The only exception was caused by the highly nervous state of the condemned and it is probable that only a similar situation would cause the execution of Richeson on Monday morning.

Should Richeson maintain the self-possession bearing he has shown to date there is little likelihood he will be executed on Monday morning. Beyond that, there is no ground for speculation as to which day he will meet death. The discretion is left entirely to the warden and only the legal witnesses will know beforehand at what time the sentence of the law will be carried out.

ANTI-TAFT FACTION

ATLANTA, Ga., May 17.—The anti-Taft faction of the republican party in Georgia held a convention here today to elect four delegates at large and four alternates to the national convention to contest the right of Taft delegates elected in March. It was understood today that the convention would instruct for Roosevelt.

CROWD OF STRIKERS DISPERSED BY DOGS

Novel Plan Was Adopted
by the Police

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 17.—Striking laborers from Newark made an unsuccessful sortie here yesterday, their object being to induce the men employed on the new Glenfield park to quit work. When the strikers, numbering about fifty, entered the town they were met by a detachment of police. The men made no effort to carry out their program. Before reaching Montclair the strikers had an exciting experience in Glen Ridge, where two Belgian police dogs were called into play to prevent interference with workmen. The dogs were muzzled, but when they dashed at the gathering of strikers the men retreated in disorder. The dogs are trained to knock men down by running between their legs and some of the fleeing workmen were tumbled by the animals.

FOR THE ORPHANS WHIST PARTY HELD

Conducted Select Party

Despite the inclement weather last night the Spalding house in Pawtucket street was the scene of a large and select gathering, the occasion being a whist and entertainment for the benefit of St. Peter's orphanage. The party was highly enjoyed by all present. There were 32 tables in evidence and be it said that the card game was a lively one for the prizes were well worth a contest. At the close of the game the following prizes were awarded: First, tea "caddy," Julia Allen; second, piece of linen with Mexican work, Mrs. Patrick Farrell; third, Madonna in plaster parais, Miss Margaret Sullivan.

Before the distribution of prizes Miss Katherine P. Glennon, a talented musician of Boston, rendered several piano selections. Her playing was so much enjoyed that she was forced to respond to several encores. This affair was in charge of Miss Genevieve Roarke, ably assisted by Miss Helen Comerford. The scores were the Misses Katie Murphy, Helen Hogan, Frances Molloy, Isabelle McQuaid and Etta Barrett.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Loyal Victoria lodge, of Odd Ladies, M. U., gave a delightful May fair and concert in Odd Fellows temple last evening. The program was varied and was successfully given under the direction of Mr. Burnett Marshman, consisting of piano solos by Alice Walker and Mary Toy, reading, Eva Marshman; whistling solo, William Carr; musician of Boston, rendered several piano selections. Her playing was so much enjoyed that she was forced to respond to several encores.

A sale of very useful articles was held. The patrons of the various tables were: Apron table, Mrs. Bamber; candy table, Fanny Crowther; fancy table, Mrs. Williams; mystery table, Alice Neal; ice cream table, Mrs. Cochran. All matrons were aided by a corps of assistants. At the regular meeting, held before the festival, 11 propositions for membership were received and other routine business transacted.

The Elks
A new lodge of Elks was instituted at Wakefield last evening. A large delegation of Lowell Elks attended the exercises, and several of the latter are on the staff of the assisting deputy.

Court City of Lowell
A well attended meeting of Court City of Lowell, P. of A. was held in Elks' hall last evening, after which a smoke talk was enjoyed. Chief Ranger John P. Connolly presided and the report of the treasurer showed that the court is in a good financial condition. At the "smoker" refreshments were served and remarks were made by D. G. C. R. John Barrett, Past Chief Ranger Stephen Wyman and Bros. Stephen Padigan, Edward Burns, Financial Secretary P. McGilly, Recording Secretary George B. McKenna, James P. McMahon and Lot Healey. Eugene Sullivan was elected sub chief.

ranger for the rest of the term, and D. G. C. R. Barrett installed him into office. Past Chief Ranger John F. Roane acting as herald. The court has opened its charter for the next three months and expects to take in many members in that time.

MARKING NOTE PAPER
One of the smartest fashions in monogram paper is the oblong card-touche with three small black letters or old English ones in the center. Another somewhat smart effect has the initial of the surname crossed at top and bottom with the other two initials in smaller letters. For use in a country home it is common to mark the name of the house and address in the upper right hand corner and higher up in the opposite corner have the telephone number, also the telegraph and express addresses if these are different from the post office address.

Here Paragon Four, Asso, tonight.

Dixie IV. Winning British International Trophy at Huntington Last Fall

Motorboat enthusiasts will have their inning this year. In fact, the 1912 season should be one of the greatest ever held. Many races are planned, and many new craft will be seen in action. The date has been set for the Philadelphia to Bermuda race. The boats will start on the Delaware July 27. The international races for the Harmsworth trophies will again be held at Huntington, N. Y. There is a chance of a race for a small fortune between the Reliance V. and the Dixie, Jr. This race will probably be held in New York about the middle of July. The Dixie IV. will again compete in the Huntington races. Last year the Dixie IV. made a clean sweep of all of the big events.

OLYMPIC GAMES WILL COST MUCH MONEY

OLYMPIC games are an expensive pastime. One need not necessarily be of a mathematical turn of mind to calculate the vast sums expended by the many countries represented in the greatest of all athletic meets, held once every four years.

The next set of Olympic games, as is generally known, will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, in June and July of this year. Already remarkable activity prevails in the countries which will strive to make America relinquish its share on first place in this classic. Money is being disbursed freely to prepare the athletes, and each nation is making a determined effort to produce a better aggregation of athletes than the rest of the nations.

It is estimated that from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 will be spent by about fifteen nations on the coming Olympic games. This, of course, includes the expenses incurred in the training period for the tryouts and for other incidentals, and it is expected that the $3,000,000 mark for expenditures will be reached before the last flag is hoisted in the Stockholm stadium late in July.

Sweden, naturally, will open its coffers more generously than the rest of the nations this year, because the Swedes have the honor of supervising the games. A sum in excess of $500,000 in Swedish money will change hands. Of this amount $300,000 will be spent for the construction of stands, $100,000 will be squandered on the nation's guests, and more than $100,000 will be expended for the development of an athletic team that will make a presentable showing.

England will be "touched" for the next largest sum—$300,000. The United Kingdom expects to be represented by 200 athletes, and a special steamer has been chartered to convey the performers to the scene of hostilities. The 1913 London Olympic cost England in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

It will cost Denmark approximately $150,000 to be strongly represented. In 1908 Denmark, next to England, had the largest squad of athletes.

America will not spend any considerable sum before the games. The money spending will come on the team's successful return from abroad. From present indications $50,000 to $75,000 will be Uncle Sam's limit.

Athletics in Italy gained a much needed impetus after Dorando's brilliant performance in the Marathon at London four years ago. This year Italy will send a stronger and larger team than it did in the last Olympiad and will disburse $50,000 in an effort to make a good showing.

For the first time in the history of the Olympic games Japan and China will make a bid for honors. Japan has some corking athletes, judging by reports of their performances, and the Japs and Celestials will spend $50,000 on the event.

South Africa, Australia, Belgium and Holland will also be represented, and each nation will spend from $10,000 to $25,000.

"GERMANY" SCHAEFER A REAL VETERAN

HERMAN SCHAEFER, formerly of the Detroit Tigers and now of the Washingtons, is the father of the American league. There are other fathers of course. Charlie Sommers, owner of the Cleveland club, and Byron B. Johnson, president of the league, were the big men at the start and are generally credited with the birth of the organization, as Sommers furnished the "cash" and Johnson the "push." That combination made the league possible, but among players Schaefer can claim to be the real veteran of the organization. O'Leary, who was recently released by the Tigers, could lay claim to the title jointly with Schaefer, but he is now out of the league.

In 1900 the American league consisted of Chicago, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Detroit and Kansas City.

Schaefer joined the Kansas City team in that year. "Schaefer" played for Colorado Springs in 1901, with the Cubs in 1902, Milwaukee in 1903 and 1904. The following year Detroit secured Schaefer.

There are other players who may have served more years consecutively in the league than Schaefer, but there is none who entered the American league as early as "Germany" did.

NOT SURE HE WANTS BIG LEAGUE BERTH

CAN you imagine a young man who has been given a chance to play with a big league baseball team and after signing whether he did the right thing or not? Well, there is just such a player on the Pittsburgh National league club, and this pill tosser is Ralph Capron, star quarterback on the University of Minnesota football team last fall, crack baseball player and track athlete, who is now trying for a regular berth on the Pirates.

"I wonder if I did the right thing," and "I wonder if I should have stayed at school and finished my course in law," are the remarks often heard from this swarthy speed merchant. He appears to be always asking himself these questions, and to date has not arrived at the point where he can come right out and say he believes he took the right course.

It must not be taken from this that Capron is dissatisfied with his lot. But put yourself in this lad's position and see if you wouldn't ask yourself the same questions. Here is a young athlete who can run the century close to the ten second mark, one of the few athletes who have been given places on Walter Camp's All American football team—that is, one of the few westerners—a kid who had every opportunity to make the team that will battle for the athletic honor of the United States this summer in Stockholm, Sweden, in the big Olympic meet. Imagine that you were just in his position, and it is dollars to pennies that you would hesitate some time before adopting the course he took.

Capron has found that playing professional ball, especially on a National league team, is far different from holding down a job on the varsity. He finds himself thrown in with players who earn their daily bread by the sweat of their brow on the baseball diamond. He is not now hobnobbing with youths who monthly receive stipends from fond fathers at home who wonder why Charles or Frank's "club dues" or "frat assessments" keep on increasing each month. Then there is the "rah rah" element missing. There are no crowds of patronizing students and hero worshipers eagerly awaiting the chance to shake him by the hand after a hit or an exceptionally good bit of fielding.

Instead, he sees grim faces on all sides. He sits on the bench shoulder to shoulder with men who know that next winter's ladder will be fat or next, according to what they are able to show Manager Clarke. After making a long hit or fine catch, there is no one on the bench to rush out and grasp his hand. A remark such as "pretty good," or "you got it that time," is considered highly flattering, and to the recruits who have been through the mill before is enough to set their heads a whirling.

But with all this, Capron is making good.

"No matter whether I did right or wrong in becoming a professional baseball player, I have made my bed and I will be the one that will have to lie in it," is the way Capron put it. "I am trying hard to make good, and I am showing the Pittsburgh club management all that is in me. I have found a vast difference between the college brand of baseball and that played in the big leagues, but I am taking a different course than pursued by many who try to make good in fast company—I am storing away all the advice handed me."

The trouble with most college athletes who have a chance to make good in fast company is that they come to a league team with a great reputation made in college and think they know it all. They look down upon their teammates who might be their inferiors in mathematics or physics, but who invariably know more baseball than the college youth will ordinarily ever be able to learn. I have seen a number of these youths fall from their high pedestals, and I am going to follow a different course. If I fall it will be because I am not of big league caliber and not because I thought I knew it all."

Coming from a youth who is not given to much talking, this sounds like the real thing, and if Capron but sticks to it, he should some day become one of the bright stars of the game. He never talks for effect, being rather quiet. For some time his teammates did not know how to draw him out, but at last the secret was discovered and was found to be his old love—football. When the gridiron game came up for comment one night recently, Ralph was all attention, and it was but a few moments until he was busily engrossed in telling about a brilliant play he had witnessed while at Minnesota.

One of the most pleasing things about this youth is that he never toots his own horn. To any person who did not know his past record on the football field, little would he think that this lad took an active part in every one of the gridiron battles he likes to talk about. But football will not win him a regular place with the Pirates and well does he know this.

THE SPEED THE HARD BATTED BALL TRAVELS

ASK any baseball enthusiast how fast an average grander travels during its first 100 feet from the bat and his answer will be anywhere from 20 to 300 miles an hour. Split second watches and careful timing of many grounded balls have established, says the Technical World, the fact that the average speed of ground balls—that is, those struck by the bat of the batsman from a fair pitched ball, which strike the field before they land in a fielder's hands—is at the rate of almost sixty miles an hour.

Sixty miles an hour is eighty-eight feet per second. The bases are ninety feet apart. A man who can run 100 yards in eleven seconds, which is fast running for any one, particularly so for a man with baseball shoes and uniform on, can run ninety feet in 3.3 seconds. Is it any wonder that a ball which is fielded in its first 100 feet of travel usually reaches first just a fraction of a second before or after the runner sets foot upon it?

Every fan knows that the many close decisions at first base form one of the fascinations of the game. The speed of the batted ball, the speed at which a fielder can travel from his position to the point where he can meet and field the batted ball, the speed with which he can stop the ball, pick it up, get himself for the throw, the speed of the ball across the diamond from his throw and the speed of the traveling runner are so nicely balanced that it is always a question of whether or not the runner will get there in time for the crowd to see the umpire's hands go down or whether he will face a thumb over a shoulder.

BOXING NOT THE MOST DANGEROUS OF SPORTS

By TOMMY CLARK.

UNUSUALLY how some people become horrified when a boxer is hurt, but how indifferent they are when men are killed on the football, baseball or cycle fields or when they are killed by dozens on the automobile, race tracks and in airships, etc. In France it has been recorded the past two years that the deaths from auto accidents and deaths in the air have been enormous, running up into the hundreds, but the moment the first accident happened in a boxing match, which is one death in the sport since introduced into that country, there was at once a howl about the roughness of it.

However, the jury that investigated the affair found that the man died, not from the effects of a boxing match, but from heart trouble brought on by over-exercising. It is hard sometimes to guard against men in that condition, even though they are examined by doctors. Compared to other sports, boxing is mild and not half so dangerous, as records will prove.

MANAGER HARRY WOLVERTON of the New York Americans blames the lack of condition of his players for the poor start his team has made in the race. There is undoubtedly a lot to be attributed to condition, but Wolverton will find in time that this is not all that his team lacks. As it is now made up the New York aggregation is about the weakest in the league. It has a minor league infield, baffling Chase, of course, while its outfield is hardly to be compared with any in the league.

The time will come when his pitchers will show more than they have, but as a whole the team does not figure to be very high in the second division. The failure of the New York team would mean a great loss to all the other clubs in the league, for with the Giants playing high class ball all New York will cater to the National leaguers while the Highlanders' park is not going to be crowded if the team is as low in the race as it promises to be.

THE captaincy of the Philadelphia Athletics is nothing more than an honorary position, and, although the veteran centerfielder Danny Murphy is the field leader, it would not make a great deal of difference which one of the players on the team Connie Mack had given the job. Just how important a part the captain plays on that team was demonstrated last year, when Harry Davis, who had the title, spent most of his time on the bench from where Mack, of course, rules matters. Davis' absence from the field, however, did not prove a handicap to the champions, who went right on winning pennants. The very fact that Danny Murphy, an outfielder, was appointed to succeed Davis shows how much of a figure the captain cuts, for Murphy will hardly be in a position to do much directing or suggesting from his position in deep right field.

But custom has made it necessary to have a captain, and Connie Mack is not the one to upset tradition. Of course it is generally supposed that the captain takes charge of the team on the field, and yet when the fact is remembered that Davis was on the bench most of last season it would seem that the Athletics ran loose during the greater part of the campaign.

Packey McFarland Has Made $200,000

PACKEY MCFARLAND says his $100,000 reward for defeating Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, in New York recently, brings his total winnings in the ring up to an even $100,000. His figures show that an additional $200,000 represents his earnings in theatrical side lines, making a grand total of $200,000 since he knocked out his first opponent, Pete West, in two rounds eight years ago. He received only $25 for that introductory appearance.

McFarland, as is well known, is thrifty and economical. Most of his earnings are carefully "salted." He has no bad habits, his friends say, and he is only twenty-four years old, so that he expects by the time he retires from the ring to find himself within reaching distance of the half million class.

ALTHOUGH injuries have hurt his chances, Manager Charley Doolin says the Phillies are not out of the pennant hunt.

WILL RUNNER JONES CARRY OFF THE MILE HONORS?

WILL John Paul Jones, the great runner of Cornell university, carry off the mile distance honors in the Olympic tryouts? Is the question most asked in athletic circles these days. He, his trainer, all the Cornell students and thousands of those who saw him compete in the intercollegiate championships at the Harvard stadium last year say he will win any event in which he starts. They declare him to be the greatest runner America ever produced and all look for him to win his races in record time.

But there are many experts who take an opposite view. They agree he is a great runner, but some of them refuse to admit he can defeat the seasoned club chamois.

Most of his admirers point to his half mile intercollegiate and one mile world's records and add, "He'll improve and smash more records next time."

Others are stronger in their praise and say he is in a class by himself; that he is a great runner while the other noted American middle distance men are only fair performers.

Men, including some of those who saw his great performances last year, admit he is a wonder, but refuse to admit that he can defeat Melvin Sheppard at a half mile or Abel Kiviat or Oscar Hedlund in a one mile event.

They point out that Sheppard is improving rather than "going back," and that when he is in prime condition can defeat any half mile in the world.

"Shep" has set his mind on winning the half mile event at the tryouts.

Believing that he will be opposed by Jones he has begun training with a view of getting himself in the best condition of his career. These most familiar with the character of Sheppard say the I. A. A. C. champion will win that event or end his athletic career in the attempt.

Of Kiviat great things are expected this year. It is pointed out that he is young, lives a clean life, trains hard and possesses all the essential qualities that go to make up a great runner.

On a track like that at Cambridge, which is considered the fastest in the world, his admirers say he will travel a mile in the Olympic tryouts in record time. Some go so far as to say he will defeat Jones if they meet in the mile event, while others say he will force the Cornell student to do his best.

It is interesting to note the number of old timers, heroes of the 1908 Olympic games, who are going to compete for the United States this season. Among them are Martin Sheridan, the great all around athlete; Dan Kelly, the great sprinter and broad jumper; Forrest Smithson, the world's champion hurdler, and Jim Rector, sprinter. According to reports, all four are going to the games in Stockholm.

experts to be nearly as good as Kiviat and several declare that he will improve this year and give Jones and Kiviat a hard fight for the stellar honors at the mile.

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSYOUNG JASPER WON FROM
CLANCY IN THE NINTHOpening Rounds Very Exciting—
Charlie Anastos Lost to
De Lucca in Semi-Final

In the main bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club last night Young Jasper of Boston won in the ninth round from Young Clancy, also from the Hub. Kid Egan was scheduled to meet Jasper, but, according to Referee Gardner he quit cold. In the opening rounds Clancy gave a very clever exhibition, but as the bout went on Jasper wore him down. He floored his man several times. Clancy displayed great gameness, however, and several times after staying down for the count of nine he came back strong and sent in some good ones, that shook the fast Jasper. Jasper played a waiting game in the early stages. In the first three rounds, the members were treated to some of the best boxing ever seen here, particularly in the second. In this session Clancy got the jump and sent in his left to the head. Both the showmen another with blows. Each landed five, before a clinch ended the lightning exchange. The third was good and exciting. After that, however, Jasper was the aggressor and as the bout went on he seemed to get stronger. Clancy went to the floor twice in the fourth and was resting when the bell rang. At the opening of the fifth Clancy came in strong and sent in several good ones before he took a right to the stomach from Jasper. This was a pretty even round and Clancy surprised the members by the manner in which he came back after the previous round. The sixth was all Jasper and the seventh and eighth went his way. At the opening of the ninth Jasper sent in an uppercut to the jaw that sent Clancy to the floor and this time he remained there and Jasper was the winner.

The bout was well enjoyed. Jasper was much heavier than his opponent but Clancy gave a great exhibition of how to use his left hand. He worked the latter continually and his work, though against a disadvantage of only one day's training was well appreciated by those present.

The semi-final between Charlie Anastos of Lowell and Paddy De Lucca of Boston, was one of the best ever seen here. The bout was scheduled for eight rounds and went the distance, the Hub man getting the verdict. Both boys showed up well and their performance was greatly enjoyed. As the attendance was rather small, the preliminary was not put on. Billy Gardner acted as referee. He announced that there will be no show next week, but a boxing will be held on Thursday evening May 30. At this meeting Joe Thomas will appear in the main bout and the semi-final will be given by De Lucca and Anastos who met last night.

Browns Believe They Have a
Second Johnson in Baumgardner

The St. Louis Browns appear to have discovered something that may be to them what Walter Johnson is to Washington. He is a young pitcher named George Baumgardner. He first attracted attention in the spring series between the Browns and Cardinals, but his real fame came on his first time out in an American league game, when he was pitted against Ed Walsh of the White Sox and outpointed him. Then when he went out in his second time and held the same White Sox for fifteen innings without a run his name was on the lips of every fan. Baumgardner is undoubtedly good, and, like so many good men who have come into the majors, he is as "green" as they make them. A story is told concerning his first game—that in which he beat Ed Walsh. An admirer remarked that it was a noteworthy feat. Baumgardner wasn't impressed that way. "Who is this fellow Walsh?" he asked. "He was told that Big Ed is considered by many the greatest pitcher in the game. If he's so good why don't some of the National League clubs draft him?" Inquired Baumgardner innocently. He has since been told that the American league, in which he promises to win fame, is a major organization just like the National.

THE MANHATTANS
Will play the C. Y. M. L. ON FAIR GROUNDS SATURDAY
The Manhattan baseball team will play the C. Y. M. L. team on the old Fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at three o'clock and promises to be one of the best of the season. As the former team comes from the South End of the city and the C. Y. M. L. boys hail from the North common section, there is great rivalry and several wagers have been made on the result. Both teams are playing fast ball and each is anxious to capture the victory. The strongest lineups will be put forth by both managers.

Manager Crowley of the Manhattans says that he is ready to meet the Lincoln any time for a purse of money. He says that the game last week was won owing to the work of the umpire, who, he stated, was a friend of the team. Now, however, he is willing to meet the manager of the team from the sand bank and arrange for a return engagement.

Ralph Capron is Not Sure
He Wants Big League Berth

Can you imagine a young man who has been given a chance to play with a big league baseball team and after signing to play for a fat salary, pondering whether he did the right thing or not? Well, there is just such a player on the Pittsburgh National league club, and this pill tosser is Ralph Capron, star quarterback on the University of Minnesota football club last fall, crack baseball player and track athlete, who is now trying for a regular berth on the Pirates.

"I wonder if I did the right thing," and "I wonder if I should have stayed at school and finished my course in law," are the remarks often heard from this swarthy speed merchant. He appears to be always asking himself these questions, and to date has not come right out and said he believes he took the right course.

It must not be taken from this that Capron is dissatisfied with his lot. But put yourself in his shoes and ponder and see if you wouldn't ask yourself the same questions. There is a young athlete who can run the century close to the ten second mark, one of the few athletes who have been given places on Walter Camp's All American football team—that is one of the few westerners—who had every opportunity to make the team that will battle for the athletic honor of the United States this summer in Stockholm, Sweden, in the big Olympic meet. Imagine that you were just in his position, and it is dollars to pennies that you would hesitate some time before adopting the course he took.

Capron has found that playing professional ball, especially on a National league team, is far different from holding down a job on the varsity. He finds himself thrown in with players who earn their daily bread by the sweat of their brow on the baseball diamond. He is not now hobnobbing with youths who monthly receive stipends from fond fathers at home who wonder why Charles or Frank "elch dues," or "frat assessments" keep on increasing each month. Then there is the "ruth" element missing. There are no crowds of patronizing students and hero worshippers eagerly awaiting the chance to shake him by the hand after a hit or an exceptionally good bit of holding.

Instead, he sees grim faces on all sides. He sits on the bench shoulder to shoulder with men who know that next winter's holder will be fat or small, according to what they are able to show Manager Clarke. After making a long hit or fine catch, there is no one on the bench to rush out and grasp his hand. A remark such as "pretty good," "you got it that time," is considered highly flattering and to the recruits, who have been through the mill before is enough to set their heads a whirling. But with all this, Capron is making good.

"No matter whether I did right or wrong in becoming a professional baseball player, I have made my bed and I will be the one that will have to lie in it," is the way Capron put it. "I am trying hard to make good, and I am showing the Pittsburgh club management all that is in me. I have found a vast difference between the college brand of baseball and that played in the big leagues, but I am taking a different course than pursued by many who try to make good in fast company—I am storing away all the advice handed me."

"The trouble with most college athletes who have a chance to make good in fast company is that they come to a league team with a great reputation made in college and think they know it all. They look down upon their teammates who might be their inferiors in mathematics or physics, but who invariably know more baseball than the college youth will ordinarily ever be able to learn. I have seen a number of these youths fall from their high pedestals, and I am going to follow a different course. If I fall it will be because I am not of big league calibre and not because I thought I knew it all."

Coming from a youth who is not given to much talking, this sounds like the real thing, and if Capron but sticks to it, he should some day become one of the bright stars of the game. He never talks for effect, being rather quiet. For some time his teammates did not know how to draw him out, but at last the secret was discovered and was found to be his old love—football. When the gridiron game came up for comment one night recently, Ralph was all attention, and it was but a few moments until he was busily engaged in telling about a brilliant play he had witnessed while at Minnesota.

One of the most pleasing things about this youth is that he never toots his own horn. To any person who did know his past record on the football field, little would he think that this had taken an active part in every one of the grueling battles he likes to talk about. But football will not win him a regular place with the Pirates and well does he know this.

CROSS, SICK, FEVERISH CHILDREN
NEED GENTLE, THOROUGH CASCARETS

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, restless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well, and need a gentle, thorough, physic—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanses the little one's system, sweetens the stomach and puts the liver and bowel in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

Mother can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative which costs only 10 cents per box.

RAIN AGAIN STOPS
N. E. LEAGUE GAMESAm. League Also Halted
by the Weather

Rain not only put the blink on the Lowell-Fall River game, but all the other games of the New England and American leagues. The National league teams are now in the western part of the country and they played. The weather thus far this season has been the worst in years and the team owners have suffered a severe loss of money. It also makes it necessary in order to complete the schedule to play many double headers later in the year. The Lowell players are in fine shape and ready to play any amount of double headers, in order to keep on the top. The race at the present time is very interesting and all the teams are going well. The real rivalry is between Lowell and Lawrence and as the two teams meet in Lawrence tomorrow a great game is expected. The Lowell team will be accompanied by a large number of voters. Manager Egan of Lawrence will use his star twirler, Young Keating, while Manager Gray will send in Wolfgang as the latter is anxious to get a chance again. When the two met, in Lowell the Lawrence boy won, but it is no fault of Wolfe that Lowell lost. He pitched a great game but his teammates were slow on the bases.

There will be special cars from Merriam Square to the Lawrence grounds. Owing to the intense rivalry between the teams two umpires will be used.

WHIST PARTY

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR HELD AT ST.
LOUIS' PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

One of the most successful whists and entertainments was held last night in St. Louis' parochial school hall under the auspices of the members of St. Anne's sodality. Over 400 people were present and the success of the evening was very flattering for the organizers. A delightful entertainment program was rendered by several young girls, all pupils of the convent, and was enjoyed in a thorough manner by the large audience.

Mr. Marcel Roussel presided over the assembly and shortly after eight o'clock the whist was started. There were over 80 beautiful prizes and this alone made the price of admission worth while. At the conclusion of the card game the following program was given:

Welcome song, school children, the soloist being Leo Pittre; "Les Deux Sources pour Rire" Gilberte Lemerle and Delia Thibault; "Le choix d'une Robe de Bal" Delia Thibault; "La Petite Boudeuse" played by the following: Florence Provost, Grace Bertrand, Anita Desroses, Alice Golin, Leonie Picard and Gilberte Lemerle; "Les Deux Cousins" operetta, Alice Goulette and Maria Barand; violin solo, Raymond Bourgeois, accompanied on the piano by his sister, Bertha Bourgeois.

The program, which had been carefully prepared by the sisters at the convent, was very pleasing throughout and the little performers were heartily applauded. The singing numbers were encored several times.

THE RESCUED CREW

Of the Fishing Schooner
Landed at Boston

BOSTON, May 17.—Twelve members of the crew of the fishing schooner Walter P. Goulart, wrecked Monday night on the coast of Nova Scotia, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Prince George from Yarmouth.

The schooner, with a crew of 14 men, drove on Half Moon ledge at the entrance of Cape Negro Harbor, Shelburne, N. S., in a heavy westerly gale while trying to make shelter.

A high sea was running and the crew took to the boats at once without time even to secure their clothes. Capt. Belfort and the 12 men who came here on the Prince George, reached shore at Cape Negro.

Up to the time the men left the scene of the wreck the other two members of the crew had not been heard from, and they are believed to have been lost. Capt. Belfort remained at Cape Negro to ascertain if it will be possible to salvage any of the gear of the schooner which was hard and fast on the ledge and badly broken up. The men were sent to Yarmouth and returned here as conscripts.

The Walter P. Goulart hailed from Gloucester and was owned by Manuel Simmonds. She was built at Essex in 1894. Her dimensions are: 53 feet long, 21.7 feet beam and 19.2 feet draught, with a register of 32 tons gross and 54 tons net.

GOVERNOR FOSS

APPOINTED A DEAD DOCTOR TO A POSITION

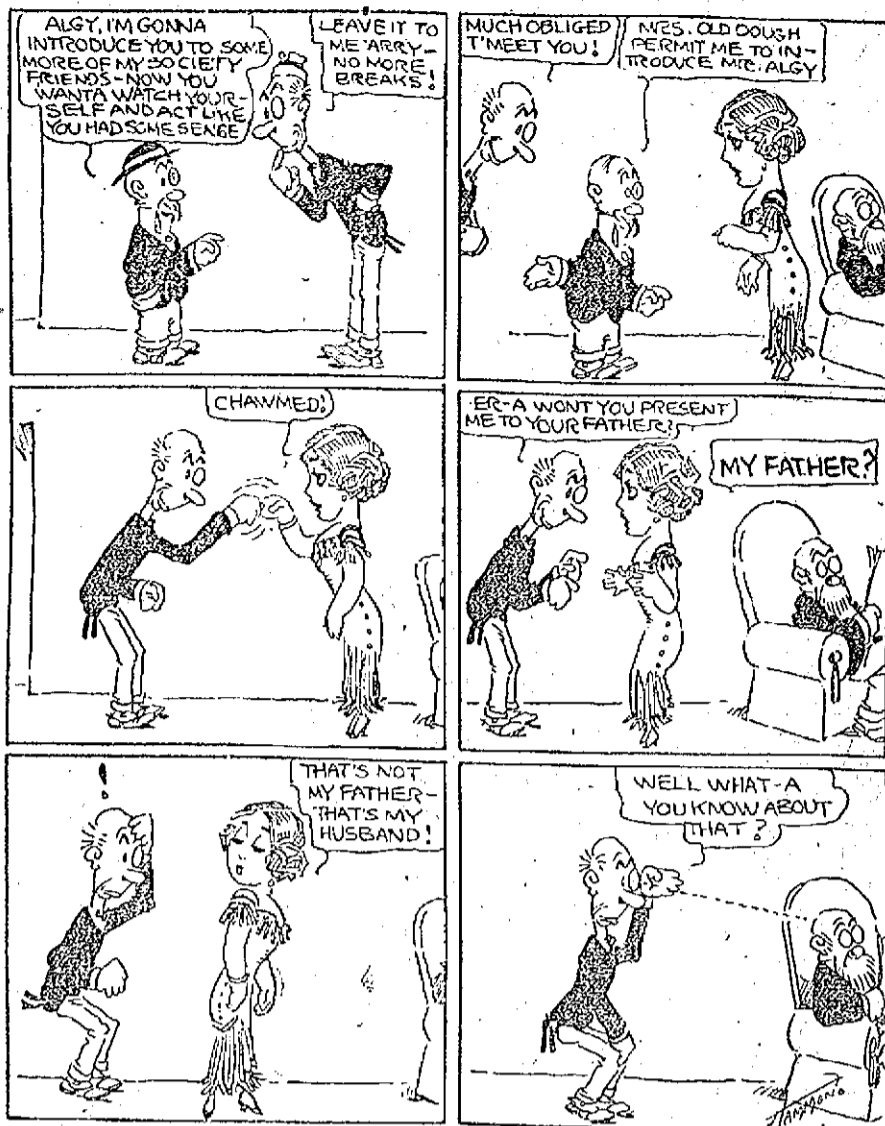

BOSTON, May 17.—Through a clerical error Governor Foss, in his list of appointments sent to the council on Wednesday, named Dr. Homer Bushnell, formerly of North Adams, who has been dead for three years, as associate medical examiner of Berkshire county.

The appointment was made, despite the fact that Dr. Harry E. Holmes of Adams is now serving a seven-year term, which does not expire until 1916. The action of Governor Foss brought forth much comment in the western part of the state. Dr. Holmes has not resigned and has not been removed from office, so it was impossible, under the law, to put another man in his place. For many years previous to his death Dr. Bushnell was the associate medical examiner in the district. Soon after his death Dr. Holmes was appointed to fill the vacancy.

PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE
LOUISVILLE, May 17.—Commissioners of the 124th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United

ALGY'S SECOND DAY IN SOCIETY

States were ready to go about the great volume of business that is to be considered when they assembled this morning. Rev. Dr. Mark A. Mathews of Seattle, Wash., elected moderator yesterday afternoon, opened the session. The clerk, Rev. William H. Roberts, was expected to lay on the table the usual reports of the boards, committees and lists of overtures.

Among pending matters are the re-establishment of cordial relations between the assembly and the Union theological seminary of New York, broken when Prof. Briggs was expelled for heresy; the consolidation of the board of sustentation and the board of ministerial relief and the alleged heresy of the graded Sunday school lessons published by the Presbyterian board of publication.

COLLEGE ATHLETES

READY FOR THE BIG MEET AT SPRINGFIELD.

SPRINGFIELD, May 17.—The agile, fleet and strong undergraduates from 15 New England colleges gathered here today for a two days' struggle for athletic supremacy in the 26th meeting of the association. The contestants streamed into the city from four points of the compass. Williams, which holds the championship by reason of its well balanced team winning the meet on Pratt field last year, came from the west. Bowdoin appeared from the University of Vermont, Dartmouth and Amherst, from the east came four Maine colleges—U. of Maine, Bates, Colby and Bowdoin, together with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Tufts from the Boston district. Brown from Providence and Holy Cross and the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Wesleyan.

Today was one of elimination in five track and five field events, leaving the 100 yard dash and the two long runs for tomorrow, together with other final events. Most of the athletes gathered in the hotels this forenoon to spend the time quietly under the watchful eyes of trainers and managers. Little betting has been done but a few bets were made on even money favoring Dartmouth against the field.

BREEN FINED $500 IN DYNAMITE CASE

He Was Charged With Concealing Dynamite---Ettor Pleads Not Guilty

The Case Against Strike Leaders Will be Called One Week From Monday--Giovannitti Seems Impressed With Seriousness of Charge.

SALEM, May 17.—"Before God, I pleaded not guilty," Ettor was smiling throughout the proceedings but Caruso and Giovannitti appeared to be impressed with the gravity of the charges against them. All were remanded to Salem jail without bail. It is expected that the cases will be called for trial a week from Monday.

J. J. Breen, who was convicted in the superior court yesterday on a charge of concealing dynamite during the Lawrence strike was fined $500 by Judge Brown today.

RECIPE FOR BOILING HAM

Uncle Sam Tells How to Do It

Here is Uncle Sam's recipe for boiling a ham. The following instructions were sent out by the United States department of agriculture:

Wash the ham thoroughly, then soak in cold water several hours, the time varying with the size of the ham. This soaking is to dissolve out the excess of salt. The ham is then put in a boiler full of boiling water. The temperature should then be lowered slightly and the boiler just kept simmering. Keep the water just barely boiling for four and a half hours, for an eighteen pound ham—that is, a quarter of an hour for each pound of ham. If the ham is larger or smaller, vary the time to suit the weight. As the water boils, one adds fresh boiling water and always keeps the boiler full. For very large hams

BRIGHT, SEARS & CO.
WYMAN'S EXCHANGE
Bankers and Brokers
SECOND FLOOR

It is advisable to cook in two waters. Why should the ham be put in boiling water? Portions of the lean meat, the albumin and some of the juices and flavors are soluble in warm water, while boiling water coagulates the albumin just as it does the white of an egg. So if you put in cold water and heat to the boiling point some albumin and much of the delicate flavors so sought after in hams would be dissolved out of the water as it warmed up to the boiling point, but if put into the boiling water the albumin is coagulated at once on the surface and all the juices and the flavors are sealed in and kept there until eaten.

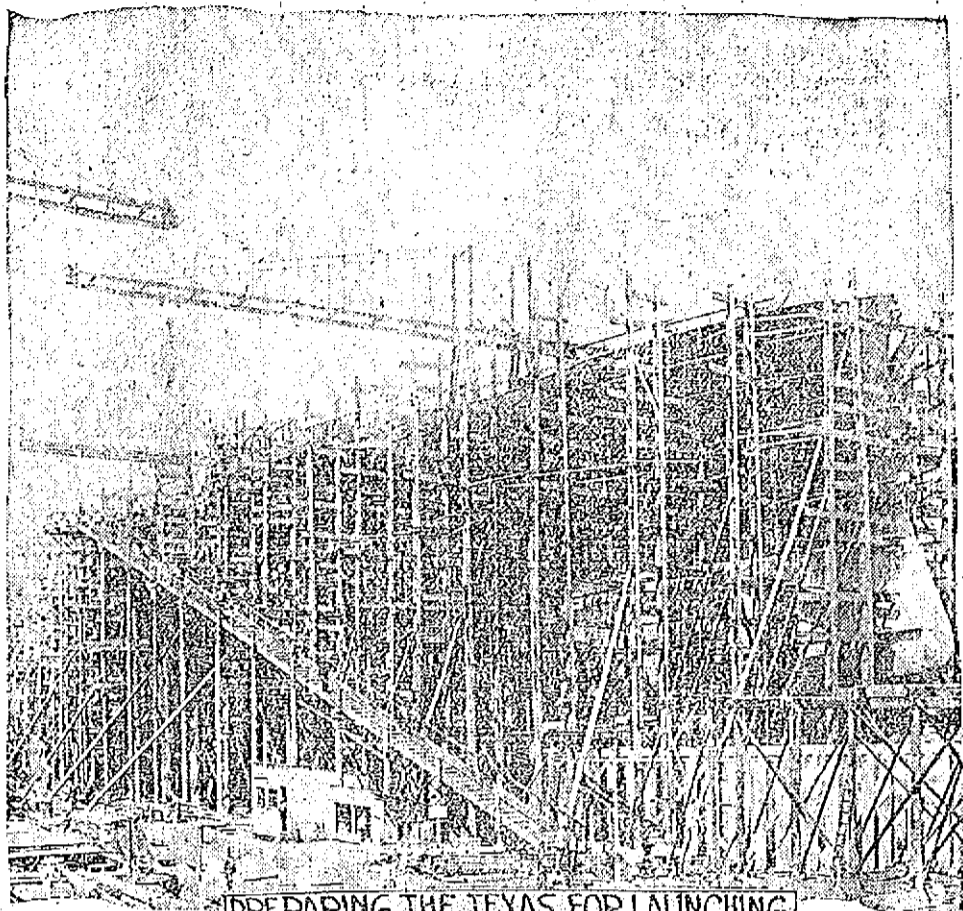

While cooking the ham is kept at the boiling point of water, which is sufficient heat to cook it thoroughly without separating the fibers or hardening it to pieces, as a rapid or hard boiling would do.

DRANK AMMONIA

WORCESTER WOMAN TRIED TO END HER LIFE

WORCESTER, May 17.—Mary Conizski, aged 19, a domestic employed in the home of Rudolph Libby at 1 Kendall street, drank a glassful of ammonia yesterday in an attempt to end her life because she had a quarrel with her lover Wednesday night, it is said. Early yesterday the members of the household were attracted to her room by her shrieks as the ammonia began to burn. The police surgeon was called and as he tried to relieve her she declared that she wished to die. After treatment in the City hospital the officials say she will recover.

Battleship Texas Ready to Take to the Water Saturday at Newport News Yards

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 17.—The battleship Texas will be launched Saturday, May 18, at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding company. Miss Claudia Lyon, daughter of Cecil Lyon, republican national committee man from Texas, will act as sponsor for the big craft. An idea of its size can be had by comparing it with the men walking on the ladder and working on the temporary scaffolding surrounding the hull. Merely as illustrating twenty years' development in battleship building it is interesting to compare the new Texas with the old Texas, which was launched in 1892 and which, after having been renamed San Marcos, was shot to pieces and sunk in gun practice last spring. The old boat cost $2,500,000, was 391 feet long and sixty-four feet wide; her displacement was 6,315 tons, her draft twenty-two feet, her coal bunker capacity 553 tons and her speed seventeen knots. The new Texas is 675 feet long, with twenty-eight foot beam and a draft of twenty-eight feet. She will take the water at 12,000 tons, and when completed her displacement will be 28,000 tons. Her coal bunker capacity is 2,850 tons, and her speed is twenty-one knots. She will be the first ship to carry fourteen inch guns, of which she has ten. Her building has been remarkably rapid, her keel having been laid on April 17, 1911, and on May 18 she takes the water 70 per cent complete. Her twin ship, the New York, building in the New York navy yard, is two months behind her in construction and will not be launched until some time in July.

MURDER CHARGED TO EVANGELIST

Killing of Saloon Keeper
is Alleged

NEW YORK, May 17.—Accused of being engaged in a career of burglary which eventually led to murder at the same time that he was conducting a series of open-air evangelistic meetings, Francis Westley Muehlfeldt was indicted by the grand jury yesterday charged with murder in the first degree.

"King of the New York Automobile Bandits" was the characterization of the prisoner by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, in alleging the remarkable case of dual personality. Muehlfeldt with William Lingley, who was jointly indicted with him, is charged with the murder of Patrick Burns, a saloon keeper in the borough of the Bronx.

Burns was slain the night of Feb. 11, last, by masked highwaymen, who escaped in a taxicab. Headquarters detectives a week ago arrested Muehlfold in Vineland, N. J., where he had obtained employment as an attendant in the New Jersey Home for Feeble Minded Boys and Girls. In his room the police found many books on criminology.

Muehlfeldt, who is 23 years old, recently married a young woman whose family, according to Commissioner Dougherty, is prominent in the Bronx. For months before the Burns murder, Commissioner said, Muehlfeldt was engaged in conducting open air revival services in Harlem and the Bronx. He was convicted of robbery in the court of general sessions several weeks ago, and is now in the Tombs prison awaiting sentence.

BEQUEST OF $37,347.69
TO LOWELL GEN. HOSPITAL

From the Estate of the Late
be Held as Trust Fund

John J. Harvey, executor of the will of Charles E. Adams, has made a final payment to John F. Sawyer, treasurer of the Lowell General Hospital, of the bequest to the hospital, under Mr. Adams' will, the total amount reaching the sum of $37,347.69. This sum will be invested in a separate fund to be known as the "Charles E. Adams Fund," and the income of the fund only will be expended. The principal will be kept separate and intact. The total of all the trust funds has now reached $346,647.68.

Mr. Sawyer stated that the executive committee continues to follow the rule established at the time the present board of trustees was elected in 1903, to live within its income, and to invest all legacies and gifts in trust funds named after the giver or as the giver may designate.

The hospital needs a new building to provide for the children's and maternity wards, but the present income is not sufficient to pay for such a building, and this can only be provided for by gifts from friends of the hospital either by will or otherwise.

MURDEROUS ATTACK MADE
ON MAN AT BINGHAM, ME.

Hole Was Torn in His Skull
With a Club or Some
Sharp Instrument

BINGHAM, Me., May 17.—Alfred Curtis, 22, of Bingham, probably was fatally wounded today when he was struck over the head with a club or some sharp instrument shortly after he finished his night's work in a pulp mill at Solon. Frank Hawes of Solon, a fellow workman who had some trouble with Curtis during the night, was held under surveillance while an investigation was being made. Curtis was placed in the care of a doctor and it was feared he could not live. A hole had been torn in his skull. The two men had a quarrel while on duty it was claimed and it was thought they settled it outside of the mill, although the other workmen were not aware of the assault until after Curtis was found in an unconscious condition. All left the mill together and the fact that the two men remained behind was not noticed until afterward.

"WIRE TAPPER"

WAS GIVEN A SENTENCE OF
THREE YEARS

BOSTON, May 17.—For theft of $6080 from a farmer by a pretended wire-tapping scheme Harry Smith, a well known sporting man, was sentenced to three years by Judge Chase yesterday.

When a plea of clemency was made on behalf of Smith because of the alleged destitute condition of his family, Judge Chase said:

"There is another side of the story, and if I could sentence him to a longer term I would; but the statute does not allow me to."

Joseph Gagnon, indicted with Smith for the same offence, had his case filed because he had turned state's evidence.

The two men and another man on May 8, 1911, and the three days following swindled Rockwood D. Snow of Falmouth, N. H., in a house on Warren avenue, in the South End.

James S. Murphy was counsel for Gagnon.

BOY HAS CONFESSED TO SETTING FIRES

He Says that He Sought
Revenge

STAMFORD, Conn., May 17.—Stamford has had a number of incendiary fires during the past year. At least two were accounted for yesterday afternoon when Harry Greenberg, a 14-year-old boy, who had been committed to the reform school on complaint of his father for incorrigibility, voluntarily confessed that he had set fire to the Speke block at Pacific and Brook streets on two occasions, once at midnight on Nov. 25, 1910, and again on May 4, 1911, at 3:22 a. m. Twenty-four families live in the house.

Both fires caused panic among the tenants and damaged the building considerably. Greenberg was employed for a short time last summer by David M. Barrish, a druggist, whose store is in the block. The boy was discharged for alleged dishonesty. He set the fires, he says, out of revenge.

Greenberg made a detailed statement to the police and when his father, Isaac, confronted him later, in the presence of the police, and asked him to tell the truth, the boy persisted that he had set the fires. "The boy never set the fires, any more than I did," said his father. "He's an habitual liar." Detective Sergt. McFadden, who worked up the case, said, however, that the Greenberg confession bore out evidence that he had gathered. He believes the boy did everything he has confessed doing.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The May festival in the town hall last evening, under the auspices of the Men's Social and Literary society, the Young Women's guild and the Church aid society was a grand success and there was a very large and enthusiastic attendance. "The May Queen," a cantata in two scenes was the attraction and it proved one of the best productions ever seen in the hall. The children were all well adapted to their respective parts and everything in connection with the presentation was given in an exceptionally clever manner.

The following were included in the cast of characters:

Floral Maidens—Princess Good-will, Edna Dixon, Charity, the May Queen, Ethel Tetley, Bertha, the Moss Rose, Ethel Dixon, Lucy, the Daisy, Rena Luke, Agnes, The Forget-me-not, Alice Ripley, Dora, The Golden Rod, Elmer Kibberd, Amy, The Hellebore, Helen Marden, Tessie, the Pansy, Alice Atwood, Fannie, The Lily, Marion Daniels, Marie, The Aethon, Marion Vassell, Gerlie, The Pink, Gertrude Morrill, Hattie, The Violet, Dorothy Billson.

Pages—Clayton Pigott, George De la Haye, Harold Kibberd, Forrest White.

May Pole—Seymour Davis, David Brown, Emma Davis, Harold Hadley, May Day, Harry Hooper, Belle Hugg, Kenneth Mitchell, Gertrude Davis.

Chorus—Hazel Peterson, Mildred Buchanan, Vera Jordan, Lilian Russell, Violet Hoyt, Sarah Hill, Jennie Durant, Bessie De Carteret, Florence De Carteret, Mildred Whitworth, Hazel McComb, Vera Warley, Agnes Brown, Chester Senior, Florence Crockett, Walter Cavillie, Abbie Reno.

Prize must be awarded to Mrs. Charles F. Scribner and Mrs. D. Frank Small, who were responsible for the successful training of the children, this being accomplished within a very short time.

Following the cantata, the Bungling Brothers, composed of Walter L. Muzzey, Theo Pearson and Charles Barton put on their special comedy act.

THE DEBATE WAS BITTER IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

The Welsh Disestablishment Bill Passed Its Second Reading by Vote of 348 to 267

LONDON, May 17.—The Welsh disestablishment bill passed its second reading in the house of commons last night by a vote of 348 to 267.

During the debate, the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George, effectively used the charge that the noble families, whose representatives were the most strenuous opponents of the bill on the ground that it pillaged the established church, obtained their vast wealth by spoliation of the church at the time of the reformation.

A stormy scene followed his reference to a political leader, in which, he said, the Duke of Devonshire charged them with "Robbery of God."

"Doesn't he know," queried the chancellor, "that the very foundations of his fortunes were laid deep in sacrilege and built on deserted shrines and pillaged altars?"

Among the voices raised in angry protest, Lord Hugh Cecil's was the most conspicuous, to which Lloyd George retorted:

"These charges that we are robbing the church ought not to be brought by those whose family tree is laden with the fruits of sacrilege at the reformation. Their ancestors robbed the Catholic church, the monasteries, the altars, the almshouses. They robbed the poor. They robbed the dead. Then when we try to recover some part of this pillaged property for the poor, their descendants accuse us of theft—they whose hands are dripping with the fat of sacrilege."

HEAVY LOSS

WAS CAUSED BY A FIRE IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, May 17.—The timely discovery and the prompt action of the firemen prevented a heavy loss by fire, smoke and water at the factory of the Supply Shoe company on Fleet street last evening, the damage being less than $1000.

The blaze, of unknown origin, started in the making room on the fourth floor of the old hat factory building owned by the Duncan estate in the rear of city hall, and was discovered by Patrol Wagon Driver Justin E. Brigham, who saw the reflection of the flames. When the firemen responded the flames had spread through the room to a large quantity of racks and lasts, and the two upper floors of the four-story block occupied by the firm were filled with smoke. The main power belts in the factory, which extend from the first to the fourth floors, were burned.

WHERE INSECTS DWELL

USE CARBONOL

THE presence of ants and roaches is a sign of imperfect cleanliness.

Old houses or badly built ones are very hard to keep clean and accordingly a powerful disinfectant should be used so that if insects do come, they will find the place uncongenial.

Carbonol is better than insecticides and is not poisonous. Simply add a dash of it to the water used in cleaning and proceed in the usual manner. The vapor of Carbonol is obnoxious to insects and they will not stay near it.

can be used to rinse out the kitchen sink and to wash greasy pans and dishes.

Carbonol is wonderful for removing stains of grease and oil. When used on windows the Carbonol solution gives them a brilliant crystal clearness that astounds housekeepers.

We will send you a bottle free to experiment with.

MAKE WAR IMPOSSIBLE BY WORLD CITIZENSHIP

Is Advice Given by Editor Lewis at Lake Mohonk Conference—
Other Addresses Delivered

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 17.—energy and heroism. An agent of John Lewis, editor of the Toronto (Canada) Star, addressing the Lake Mohonk Conference on international arbitration last night, declared that the gradual development of a world citizenship would make war impossible by providing an outlet for every which would enable each nation to reach its highest development and all nations to work together in the common interests of humanity.

"War," he declared, not only sets nations against nation but it prevents the nations from uniting against the common enemies of mankind. Nations are not natural enemies. The greatest interests of mankind are not conflicting but common interests. Men, women and children all over the world need the same things, food, clothing, shelter, health, intellectual development, development of the affections. War has been justified on the ground that it makes heroism, self-sacrifice, comradeship. One might as well define the wanton sinking of a ship upon the ground that it would show how calmly men can die.

"We must not be content with denouncing war. We must build up something better. We must seek to direct the energy and heroism of war into other channels so that the abolition of war will not be the decline of heroism but the conversion of heroism from destructive to constructive uses."

Arbitration Treaties
William Cullen Dennis of the District of Columbia Bar, formerly agent of the United States in the Orinoco Steamship and Chamizel arbitrations and formerly assistant solicitor of the state department, addressed the conference on "International Arbitration" yesterday on the recent arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, and said in part:

"It is admitted on all hands that the great purpose of the recent general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France was not so much to preclude the possibility of war with these two nations—which is already unthinkable—as to provide a model for treaties between the United States and other countries with which our relations are not so close and intimate and as an inspiration for similar treaties between the other great nations of the world."

"The great service rendered by the treaties, as originally drawn, is that in providing for arbitration of all justiciable questions between the parties, for the first time it is believed in the history of the world, great nations took cognizance in terms of the essential difference between things which can be determined by the methods common to all courts, whether municipal or international, and those which can not, and laid down the general principle that all questions which are susceptible of judicial treatment shall be decided by an international court."

The senate has advised and consented to the ratification with three amendments. One is merely verbal. One, while material, goes, after all, merely to the question of the machinery through which the principle enunciated by the treaty shall be carried into effect. But the third or so-called Bacon amendment, strikes at the very fundamental principle of the treaties. It nullifies their basic proposition, namely, that it is the nature and not the importance of a question which determines whether or not it is arbitrable, by excepting from the scope of the treaties a list of specifically enumerated questions, some of which are and some of which are not justiciable.

"Moreover, some of these exceptions are calculated to call attention to incidents which it would be far better to forget and to give offense to foreign nations."

"The negotiation of the recent treaties and the discussion which they have evoked has educated the country and has inspired the friends of arbitration everywhere. But the ratification of the treaties in their amended form would hinder rather than help the cause of arbitration."

Justice Riddell
Hon. Justice Wm. Renwick Riddell, of the high court of justice for Ontario, addressed the Lake Mohonk conference on "International Arbitration." He reviewed the treaties of arbitration affecting the United States and Canada since 1794, and pointed out that of fifteen treaties, thirteen had been markedly successful. He commented particularly on the Alaska Boundary Settlement of 1903, the North Atlantic Fisheries arbitration, and the Treaty of 1900 creating the international joint commission. In part he said:

"The geographical relation between the United States and Canada (and I use the word 'Canada' in the geographical and not the historical sense) permits, and indeed compels, these two countries to be an example to the rest of the world. They have the longest international boundary in the world; they also have vast realms which have not changed allegiance for a long period of time and which have had no dislocation in form of government."

"The Alaska Boundary of 1903 was an imperative necessity—it is impossible, however, not to recognize that Canadians generally were not satisfied with the personnel of the board even before they began their labors. It was believed that some of those appointed by the president were not impartial jurists of repute—that they declared in advance a determination not to give up any of the American claim. The award was received with anger, anger openly expressed, and while no attempt was made to do anything else than loyally to abide by it, few Canadians can be said to believe that the decision was just, or that it was accepted by the English representative upon any but diplomatic reasons. The two Canadian representatives refused to join in the award."

"A special agreement was made in 1909 as to the right to fish, etc., of American fishermen off the North Atlantic coast—and the matter came before a board sitting at The Hague in 1910 and composed of five persons, the chief justice of the supreme court of Canada, a distinguished American judge, an Austrian, a Dutchman, and an Argentine. The award was considered a masterpiece of judicial decision. Indeed, both parties claimed the victory—with reason, for it was a victory for international arbitration and common sense and humanity. The worst result by arbitration is infinitely better than the best of war."

"Then there is a treaty made in 1909 specially for the United States and Canada, providing for an international commission of six, three appointed by the United States and three by Canada, to pass (with the consent of the two countries) upon all disputes involving the rights, obligations, or interests of the United States or Canada either in relation to each other or to their respective inhabitants. This, I have on another occasion called a miniature Hague tribunal of our own just for us English-speaking nations of the North American continent."

"I do not propose to speak of abortive treaties which failed of confirmation by the senate—the defeat of these may not be the proudest boast of the senate in the future—I cannot judge that is for history."

STRUCK BY AUTO

MARTIN CASHMAN WAS INJURED
AND REMOVED TO HOSPITAL

Martin Cashman was struck and thrown down by an automobile owned and driven by Bart Scannell last night. The accident occurred in Middlesex street near the corner of Gamet when Cashman stepped into the path of the approaching auto. The chauffeur made every effort to stop the machine, but without any success, for Cashman was struck and in his fall received a scalp wound. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was removed to St. John's hospital, where it was said the injury was not serious.

BABY'S FINGER-NAILS

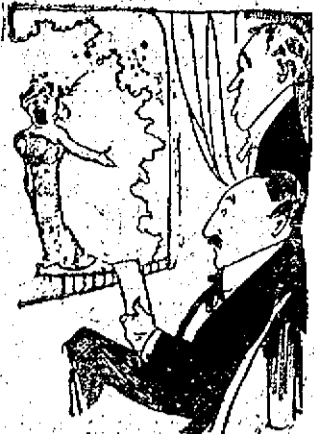

If you want your baby to have pretty finger nails when it grows up, don't cut them at all until after the first anniversary of its birth. You may, however, manure them daily by delicately pushing back the cuticle with a soft cloth dampened with sweet oil, but never clip about the base of the nail, as this makes the cuticle tough and thick of texture. Never neglect to rub a little cold cream on the baby's nails the last thing at night, for that will keep them so flexible that no matter how long they may grow before the end of the first twelvemonth they will not break off unevenly.

PRESIDENT TAFT

SAYS THAT BOSSISM IS NOT THE ISSUE

LORAIN, O., May 17.—President Taft delivered his first speech of today at Lorain to a crowd that had been lessened in size by a downpour of rain.

Roosevelt says that the real issue of the campaign is bossism, but he is mistaken," declared Mr. Taft. "During the seven years he was in office did you hear of Theodore dveling his hands with the blood of the bosses? Did you hear of the colonel going out with his elephant gun and shooting any bosses? No; you did not. Bossism is a false issue and a sham."

The president defended the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and upheld his administration and denounced the recall and the third term.

REFEREE HALEY BARRED

NEW YORK, May 17.—The state athletic commission this afternoon revoked the license of the National Sporting club and the license of Pat Haley as referee for violation of a rule under the Fraxley law in rendering a decision in the recent bout between Jim Stewart and Gunboat Smith.

SUFFRAGISTS WON

INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—Suffragists scored in the national socialist convention here today when they amended the section of the constitution pertaining to the membership in the party to read "and unrestricted political rights for both sexes." The successful amendment was carried, 135 to 85.

NOSEGAY NECKWEAR

The floral bow is one of the latest novelties in neckwear. It consists of a small satin or velvet nosegay, with streamers of long, soft green stems, finished off at the end with tiny buds. Bunches of green, velvet foliage are sometimes used as a substitute for the ribbon bow, which has not been altogether discarded.

As regards the actual collar, an interesting revival is the colored detachable neckband which was so popular two or three years ago, but the present fashion requires a fringe of the same colored silk sewed to the lower edge of the collar.

These neckbands sometimes fasten in front with a pair of fancy links instead of being invisibly closed at the side or at the back. It is some time since felling has been used, but it is being re-enforced as the tiniest possible lace edging to these neckbands.

Probably some time will elapse before it assumes—if it ever does—the extravagant proportions which are still remembered, but as it is now being used it is certainly becoming, as most complexions are improved if something white is worn at the neck.

SUMMER BEDSTEADS

The sleeping apartment during the summer should be made to appear dainty and cool.

This is an easy matter, and little expense is attached to it. After all the draperies used during the winter are stored away and the unnecessary articles of furniture dispensed with, clothe your room in its summer garb.

Purchase plain, barred or figured dimity, any color your taste may dictate. From this fashion a cover for your bed, bureau dressing table and the window draperies.

Measure the length of the bed and allow three or four widths of material, according to the size of the bed. This may be finished by a ruffled dounce, a plating or a deep hem. Fourteen inches from the hem or bordering the ruffle stitch bands of figured dimity.

Cut these bands from a wide striped design, which may be had in great variety.

These spreads are easily laundered and may be kept fresh and clean through the hot, dusty summer.

WOMAN FLEEDED FARMERS
BY ADVERTISING SCHEME

Some of the Letters That Were Sent to Her Were Received in This City

The complaints of farmers from all parts of New England that a woman has mulcted them out of thousands of dollars has resulted in considerable activity on the part of the postal authorities. So changeable has been the woman's place of abode and her name that the inspectors have as yet been unable to secure more than a description of her.

The woman works through an advertisement inserted in Boston papers, seeking a situation as housekeeper for a widower or bachelor. The ad sets forth that she is 30 years old, has had abundant experience as a housekeeper and that she will be pleased to work at a moderate salary, not being particular as to the locality.

According to the statement of the postal officials this description has proven satisfactory to New England widowers and bachelors who require the services of a housekeeper. They have written to her, addressing the letters to general delivery in Manchester, N. H.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Lowell, Lawrence, Hartford and Bridgeport.

Conn., Providence, R. I., and many other cities.

Upon the receipt of the letters the woman chooses those most promising for her purpose and drops a note to the effect that she is in debt for a small amount of room rent or something of the sort, and if the writer will send her the amount with sufficient to pay her car fare she will come immediately.

Her scheme has worked in at least 70 cases, according to the records of the postal department. Amounts ranging between $20 and $15 have been sent to her. In some cases the amount was not forthcoming until after a picture of a very attractive young woman of 23 or thereabouts had been sent to the prospective victim. The picture has worked in almost every case. It is a common Kodak picture about three by four inches in diameter and shows the young woman in an outdoor scene.

PEACE DAY EXERCISES HELD IN SCHOOLS TODAY

Were Sent Out by U. S.

Bureau of Education

Tomorrow, May 18, will be Peace day, and exercises in connection with the day were held in most of the grammar schools today. A great deal of literature having to do with the observance of Peace day had been sent to the masters of the different schools; copies of Peace day suggestions issued by the United States bureau of education that were very helpful and were so complete as to include the form of program. The form of program was not copied in detail, of course, but it contained valuable suggestions.

In the observance of Peace day at the Varnum school the following program, which is very similar to programs in other schools, was presented:

Singing—"The Breaking Waves Dashed High".....Hemans

Reading—"The Arsenal at Springfield".....Longfellow

Singing—"O God, Our Help in Ages Past".....Croft

Reading—"Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New".....Tennyson

Reading—"Recessional".....Kipling

Singing—"America".....School

Significance of Peace Day

It was in 1866 that Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, commissioner of education, recommended that the 18th day of May, the anniversary of the assembling of the First Peace conference at The Hague, should be observed as Peace day in the schools.

On May 18, 1899, an event took place which will always be remembered as a landmark in the history of mankind. Unlike most of the world's happenings, this occurrence affects equally every civilized nation on the globe, and it is necessary, therefore, that everybody should understand its meaning. The anniversary of the establishment of The Hague tribunal has been observed in many countries, and, like Christmas, the 18th of May is destined to become a great international day, which will promote good will among all men.

Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, writing on the significance of May 18, says: "In August, 1899, people all over the world were surprised by a letter which the czar addressed to the nations that were represented at the Russian court. This letter was an invitation to send delegates to a meeting which should consider what could be done to keep nations from going to war with each other. The czar stated in his letter that, for the best welfare of the world, the nations ought to restrict themselves in the spending of such enormous sums of money for armies and navies.

The Czar's Plans for Peace

The czar had been considering this matter for some time. He, however, was not the only ruler who had thought seriously about this condition of affairs, and his invitation to attend a peace conference met with unanimous response. Every government invited accepted, and this included all the nations of Europe, 29 in number, 4 from Asia, and 2 in America, the United States and Mexico.

On account of the unique nature of the conference, the czar thought it best not to hold it in the capital of any one of the great powers, where so many political interests are centered. He felt that this might hinder the work in which all the countries of the world were equally interested. Holland was selected as the country most admirably adapted for such a meeting. It was announced to the governments that the queen of the Netherlands would offer hospitality to the conference, and accordingly the Netherlands minister of foreign affairs sent out a formal invitation to the governments to meet at The Hague.

The Young Queen's Invitation

The young queen, who was then only 18 years old, to show her appreciation of the honor conferred upon her country, and of the deep meaning of the conference, placed at its disposal the most beautiful and historical building in the land. The conference was, therefore, held in this widely famed house in the woods, formerly the summer residence of the royal family, situated in a very beautiful park about a mile from the city.

This was a most remarkable gathering, for each nation had sent its greatest statesman. Then, too, it was the first time in the world's history that a peace conference had been held by the nations.

Choosing an Umpire

The key to the whole subject, and that which became the most important part of the program, is how to end a dispute before war begins. Many differences between nations have been settled without war by calling in a third party, just as an umpire on a ball field is called upon to decide which side is in the right. Wouldn't it look ridiculous if the two teams in a ball game should every time a disputed point arose, stop the game and go to fighting to settle the matter? And how would it look to the spectators to see the advantage given to a side merely because it was stronger in the first scramble? And yet this is exactly what nations do which go to war to settle disputes. How stupid to think that might can settle who is in the right.

War No Longer Necessary

These great statesmen at The Hague, who composed the third committee, recognized the folly of such a method of settling disputes and adopted a plan which encourages the nations to refer all their disputes to an umpire or arbitrator—in other words, to submit their differences to arbitration. In fact, the plan which this committee adopted makes it absolutely unnecessary for nations to go to war with each other in the future. What an important plan! To save the people of the world $2,000,000,000 a year, not to speak of the suffering and misery which war always brings. In the nineteenth century more than 14,000,000 able-bodied men were sacrificed in war.

The committee on arbitration divided its work into three parts. It said, first, that if two nations have a dispute, serious enough to cause war, they might call in another nation or nations who would view the matter with them in an impartial light and thus try to bring about a friendly settlement. A further important statement was made—that one or more powers, strangers to the dispute, might of their own free will offer their assistance. This provision, called "Special Mediation by Neutral Powers," certainly meant a great change in the attitude of nations toward each other.

BODY OF KING

TAKEN FROM ROYAL YACHT AT COPENHAGEN TODAY

COPENHAGEN, May 17.—The Danish royal yacht Dannebrog arrived at noon today at the tollbooth wharf in the inner harbor near Ansløberg palace bringing the body of the late king, Frederick VIII, from Travemünde. The coffin was borne ashore by twelve officers and placed in a hearse.

A procession was then formed, headed by a large force of cavalry. King Christian X of Denmark, King Haakon of Norway and many other royal personages followed the hearse on foot. Then came carriages containing Dowager Queen Louise, Queen Alexandra and several of the princesses. The streets from the landing place to the palace were thronged.

On arrival at the chapel of Christiansborg castle, the coffin was placed on a catafalque. The members of the royal family then surrounded the coffin and knelt in silent prayer. Before leaving the chapel each of them kissed the Danish flag which had been spread over the bier.

You Must Kill the Germs to Remedy Sore Throat—because it is a germ infection. We speak of "catching" sore throat—and we really do—inhalating millions of vagrant malignant germs when we breathe.

Deep in the throat cavities germs thrive lustily in their work of infection. The throat becomes dry and inflamed—swallowing a painful operation—you have sore throat or something worse—for you must remember that sore throat is often the forerunner of serious infectious diseases.

You may gargle until doomsday without getting at the seat of trouble—the liquid cannot penetrate into the folds of the throat where germs hide. At last, gargling casually washes the surface of the tonsils—it cannot remain long enough to be of real benefit.

Formamint THE GERM-KILLING THROAT TABLET

is a wonderful germ destroyer and preventive of germ infection. It succeeds where gargles fail—reaching the seat of infection. It is a pleasant-tasting tablet, sucked like candy, setting free a powerful, yet harmless, germicide that mixes with the saliva and is gently washed over the membranes of the mouth and throat—reaching every nook and cranny—killing the disease germs—and clearing the way for quick recovery. Formamint is soothing and grateful where there is irritation or soreness. It is the natural way—the sure way.

THE MODERN GIRL.

She never sings the sweet old songs that grandma used to sing. Like "Genevieve," or "Silver Threads," or "Welcome, Gentle Spring!" For she's a girl that's up-to-date, and when she strikes the keys, she makes the welkin ring with ragtime melodies.

He Wouldn't Cheer.

HERE was a despondent, disheartened looking man about the middle of the street car, and after watching him sigh a few times the jovial man moved across to him and slapped him on the leg and said: "Cheer up, old man, and be in the swim!"

"Can't do it," was the sorrowful reply.

"Nothing to be down the banks about. We are going to have great crops this year."

"They will be nothing to me. Money is plenty."

"Ah-um!"

"Weather is good."

"Ah-um!"

"No war with Japan!"

"I dunno."

"Business getting better all the time."

"Stebbe so."

"Of course, it's so. Why, man, I'm surprised at you! The rest of us are whooping it up to beat the band, and here you are like a bump on a log. What's the matter anyway?"

"Ah-um!" was sighed.

"Wife or children dead—house burned up—lost your money?"

"Yesterday," answered the man with trembling lips, "I went to a five and ten-cent store."

"Yes!"

"And bought me a pair of spectacles."

"Yes?"

"And—and this morning my wife sat down on 'em—and—and and—"

"I see, old man—I see. Sat down on 'em and bursted 'em, and you can't be cheerful to save your soul. All right—all right. Can't blame you a bit. It would be the same with me. Go right ahead and weep, and if any human hyena on this car gives you the ha ha ha! he'll have to settle with me!"

NATURAL AFFINITY.

Jack—I understand Percy is engaged to Miss Gush. I can't imagine what he can see in that girl to make him want to marry her.

Fred—Well, Percy has a mania for yachting, you know, and she's such a breezy creature that he naturally took a fancy to her.

A SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

WE were running a trolley line along a certain New England highway," said the electrical engineer, "and while we had the right of way some of the farmers were inclined to make trouble. We struck one old fellow, a widower, who swore he'd shoot the first man that put spade into the ground. I used many arguments without effect, and finally said:

"Perhaps you know the widow Lamphere, living two miles below here?"

"I do," says he.

"Very nice woman."

"She is."

"She wouldn't object to marrying again, I hear."

"I've heard the same."

"I don't see why she and you shouldn't make a match," I continued.

"Well, I've sometimes thought it might come around," he replied with a smile.

"I see only one drawback. There are two or three others after her, and some of them may get ahead of you."

"Um! Um!"

"Suppose you are working in the field some day, and all of a sudden you make up your mind to ask the widow to be yours?"

"Um! Um!"

"It will take you an hour and a half to put on a clean shirt, grease your boots, and walk down there. What may not happen in that time?"

"Suppose some other man is ten minutes ahead of you?"

"Y-e-s."

"Suppose you could take this electric line and be there ahead of all?"

The widow is yours, her farm is yours, and you are both happy for the rest of your lives."

"The widower looked at me for a long minute and then said:

"You just go ahead with your durned old line, and from now every man working on it shall have a quart of elder with his dinner. I'm a-seeing things different from what I did, and you can't get the cars whooping along here and adding to the prosperity of North America any too soon to suit me!"

ODE TO THE CANDY KID.

Marshmallows often haunt my dreams,
And fudge is fine and dandy,
I dearly love my chocolate creams,
But, oh, you peanut candy!

I'M IN AN AWFUL PICKLE—I'M ENGAGED TO MAE, AND I'M ALSO ENGAGED TO SUE. IF I MARRY MAE, SUE MAY SUE MAE FOR A FEW SOUS

THEN, ON THE OTHER HAND, IF I MARRY SUE, MAE MAY SUE SUE FOR ALIENATING MY AFFECTIONS, MAYBE.

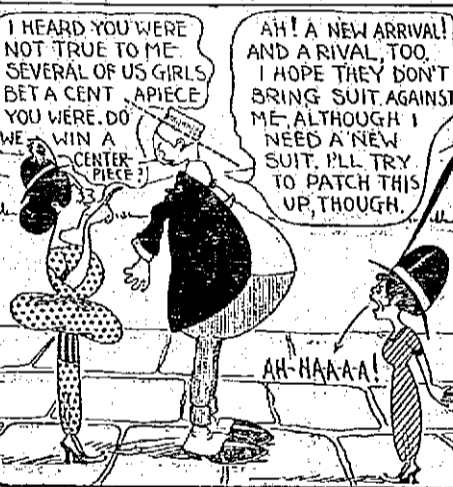

I'M INNOCENT, MAE.

I HEARD THAT YOU WERE ENGAGED TO SUE AND ME TOO. I BET A CENT YOU WERE NOT.

THEN, IF YOU ARE INNOCENT, I AM IN A CENT TOO.

OH, I WAS IN A PICKLE—I HAD TWO CLINGING VINES TO BOTH OF WHOM I WAS ENGAGED, AND BOTH ON ME HAD LINES.

I HEARD YOU WERE NOT TRUE TO ME—SEVERAL OF US GIRLS BET A CENT APIECE YOU WERE DO WE WIN A CENTER PIECE?

AH! A NEW ARRIVAL! AND A RIVAL, TOO. I HOPE THEY DON'T BRING SUIT AGAINST ME, ALTHOUGH I NEED A NEW SUIT. I'LL TRY TO PATCH THIS UP, THOUGH.

WHEN I MET MAE I SOON CONVINCED THE GIRL THAT I WAS TRUE, AND THAT'S ABOUT THE HARDEST STUNT THAT ANY MAN CAN DO.

HOW MY HEART BEATS! I THINK I'LL BEAT IT, TOO. CAN YOU BEAT IT?

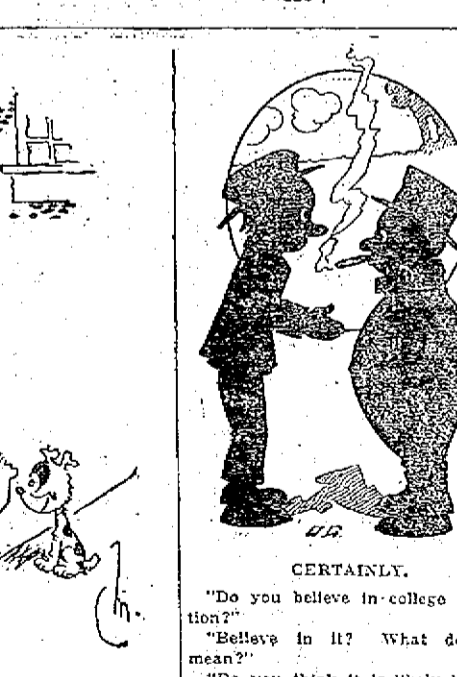

BUT HE PROMISED TO VOTE FOR ME—

I SAY HE'S A REPEATER. HE USED TO KISS ME REPEATEDLY.

WHILE I WAS THUS ENGAGED WITH MAE ALONG CAME LITTLE SUE, AND SAID I WAS ENGAGED TO HER. WHAT COULD A FELLOW DO?

BY LUCK THEY BOTH WERE SOFFRAGETTES AND SOON IN POLITIX THEY HAD A HEATED ARGUMENT. I DIDN'T STOP TO FIX.

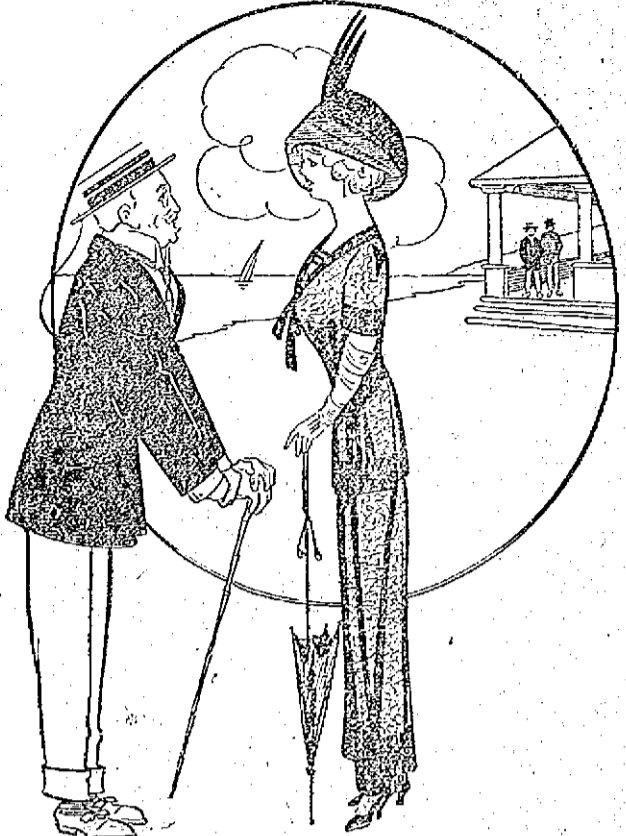

CERTAINLY.

"Do you believe in college education?"

"Believe in it? What do you mean?"

"Do you think it is likely to help a man?"

"Certainly. If my son Bill had never gone to college it isn't likely that he would ever have been noticed by any of the managers of the big league clubs."

AS SEEN FROM THE VERANDA.

"That old duke is always with Miss Plum these days. Cupid's busy, I guess."

"Yes; there's lots of cupidity about."

One of the Bunch.

HERE were two men smoking of the bunch, sir—one of the bunch, and oh, cripes, how he is getting there!"

JOE KERR.

"It's great, isn't it?"

"What?"

"The way he's gaining."

"I hadn't heard about it."

"Sweeping all before him, sir—all before him! Bound to get there—bound to. Ten more delegates yesterday."

"You must be referring to the Presidential race."

"Sure—sure. Lord, but how he is hauling in the delegates!"

REV. C. T. RICHESON WAS CALM WHEN INFORMED OF DECISION OF GOVERNOR FOSS

CHARLESTOWN PRISON

Prisoner Expressed Disappointment That He Would Not be Permitted to Live--He Told Prison Physician That He Did Not Need Medical Attention--He May Not Make Statement

BOSTON, May 17.—The news that he must be electrocuted next week for murdering Miss Avis Linnell of Lynn was received calmly by Clarence V. T. Richeson today. He was informed that Gov. Foss had declined to lay the petition for a commutation of sentence before the executive council by his attorney, William A. Morse and his spiritual adviser, Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church. The attorney and the minister were admitted to the death chamber at 9.40 a. m. and with them were Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins, the prison chaplain, and Deputy Warden Nathan D. Allen. Although the former clergyman expressed disappointment that he would not be permitted to live, as he requested, he displayed no other emotion. He showed no indication of collapsing physically and when the prison physician, Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, visited the cell at noon his services were not required. Dr. McLaughlin asked Richeson if he needed any medical attention. Richeson thanked him and said he did not. Attorney Morse and Rev. Mr. Johnson remained with the condemned man until this afternoon. Chaplain Stebbins and Deputy Warden Allen were present part of the time. Richeson read the governor's statement in the morning papers carefully and after a long talk with Mr. Morse and Mr. Johnson sent for some books, which Chaplain Stebbins obtained in the library.

It is not known whether the former minister will leave a statement. Before leaving the prison at 1 p. m. Mr. Johnson gave out the following signed statement:

"In company with the Hon. William A. Morse I visited Mr. Richeson this morning at a quarter before ten o'clock. Mr. Morse, after a few minutes conversation, stated frankly to him that the governor had decided not to interfere with the execution of the sentence pronounced by the court. He then read to Mr. Richeson from one of the newspapers the full statement of the governor.

"Mr. Richeson received the communication from Mr. Morse with the same spirit of fortitude which he has exhibited from the beginning. He did not collapse in any way but throughout the trying ordeal showed the remarkable courage which all along has been the occasion of astonishment to me.

"He stated to us that his principal thought as he faced execution was not for himself but for the sorrow of his family and friends.

(Signed) "Herbert S. Johnson."

GOVERNOR FOSS

GIVES OUT STATEMENT BEARING ON RICHESON CASE

BOSTON, May 17.—Clarence V. T. Richeson must die in the electric chair for the murder of Avis Linnell.

In an official statement issued last evening Governor Foss announced that executive clemency cannot be extended to him.

Attorney William A. Morse, his counsel, at once gave up the fight. In a statement issued later he declared Richeson must now look for merciful judgment to his God, to whose service in the innocence of his boyhood, he consecrated his life.

Abandoned, Richeson slept peacefully in his death cell at Charlestown prison last night, unaware of his fate. He was visited last evening by his spiritual adviser, the Rev. Dr. Herbert S. Johnson. He was still hoping then that his plea for clemency would be heard. His spiritual adviser left him shortly before 9 o'clock. The two guards took their places before his cell door and Richeson bade them good night.

Governor Foss received the report of the three alienists he named as a commission to test the sanity of Richeson, yesterday afternoon.

"The consensus of these opinions marked Richeson as an abnormal man and some of them as actually suffering from a form of insanity. But none agree that he was so mentally deranged that he was oblivious of the knowledge of right from wrong.

While they reached the conclusion that he was subject of attacks marked by extreme emotional disturbances, with loss of memory, they could not show that the crime was committed during such attacks.

It was at this point that responsibility for his crime commenced and restrictions of the law entered.

The alienists held Richeson accountable for his crime, although voluminous evidence had been laid before the governor showing that the condemned man was far from normal.

Attorney Morse abandoned the fight when he learned that the governor had reached the decision not to refer the petition to his council.

Considering the mass of documentary evidence which had been presented in behalf of Richeson, the summary by Governor Foss was brief. It was given out by his secretary, Dudley Holman. The statement in full is as follows:

FREIGHT HANDLERS TO GO ON STRIKE

International Officials to Confer Tomorrow

CHICAGO, May 17.—A general strike of freight handlers throughout the country will be declared tomorrow at a conference of international officials, according to a statement made by President Flannery today. Officers of the International Union of Freight Handlers are on the way here from Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York and other points. The Chicago railroad managers declare that in their opinion a strike no longer exists.

THE B. & M. ROAD

TO CHANGE THE RUNNING TIME OF SEVERAL TRAINS

Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade held a conference with officials of the passenger department of the B. & M. railroad relative to a few changes in the running time of the trains between Lowell and Boston. A few plans were agreed to by the officials although there has been no definite official action in the matter. The morning train leaving Boston at 3 o'clock will be restored and it is proposed to put on a train which will make up at Lowell and leave for Boston at 5.25 o'clock, arriving at the latter place at 7.25.

Another important change proposed is to start the train from Boston to the North which has been scheduled to leave at 7.30 p. m. for many years past, a half hour later. This would make two express trains from Boston, one at 8 and one at 8.30 p. m. This change, if made, should be passed in the hats of the Lowell men.

There is also some talk of establishing a through Sunday service from Lowell to Salisbury and Hampton and York beaches and return. Secretary Murphy discussed these and other matters of the same nature with the officials and came away satisfied that something would be done by the road in response to the requests.

COMMITTEE FAVORS GRAND TRUNK BILL

BOSTON, May 17.—The legislative committee on railroads today voted to report favorably the S. N. E. road bill authorizing that subsidiary of the Grand Trunk to extend its lines to Boston. The committee will submit its report in the house on Monday. Under the terms of the bill as reported the railroad must file its plans within one year, commence work within one year after that, and complete the extension within three years from the time work is begun.

The Southern New England railway bill to be reported has been amended from its original form of striking out the restrictions relating to the ownership of steamboat and steamship lines not only in the section which applies to the Grand Trunk but also in that relating to railroads in general.

There were about 500 people at Spaulding park this afternoon to witness the game between Lowell and Lynn. Despite the fact that this was not ladies' day there was a large assembly of the gentler sex and they were very enthusiastic during the progress of the game.

Zeiser and Lavigne were in the points for Lowell and Walter was on the slab for Lynn with Daum on the receiving end of the battery.

Umpire White was the decision maker and he called the game shortly after three o'clock.

Lowell
Miller 1b
Nye 2b
De Groff 3b
Cooney ss
Rising c
Boultes 3b
Ferrin rf
Lavigne cf
Zeiser p

First Inning

There was nothing doing in the first inning, but at one time it looked as though the visitors would send one or more men over the plate. Cooney was the first man up for the visitors and he slammed the ball into the left garden for two bases. Strands hit to Zeiser who threw the sphere to Boultes and "Jake" got Cooney at third. Strands attempted to steal third and was nailed. McGovern sent the ball into center field for a two bagger and Murch drew a free pass. McGovern stole third. Cargoe hit to Cooney but failed to reach first.

In the latter half of the inning Miller beat out an infield hit and reached first. Nye was the second man up and he hit to Murch and was out at first. Miller tried to reach third on the play and was thrown out. De Groff sent the sphere into right field and after arriving at the initial bag stole second base. Cooney sent the ball to Murch and was out at first.

Score--Lowell 0, Lynn 0.

Second Inning

In the second inning Logan fied to Boultes, Daum fied to Zeiser and Morris struck out. At this point in the game Bert Weeden, the catcher for Lynn team, who was on the coach line was ordered off the grounds by the umpire.

Topping Testifies at Steel Trust Inquiry

NEW YORK, May 17.—At the hearing of the government's steel trust inquiry John A. Topping, formerly chief executive of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and now chairman of the Republican Iron and Steel company, gave some interesting testimony regarding the absorption of the T. C. and I. by the trust. His version was widely at variance with the reports given out at the time of the absorption. He asserted that the company was prosperous at the time and, Roosevelt to the contrary, the merger was not made to avoid a panic. It was made, the witness said, for money making considerations alone. Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, who is representing the government in the investigation, asked the witness if the business of the T. C. and I. company had been good or bad before its absorption by the trust. The answer was that the business was good and was rapidly increasing.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE

After Five Minute Trial in Court

BOSTON, May 17.—After a "five-minute proceeding, in which there was much mysterious whispering by counsel and the one witness, Grace Rogers Mitchell was granted a divorce yesterday in the divorce session of superior court from William A. Mitchell, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Thomas G. Plant Shoe company. Mitchell lives at 96 St. Mary's street, Fenway. His wife charged him with infidelity. The case was uncontested. Much mystery and expert desire to hide the case from the press has been evinced. After the close of the case Judge Pierce said he understood an agreement for alimony would be reached but declined at the time to enter any decree therefor.

Ex-Gov. John L. Bates, who appeared for the libellant, and George V. Anderson, who appeared for the libellee, refused to talk.

The single witness received instructions from Mr. Anderson before he went on the stand to speak in as near a whisper as possible. His name could not be heard, but he did say he was a broker.

He told of a certain automobile trip to Providence to which he was a party and of a certain hotel. Nothing more of his testimony could be heard.

The two attorneys, the mysterious broker, Mrs. Mitchell, who is handsome, and about 25 years old, and an elderly woman entered the court room after 4 o'clock.

Atty. Anderson at once asked that the case be heard in the judge's lobby. Judge Pierce refused. The clerk of the court knew nothing of the case that was to follow, so had to send a court officer to the vault to get the papers. The case has not appeared on the list for this sitting, and was only filed on March 12. For some reason the parties to the libel desired a speedy separation.

Though young Mrs. Mitchell appeared in court she was not called upon to testify. The young broker who did testify left the court room immediately.

Mrs. Mitchell left the court house at the Somerset street entrance and drove away in a closed carriage.

Mrs. Mitchell stated in her libel that she married at Boston on Oct. 1, 1902, and lived with her husband in Brookline in 1902, in Cambridge, in 1903 and 1904 and in Boston up to Sept. 15, 1910, at 50 St. Mary's street.

ceded to be by far the cleverest and most artistic impersonator of female roles ever seen on the American stage, is now playing his second successful engagement in Boston, and will be seen here immediately following the close of this engagement, appearing here with the same splendid company and complete production now being seen in Boston. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Musical comedy of its best is seen and enjoyed at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The Temple Players, presenting "Songs and Dances of Ireland," are scoring the biggest hit of the season. Miss Grace

Hawthorne, leading soloist of the company, is winning new friends in her two numbers, "Killarney" and "Come Back to Erin." The other members include Jack Allman, Helen Nichols, two recent additions to the cast; Jan. Byrnes, Jr., Miss Winifred Gilbraine, Miss Lawless, Miss Murphy and Miss Murray. The program contains many bright and catchy numbers and a series of dances that combine in making the offering a real leader.

Miss Blanche Holt & Co., in Una Clayton's best output, "The Star Boarder," is a most enjoyable farce comedy that's brimful of fun, and especially well interpreted by Miss Holt and three assistants.

Lighting Weston, cartoonist of wonderful ability, gives a marvelous exhibition of his skill with the crayon, and Leslie Thurston, lady xylophone soloist, is a real leader in her class. Emma Cameron, the week's soloist, is being heard in the latest and best song hits.

singing and motion pictures being given at Le Palace d'Art this week is attracting much attention, and as the policy becomes more firmly entrenched in the public mind there isn't the slightest doubt but that it will become the summer dramatic center of the city. Yesterday's changes in pictures and songs brought with them increased interest. One of the most intense pictures this city has yet seen is "Suppressed Evidence," strongly melodramatic and of the sort to elicit applause. Another excellent representation is based upon an incident in the life of the French monarch, Henry IV, and put into picture form by the celebrated Pathe firm of Paris. "The picture is beautifully colored. "Cool Fishing Off the Irish Coast" is just what its name implies, a series of scenes taken by the Pathe company off the Galway coast of Ireland, where the fisher folk work early and late from week to week. The supper hour matinees are becoming more popular daily.

Patrons are reminded of the fact that this playhouse is "the coolest spot in town," made so through an excellent ventilation system which was installed at the time of the building of the theatre. The subscription list is still open to these patrons who wish to have their seats reserved for them from week to week. The supper hour matinees are becoming more popular daily.

"Every Rose Has Its Stem" are other good numbers. Mr. Lloyd, the tenor, had his first try at ballad singing yesterday, giving the pretty melody, "When You're Away," in a manner which was thoroughly pleasing. Miss von Brocklin, now a favorite, gave "I Left My Heart in Ireland." The grand opera quartet gives the best known scenes from "Faust."

JOHN ELIOT LITERARY CLUB

A meeting of the John Eliot literary club was held last evening at home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Graham in Westford street. The members read the tragedy, "Alcestis" by Euripides, the different parts being taken as follows: "Alceus" Mrs. E. V. Bigelow; "Admetus" Rev. E. V. Bigelow; "Hercules" Alvin Sykes; "Death" Dana Stockbridge; "Phores" Alvin Sykes; servant, F. M. Silk. Mrs. Ida Woodies was the chorus leader, assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. J. E. Graham, Mrs. George Van Deusen, Mrs. F. M. Silk, Miss Catherine and Miss Grace Ward, Miss Bertha Marrow and Miss Anne Saunders. All the participants were in costume, some of them showing great originality in an effort to get the atmosphere of the tragedy under discussion. After the reading the president, Mr. Stockbridge, appointed a nominating committee to bring in a list of names for the annual election of officers.

Former Lowell Man is Mine Owner

Isaac Nolan was a loomfixer in this city a few years ago and now he is a prosperous miner in Alaska. Mr. Nolan was a resident of Lowell for 35 years, and his relatives are still living here. We would not have known that Mr. Nolan was in Lowell but for the fact that he called to renew his subscription for The Sun. "I was always a great admirer of The Sun," said Mr. Nolan, "and you cannot imagine how good it is to read home news when you are thousands of miles away. Your newspaper seems almost a living thing to me and when it comes it is just like meeting a fellow from your own home town."

Mr. Nolan went to Alaska about eight years ago and he came back to Lowell for a short visit three years ago. He is now working a claim in Juneau, 260 miles this side of Dawson, and he is quite well satisfied with the way in which his mine is panning out. He does not boast of riches but he allows that he will not have to fix any more looms for a living.

Mr. Nolan will remain in this section of the country for about two months. He is subject to bronchitis and is suffering an attack of it at the present time. Next week he will go to the White mountains where he will remain for a few weeks. This is the rainy season in Alaska and he always tries to avoid the rainy season. His mine, however, is being operated all the time and, unlike the average man, he has a good income whether he works or plays. Mr. Nolan spends his winters in San Francisco, Cal. The Alaskan winter, he says, is too severe for comfort, so he goes to Frisco and takes it easy during the winter months. There is little else doing around Juneau except mining but a little farther on there is a diversity of occupation. The country abounds in fish and big game of all kinds. There is to be found there the black, the brown, and the grizzly bear; moose, caribou, deer, mountain sheep and other animals whose fur and meat are valuable. Mr. Nolan arrived in Lowell yesterday. He likes Lowell and says that if the same opportunities were open to him in this section of the country as in Alaska he would much prefer to live here. It will not be long, however, before he will be able to live wherever he may please and it's a good bet that when he decides to rest on his ears and enjoy the fruits of his labor he will return to Lowell. In the meantime The Sun will keep him posted on all that is going on at home and will carry sunshine and companionship to him in his mining camp in the mountains of Juneau.

IN POLICE COURT LIST OF OFFENDERS

Disposed of Today by Judge Fisher

At the opening of the police court session this morning there were eight men in the docket. Judge Fisher occupied the bench and disposed of these few cases in a short time.

Maximo Lamirande was arrested on a warrant charging him with threatening his wife, Alice. He entered a plea of not guilty and inasmuch as one of the witnesses was not present, the case was continued till tomorrow, bail being fixed at $200.

On Probation
Alphonse Giguere denied his guilt to a complaint charging him with being a stubborn child, but after hearing the testimony of the mother of the defendant, which was to the effect that Alphonse was a pool room "fend" and that he spent practically all the money he earned in playing his favorite game, the court found him guilty but in order to give him a chance to reform, placed him in the care of the probation officer.

Drunkennes
John J. Hart was arrested yesterday in a drunken condition and in order to baffle the police he gave his name as Ryan. The keen eye of Deputy Downey detected Hart in the cage this morning and after a few questions on the part of the deputy, the defendant admitted his name is Hart and as this was his second offense, he was fined $5. John Murphy and Arthur Prescott, two other second offenders, were fined a like amount.

Roger Bruce denied he was drunk yesterday but as the evidence was against him he was found guilty and ordered to the common jail for a term of three months. Patrolman J. H. Clark, who made the arrest stated that he apprehended the defendant in Middlesex street near the station at 11:15 o'clock last night. He said Bruce was staggering drunk and smelled strongly of liquor. Patrolman Dooley said he saw Bruce in the afternoon at which time he was pretty full. He said he ordered him to go home and lost track of him later. Bruce denied he was drunk, but when the deputy informed the court that Bruce comes to Lowell every Saturday night from Graniteville and gets drunk, the court imposed the above sentence.

Two first offenders were fined $2 each.

ARBOR DAY IN MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., May 17.—Today had a double significance in Maine. It was observed both as Arbor day in accordance with the proclamation of Governor Plaisted who suggested as especially important the teaching of children to love the trees of Maine and as Hague or Peace day for which arrangements were made by the Maine branch of the American School Peace League. The planting of over 16,000 silver maples was a feature in this city.

FORMER LOWELL BOY Made Clerk of 3d Essex District Court

IPSWICH, May 17.—P. P. Kierce started in his official duties as clerk of the third Essex district court yesterday. The office was created this winter by an act of the legislature on the petition of Hon. Charles A. Sayward, judge of the court, and Mr. Kierce is the first holder of the office. Mr. Kierce is 33 years old and came to this town a number of years ago from Lowell. He was educated in the public schools of that city, and since coming to Ipswich has engaged in the undertaking business. He has been active in political affairs and is a member of the democratic town and state committees, always working at elections for the interest of the party candidates. He is one of the leading members of Carrollton council, K. of C., and also a member of Chebacco Tribe, I. O. R. M.

SELECTING A HAT

In the opinion of the milliner there are five golden rules to be observed when choosing a hat. First appearances are the safest. Be judged by the first rapid impression which the looking glass affords. Study the color of the eye before any other consideration. Be certain that the headpiece fits.

As every head is individual in shape, to fit a bandeau suitably means a great deal from the point of view of comfort and becomingness.

See yourself in a full length mirror before making a decision. A hat often looks well in its relation to head and shoulders where it falls ignominiously as the crowning piece of the whole figure.

Have the hair well dressed before embarking on a hat choosing expedition.

CAMBRIDGE MAN ROBBED AND HIT WITH HAMMER

Two Thieves Got Away With $95 and Left Junk Shop Man Unconscious

BOSTON, May 17.—Two young men entered the junk shop of Alex Smith, 221 Main street, Cambridge, yesterday afternoon, at 4.15, closed the outside door, and after robbing Smith of $95, beat him over the head and face with a hammer and left him insensible. Smith is at the Cambridge Relief hospital with five ugly wounds, but his skull was not fractured. His condition, however, is serious.

The police think one of the men will seek treatment for a finger that was almost chewed off by Smith in a desperate effort to save himself, and they hope thus to get a clew.

Lena Vincenza, 11 years old, of 77 Main street, went to the shop with a small bundle of rags to sell. One of the men ordered her away and she returned home and told of a fight at Smith's. Her older brother, Gene, with a companion, Edward Sullivan, of 32

Main street, ran to the shop but could not open the door. A few minutes later two men came out and hastened away.

Smith staggered out shortly afterward and the two boys helped him to the shop of George F. Reid, a few doors away.

According to the story Smith told the police, the men walked to the rear of the small building where he was at work. They tried to weigh themselves and a second later one seized Smith and demanded his money, at the same time beating him.

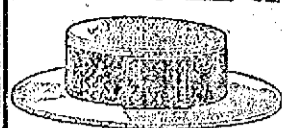

He begged for mercy, saying that he had a wife and five children and telling them to take his money, but spare his life. The money, which was in an inside pocket, was not forthcoming quick enough, and as one man stepped back to the door and fastened it the other threw Smith to the floor and choked him.

Smith weakened and the robber snatched the money. But Smith managed to seize his assailant and firmly set his teeth in one hand. The man yelled with pain and called his companion. A hammer lying on the floor was used to shower blows on Smith. The man escaped by pulling out one of Smith's teeth.

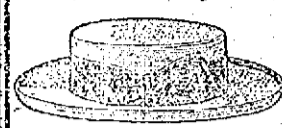

One of the men returned for a raincoat, which he wrapped about the injured finger. It is believed they intended to the Kendall square station of the Subway.

Descriptions of the men agree that they are about 23 or 24 years old, well dressed, one tall and the other short, both wearing black derby hats.

RETURNS TO WED OLD SWEETHEART

Man Thought Drowned 25 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—James McDonald arrived here yesterday, on the steamer Harvard enroute to Al-berta, Canada, to meet Miss Harriet Woodside, his sweetheart of 25 years ago who until a week ago believed him dead. McDonald sailed from the New England coast in the whaling ship Fannie Griffith, a quarter of a century ago on a voyage for his health. He expected to return and be married. The Fannie Griffith was wrecked. Mac was believed to have been lost. After many hardships he returned to the New England village and found that Miss Woodside had married.

He did not let his presence become known and returned to the sea. In following years he occasionally had news of his one time fiancée through a common friend. He learned last week in Los Angeles that her husband had died and he left for Canada the next day.

THE FIREMEN'S BILL TO BE VOTED UPON

Provides One Day Off in Five

It will be up to the voters at the next city election to say whether or not the firemen shall have one day off in five. An act relative to this matter was approved by the legislature last month and will be submitted to the voters at the annual city election. The act reads as follows:

Section 1. Members of the fire department of every city shall be excused from duty for one day out of every five days, without loss of pay.

The time and the manner of excusing members of fire departments from duty, in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall be determined by the chief, or other officer or board at the head of the fire department.

Section 2. The chief, or other officer, or board at the head of the fire department of any city shall have authority, in case of any public emergency, to prevent any member of the department from taking the day off herein provided for, at the time when he is entitled thereto, or at the time assigned thereafter, provided that such day off shall be granted to him at a later date than is practicable, and such days shall be in addition to any annual vacation now or hereafter allowed to the members of said departments, and such annual vacation shall not be diminished on account of the days off herein provided for.

Section 3. This act shall be submitted to the voters of every city except the cities of Boston and Brockton, at the annual city election in the current year, and shall take effect in any city upon its acceptance by a majority of the voters voting thereon; otherwise it shall not take effect. If in any such city the said election for the current year shall have been held prior to the passage of this act, this act shall be submitted to the voters of such city at the annual city election in the following year. (Approved April 22, 1912.)

STOLE PENNIES

MAN GIVEN A SENTENCE OF FOUR MONTHS

BOSTON, May 17.—The theft of 100 rare pennies, dating consecutively from 1793 to 1894, has nearly broken the heart of Edwin J. Morris of Walnut street, who cherished them as an heirloom.

For stealing them James Grim, formerly of Walnut street, was sentenced to four months in the house of correction when arraigned in the municipal court yesterday.

Grim, also known as John L. Higgins, while rooming at the lodging house of Isabel Y. Bailey on Walnut street, stole clothes and toilet articles, it is said, and the cherished pennies from Miss Morris, also a lodger there. This occurred on Jan. 15 last. Grim slipped away.

The landlady, Mrs. Bailey, while taking a walk yesterday on Boston common, copied Grim. She grabbed him by the arm and held him till an officer placed him under arrest.

Consult Your Complexion

whenever you are in doubt as to what creams and essences to use.

The texture of the individual skin varies, as does also the supply of natural oils.

The skin that is dry and easily roughened needs an entirely different course of treatment from the skin that is naturally oily. But no woman need have a shiny skin. For the face with a tendency to shine, Riker's Violet Cerate should be used on retiring, after the skin has been washed with pure soap, and left a little moist. The Cerate should be worked into the skin with an upward rotary motion. In the morning the face should be washed with water—not too hot—in which a sprinkling of Almond Meal has been dissolved. The use of a small rubber complexion brush passed over the face after drying will prevent that shiny look.

Gentlemen:

I am a constant user of your Violet Cerate, which I consider most satisfactory and beneficial, particularly when something more than ordinary cleansing cream is required.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend it to the woman who is particular about her complexion.

SERVICE PENSION ACT

For Veterans of Civil and Mexican Wars

Several inquiries have been made at The Sun office relative to a service pension to certain defined veterans of the Civil War and the War with Mexico, and for the benefit and enlightenment of those interested, we publish a copy of the act taken from the Congressional Record of May 7:

"Section 1. That any person who served 90 days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late Civil War, who has been honorably discharged therefrom, and who has reached the age of 62 years or over, shall, upon making proof of such facts, according to such rules and regulations as the secretary of the interior may provide, be placed upon the pension roll and be entitled to receive a pension as follows: In case such person has reached the age of 62 years and served 90 days, $12 per month; 6 months, $13.50 per month; 1 year, $14 per month; 1½ years, $14.50 per month; 2 years, $15 per month; 2½ years, $15.50 per month; 3 years or over, $16 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 66 years and served 90 days, $15 per month; 6 months, $16.50 per month; 1 year, $17 per month; 1½ years, $17.50 per month; 2 years, $18 per month; 2½ years, $18.50 per month; 3 years or over, $19 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 70 years and served 90 days, $18 per month; 6 months, $19.50 per month; 1 year, $20 per month; 1½ years, $20.50 per month; 2 years, $21 per month; 2½ years, $21.50 per month; 3 years or over, $22 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 74 years and served 90 days, $21 per month; 6 months, $22.50 per month; 1 year, $23 per month; 1½ years, $23.50 per month; 2 years, $24 per month; 2½ years, $24.50 per month; 3 years or over, $25 per month. That any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil War and received an honorable discharge, and who was wounded in battle or in line of duty and is now unfit for manual labor by reason thereof, or who from disease or other causes incurred in line of duty resulting in his disability is now unable to perform manual labor, shall be paid the maximum pension under this act, to wit, $30 per month, without regard to length of service or age.

"That any person who has served 60 days or more in the military or naval service of the United States in the War with Mexico and has been honorably discharged therefrom, shall, upon making like proof of such service, be entitled to receive a pension of $30 per month.

"All of the aforesaid pensions shall commence from the date of filing of the applications in the Bureau of Pensions after the passage and approval of this act: Provided, That pensioners who are 63 years of age or over, and who are now receiving pensions under existing laws, or whose claims are pending in the Bureau of Pensions, may, by application to the commissioner of pensions, in such form as he may prescribe, receive the benefits of this act; and nothing herein contained shall prevent any pensioner or person entitled to a pension from prosecuting his claim and receiving a pension under any other general or special act: Provided, That no person shall receive a pension under any other law at the same time or for the same period that he is receiving a pension under the provisions of this act: Provided further, That no person who is now receiving or shall hereafter receive a greater pension under any other general or special law, than he would be entitled to receive under the provisions herein shall be pensionable under this act.

"Sec. 2. That rank in the service shall not be considered in applications filed hereunder.

"Sec. 3. That no pension attorney, claim agent, or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for services rendered in presenting any claim to the Bureau of Pensions, or securing any pensions under this act, except in applications for original pensions by persons who have not heretofore received a pension.

"Sec. 4. That the benefits of this act shall include any person who served during the late Civil War, or in the War with Mexico, and who is now or may hereafter become entitled to pension under the acts of June 27, 1890, February 15, 1895, and the joint resolutions of July 1, 1892, and June 25, 1905, or the acts of January 29, 1887, March 3, 1891, and February 17, 1897.

"Sec. 5. That it shall be the duty of the commissioner of pensions, as each application for pension under this act is adjudicated, to cause to be kept a record showing the name and length of service of each claimant, the monthly rate of payment granted to or received by him, and the county and state of his residence; and shall at the end of the fiscal year 1914 tabulate the record so obtained by states and counties, and shall furnish certified copies thereof upon demand and the payment of such fee therefor as is provided by law for certified copies of records in the executive departments."

"WETTEST" TOWN IS TO HAVE FOUR MORE SALOONS

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 17.—Winthrop, Mo., said to be the "wettest" town of its size in the country, is to be limited in the number of saloons. The town has 33 inhabitants, including women and children, and the county court has just issued licenses for four additional saloons.

Winthrop now has six saloons and six wholesale liquor houses. The members of the county court declare they will issue no more saloon licenses. Winthrop is just opposite Atchison, Kan., where there are no saloons. A bridge connects the towns, and at night is nearly always crowded with persons going to Missouri to get a drink.

Street Commissioner John H. Dunn of Boston, who is Lieutenant-Colonel of the 9th regiment, yesterday received assurances from at least 22 of the 33 officers of the regiment who are enti-

led to vote at tonight's election at the East armory, Boston, that they would be with him for colonel.

Judge Edward L. Logan of South Boston, who is major of the third battalion, is also a candidate, but Dunn's friends are confident that the contest will be decided on the first ballot.

Olive Oil for Thin People

Thin people as a rule are not strong, and ordinary foods, even when eaten in quantity, do not always build up the body and give strength. If this has been your experience, you should at once become a convert to the use of Pompeian Olive Oil. Two things, this, the purest of olive oils will do—first, it is a food and flesh builder. It is easily digested and is an ideal food in itself, especially for invalids and convalescents, and second, it builds up strength and creates energy. This is due to the fact that it is much easier digested than solid foods.

Pompeian Olive Oil being absolutely pure and from the first pressing of selected, hand picked, ripe Italian olives, without any chemical treatment or adulteration of any kind, is the best remedy possible for all stomach and gastric troubles. It has a distinctive sweet, nutty flavor not to be found in other kinds.

When taken with each meal, either plain or with salads and other foods, it will soon demonstrate to you its wonderfully beneficial results.

If you will use more Pompeian Olive Oil you will soon learn that you can do away with half the other medicines you are using. In itself, it is a food-medicine without an equal.

Pompeian Olive Oil is sold by druggists and grocers. Full one-half pint cans, 25 cents; full pint cans, 50 cents; full quart cans, 90 cents.

CURED OF LOCKJAW
NEW TREATMENT ENABLES WOMAN TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, May 17.—Taken to Har Moriah hospital two weeks ago, apparently dying from lockjaw, Mrs. Ray Spiro of 55 East 118th street will leave the institution today a well woman.

Mrs. Spiro, who is 65 years old, was attended by Dr. Leo Steigltz and Dr. S. A. Blauner, while the injection of tetanus antitoxin was supervised by Dr. Nicoll of the department of health research laboratories.

Because of her age the woman's recovery is considered most unusual. But there are other reasons why the successful termination of her illness has caused much comment. One of these is that the tetanus antitoxin was administered in large doses and was not injected into the tissues, but into the veins.

It was learned that such a course was being advocated by Dr. William Park, head of the research laboratories of the department of health. It is a comparatively new treatment in this country. Mrs. Spiro received in all 75,000 units of the tetanus antitoxin.

Best time ever, Associate, tonight.

A SUICIDE NOTE FOUND IN BERTH

Sailor is Missing From the Vermont

BOSTON, May 17.—After an all-day investigation, the police were not satisfied last night as to whether H. Schmidt, a first class carpenter from the U. S. S. Vermont, committed suicide by jumping overboard from the steamer Bay State on its passage from Portland to Boston yesterday morning, as a note in his vacant stateroom announced, or whether the note was a ruse on the part of the sailor to escape pursuit in case he deserted.

As the second steward of the steamer did not enter the stateroom occupied by the sailor until after 8 o'clock yesterday morning, an hour after the boat docked, Schmidt had plenty of opportunity to leave the boat. Capt. Austin Linscott of the Bay State and the purser reported the man's disappearance as a "probable suicide by drowning" to the general manager of the Eastern Steamship corporation.

A dress suit case, containing a sailor's uniform, with Schmidt's name sewed in it, was found on the floor of the stateroom. The door was locked, but the window was open. The note read:

"Committed suicide by drowning; notify the commanding officer of the U. S. S. Vermont at Norfolk, Va. If my body is found, bury it again at sea."

Schmidt registered as a passenger on the Bay State at 6.30 p. m. Wednesday at Portland, and was assigned to stateroom No. 157. He was not seen again.

The police will get into communication with the commanding officer of the Vermont through the navy yard.

PRESIDENT TAFT

GREATLY REFRESHED BY A DAY OF REST

CLEVELAND, O., May 17.—Refreshed by a comparatively quiet day here, President Taft left Cleveland early today to take up again his speechmaking tour of the state.

Friends of the president were confident today that he was more determined than ever to make the struggle for Ohio's 48 delegates to the republican national convention as strenuous as possible. Although Mr. Taft declined to discuss reports published here that he might abandon the fight for a renomination if he should lose in the Ohio primaries men close to him place no credence in such a report. They point to the fact that hundreds of delegates to the convention are instructed and pledged for Mr. Taft and that the Taft workers throughout the country have put up their best fight for him. They figure also on the bitter resentment the president has shown toward Colonel Roosevelt and few of them would concede that he would ever withdraw in favor of his predecessor.

Talk of Mr. Taft's retirement from the race for a fourth term in case he loses Ohio is also discredited by his friends.

The president's schedule for today called for speeches at Lorain, Bellevue, Fremont, Fostoria, Tiffin, Carey, Upper Sandusky, Kenton, Findlay, Bowling Green and a night address at Toledo.

THE SOCIALISTS

URGE THAT AID BE PROVIDED FOR UNEMPLOYED

INDIANAPOLIS, May 17.—The national platform adopted by the socialist convention at a session which continued until early today advocated the industrial and political demands, plans for collective ownership and aid for the unemployed, as drafted in the platform of four years ago.

"Capitalist concentration" and "Socialist industrial despotism" are held responsible in the platform for the higher cost of living, increased burdens of armament, poverty slums, child labor and most of the insanity and crime.

It is charged that the anti-trust laws and railroad restriction with the prosecutions, indictments and investigations based upon such legislation have proved to be utterly futile and ridiculous.

MILK SITUATION

BEING INVESTIGATED BY AGRICULTURAL EXPERTS

BOSTON, May 17.—Farmers and agricultural experts today continued their investigation into the milk situation in New England at a meeting held at the chamber of commerce. The speakers, after comparing notes, arrived at the conclusion that there is not an actual money loss in the milk business of New England farms the incidence over the cost of production is decidedly small. Those who addressed the meeting included Prof. Sanborn, who has a dairy farm in New Hampshire; George Albee of Concord, Mass.; Prof. Fred Rasmussen of New Hampshire college and Prof. J. M. Truman of the Connecticut agricultural college.

Continued

Statement of Gov. Foss
"Executive clemency will not be extended in the case of Clarence V. T. Richeson. The prisoner was sentenced upon his own confession and without a trial for a crime which appears impossible that any normal man could commit."

"After his confession and sentence, a plea of insanity was set up by his counsel and strongly supported by affidavits extending over his life. The character of these affidavits left no other course for the governor than to submit these and the prisoner himself to an examination by our leading alienists in order to protect the Commonwealth from the charge that the man was actually insane when the deed was committed, as well as at the present time."

"The evidence shows that Richeson's family is heavily afflicted with insanity; that he himself is autistic, a semi-idiot and a neurotic; that he is subject to extreme emotional disturbances, marked by loss of memory, which two alienists have diagnosed as hysterical insanity, one physician having the alternative term of hysterical delirium, and the majority opinion indicating that these attacks are hysterical attacks, marked by extreme emotional disturbances of brief duration with loss of memory during the attack and for a varying period following it."

"The evidence, however, while clearly revealing these attacks, indicates that his crime was not committed by him during such an attack. Therefore, while there is some divergence of opinion among the alienists as to whether these attacks indicate actual insanity, there is sufficient ground for the conclusion that he is accountable for his crime and that the exercise of executive clemency in this instance would be contrary to the public good."

"The affidavit and medical evidence as to Richeson's unfavorable heredity, his lapses of consciousness and his attacks of delirium, are too voluminous to include in this statement and are not suited for publication."

Morse Gives Up Fight
Attorney William A. Morse, later in the evening, issued the following statement:

"The governor's statement has been read to me over the telephone. Although I feel that the evidence submitted warranted a different conclusion, as one of Richeson's counsel I wish to thank him for his thoughtful consideration of the petition for commutation of sentence. He was just and courageous enough, in the midst of a bitter cry for vengeance, to pause and look around him."

"I, who have been so near to Richeson during all these months, feel very sad that it must finally end in his being killed by the method at present approved by the law. He must now look for merciful judgment to his God, to whose service in the innocence of his boyhood he consecrated his life."

"I am tired out tonight. Tomorrow I must go to Richeson and tell him we have lost."

SLEPT QUIETLY

RICHESON DID NOT KNOW LAST NIGHT OF GOVERNOR'S DECISION

BOSTON, May 17.—Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Avis Linnah, slept quietly in his cell in the death-house at Charlestown state prison last night totally ignorant that the governor had refused commutation of his sentence.

The prisoner has kept buoyed up by the hope that his petition for clemency would go to the executive council and that that body would act favorably upon it. Through the weeks of severe ailing by alienists he bore himself with remarkable strength and courage. Even when transferred to the prison death cell from the jail he did not give way to his emotions, which on a number of previous occasions had caused an almost complete collapse for lesser cause.

It is feared that the former minister, upon receiving the news, will relapse into one of his attacks of "hysterical delirium" to which he has been subject at different times during his life, according to the alienists who examined him.

Anticipating such an occasion it may be expected that the execution of Richeson will take place very early next week. The sentence provides that the condemned must die some time during the week of May 19 and the law stipulates that the hour of execution must be between midnight and sunrise.

But one of the 13 who have been electrocuted at Charlestown has met death on a Monday morning, while ten of the number have been taken to the chair on Tuesday morning. The other two were executed on Friday mornings.

GOVERNOR FOSS

BOSTON, May 17.—Gov. Foss today vetoed the bill which would permit peaceful persuasion during strikes, lockouts or other labor disturbances in this state.

ANTI-TAFT FACTION

ATLANTA, Ga., May 17.—The anti-Taft faction of the republican party in Georgia held a convention here today to elect four delegates at large and four alternates to the national convention to contest the right of Taft delegates elected in March. It was understood today's convention would instruct for Roosevelt.

CROWD OF STRIKERS DISPERSED BY DOGS

Novel Plan Was Adopted
by the Police

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 17.—Striking laborers from Newark made an unsuccessful sortie here yesterday, their object being to induce the men employed on the new Glenside park to quit work. When the strikers, numbering about fifty, entered the town they were met by a detachment of police. The men made no effort to carry out their program.

Before reaching Montclair the strikers had an exciting experience in Glen Ridge, where two Belgian police dogs were called into play to prevent interference with workmen. The dogs were muzzled, but when they dashed at the gathering of strikers the men retreated in disorder. The dogs are trained to knock men down by running between their legs and some of the fleeing workmen were tumbled by the animals.

FOR THE ORPHANS WHIST PARTY HELD

Conducted Select Party

Despite the inclement weather last night the Spalding house in Pawtucket street was the scene of a large and select gathering, the occasion being a whist and entertainment for the benefit of St. Peter's orphanage. The party was highly enjoyed by all present. There were 32 tables in evidence and be it said that the card game was a lively one for the prizes were well worth a contest. At the close of the game the following prizes were awarded: First, tea "cedar," Julia Allen; second, piece of linen with Mexican work, Mrs. Patrick Farrell; third, Madonna in plaster parls, Miss Margaret Sullivan.

Before the distribution of prizes Miss Katherine P. Glennon, a talented musician of Boston, rendered several piano selections. Her playing was so much enjoyed that she was forced to respond to several encores.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Loyal Victoria lodge, of Odd Ladies, M. U., gave a delightful May fair and concert in Odd Fellows temple last evening. The program was varied and was successfully given under the direction of Mr. Burnett Marshman, consisting of piano solos by Alice Walker and Mary Toy; reading, Eva Marshman; whistling solo, William Carr; reading, Mr. Brown; reading, "Othello," Mr. Burnett Marshman. The accompanist of the evening was Mr. Frank Ingham.

A sale of very useful articles was held. The matrons of the various tables were: Apron table, Mrs. Bamberg; candy table, Lanny Crowther; fancy table, Mrs. Williams; mystery table, Alice Neal; ice cream table, Mrs. Cochran. All matrons were aided by a corps of assistants.

At the regular meeting, held before the festival, 11 propositions for membership were received and other routine business transacted.

The Elks
A new lodge of Elks was instituted at Wakefield last evening. A large delegation of Lowell Elks attended the exercises, and several of the latter are on the staff of the assisting deputy.

Court City of Lowell
A well attended meeting of Court City of Lowell, F. of A. was held in Elks' hall last evening, after which a smoke talk was enjoyed. Chief Ranger John F. Connolly presided and the report of the treasurer, showed that the court is in a good financial condition. At the "smoker" refreshments were served and remarks were made by D. C. R. John Barrett, Past Chief Ranger, Stephen Wyman and Bros. Stephen Padigan, Edward Burns, Financial Secretary P. McGilly, Recording Secretary George B. McKenna, James F. McMahon and Let Healey. Eugene Sullivan was elected sub chief ranger for the rest of the term, and D. C. R. Barrett installed him into office. Past Chief Ranger John F. Barrett acting as herald. The court has opened its charter for the next three months and expects to take in many members in that time.

MARKING NOTE PAPER
One of the smartest fashions in monogram paper is the oblong cartouche with three small black letters or old English ones in the center. Another somewhat smart effect has the initial of the surname crossed at top and bottom with the other two initials in smaller letters. For use in a country home it is common to mark the name of the house and address in the upper right hand corner and higher up in the opposite corner have the telephone number, also the telegraph and express addresses if these are different from the post office address.

SUES FOR $40,000 FOR INJURIES RECEIVED

Workman Says That He Was Not Properly Protected While at Work

The Case of Comstock vs. Livingston Was Set- tled--Plaintiff Sued to Recover on $10,000 Promissory Note

Today's session of the superior civil court was taken up by the examination of the witnesses in the cases of Alexis C. Lamarre of this city vs. Patrick Conlon, the contractor, and the same plaintiff vs. The Guarantee Construction Co. The cases are being tried simultaneously. The jury was empaneled late yesterday afternoon, after which they were taken out to view the premises, the Massachusetts mills where the alleged accident, occurred. The ad damnum in each case is $20,000.

In the case in which Mr. Conlon is the defendant, Mr. Lamarre alleges that while he was at work on a boiler house in process of construction in the yard of the Massachusetts Cotton Co. and in the employ of Mr. Conlon as a bricklayer, on the 14th day of June, 1911, a heavy iron hammer with a sharp edge fell from above, striking him on the head, crushing and breaking his skull. He further alleges that it was the duty of his employer to provide a safe place to work and that he was not warned, and that where he was working was unsafe. He claims that he was sick and disabled for some time and that he suffered great pain and expense. He also claims that his injuries were serious and permanent. He sues to recover damages and recompense for his suffering, asking for $20,000.

The defendant's answer to the claims is a general denial. In the second case the plaintiff, Mr. Lamarre, alleges that through the negligence of an employee or employees of the Guarantee Construction company, which company was at work on the building at the time of the accident, an iron hammer, or rivet cutter was permitted by said employee or employees of the company to fall causing injuries to the plaintiff as depicted in the claim against Mr. Conlon. In this case the plaintiff seeks damages of $20,000. F. W. & S. E. Qua are appearing for the plaintiff in both cases. M. O. Garner and J. W. Britton are the attorneys for Mr. Conlon and the lawyers for the Guarantee Construction Co. are H. R. Bygraves and H. D. McEllan. Case Settled

SUGAR TRUST METHODS DESCRIBED BY WITNESS

The Brooklyn Sugar Refining Co. Was Allowed to Run Its Own Affairs

NEW YORK, May 17.—The methods pursued by the American Sugar Refining Co. to gain control of the sugar industry in America were described today by Julius Stursburg, up to 1887 treasurer of the Brooklyn Sugar Refining Co. Mr. Stursburg was the first witness of the day in the taking of testimony before a special examiner in the government's dissolution suit against the so-called sugar trust. Mr. Stursburg said that although the refineries company trustees held the stock of the Brooklyn company among many others in the east the Brooklyn company was permitted to run its own affairs with the exception of fixing its output. This was fixed by the trustees, he said.

"Did the 11 trustees also instruct other companies whose stock they held as to how much sugar they could produce?" asked District Attorney Wise. "Yes."

"Did they obey these instructions?" "More or less. Some of the out of town plants—those at Boston especially failed to do so."

Mr. Wise read a list of directors of the American Sugar Refining Co. in 1891 and the witness said that the following directors had served as trustees of the refineries company. Henry O. Havemeyer, Theodore Havemeyer, F. O. Matthieson, John E. Parsons, John E. Searles, Jr., Joseph B. Thomas, William Dick, Charles O. Foster, Charles Sent and himself.

Witness said that most of the profits of the Brooklyn refinery were turned over to the trustees and the rest used as working capital. As far as witness knew this course was pursued in all the other refineries controlled by the trustees. Mr. Stursburg said that the trustees had closed down seven refineries in various parts of the country because they were less favorably situated for operating and showed greater cost of producing sugar than other refineries controlled by the refineries company.

"You were willing to pay for the plants shut down, were you not, to eliminate other competition?" asked Mr. Wise.

"I suppose you could put it that way," the witness replied.

He added that when the trustees failed to curtail production sufficiently for their purposes the American Sugar Refining Co. was formed with $50,000,000 capital.

action of contract to recover on a promissory note of $10,000, payable to the order of the testatrix, Hannah E. Livingston, of whose estate Adeline R. Comstock is the executrix, which was opened at the civil session of the superior court before Judge and Jury Wednesday morning, and in which the Judge excused the jury yesterday, and heard the evidence, was settled late yesterday afternoon. The complaint set forth was that Mr. Livingston owed the amount of the note and the interest on it from Oct. 2, 1904. William H. Bent appeared for the plaintiff, and Trull & Wier for the defendant.

RECEIVED BY EMPEROR

VIENNA, May 17.—Emperor Francis Joseph today received in audience the Panama-Pacific exposition commission under the leadership of John Hays Hammond. The emperor greeted the members of the commission very cordially.

RECIPE FOR BOILING HAM

Uncle Sam Tells How to Do It

Here is Uncle Sam's recipe for boiling a ham. The following instructions were sent out by the United States department of agriculture.

Wash the ham thoroughly, then soak in cold water several hours, the time varying with the size of the ham. This soaking is to dissolve out the excess of salt. The ham is then put in a boiler full of boiling water. The temperature should then be lowered slightly and the boiler just kept simmering. Keep the water just barely boiling for four and a half hours for an eighteen pound ham—that is, a quarter of an hour for each pound of ham. If the hams are larger or smaller, vary the time to suit the weight. As the water boils out add fresh boiling water and always keep the boiler full. For very large hams it is advisable to cook in two waters. Why should the ham be put in boiling water? Portions of the lean meat, the albumin and some of the juices and flavors are soluble in warm water, while boiling water coagulates the albumin just as it does the white of an egg. So if you put in cold water and heat to the boiling point some albumin and much of the delicate flavors sought after in hams would be dissolved out of the water as it warmed up to the boiling point, but if put into the boiling water the albumin is coagulated at once on the surface and all the juices and the flavors are sealed in and kept there until eaten.

While cooking the ham is kept at the boiling point of water, which is sufficient heat to cook it thoroughly without separating the fibers or boiling it to pieces, as a rapid or hard boiling would do.

200 ON STRIKE

OPERATIVES SAY THEY DID NOT GET WAGE INCREASE

LYNN, May 17.—Two hundred employees of the Thomas Kelley Co., maroon manufacturers, struck today, claiming that promises of increases in wages have not been fulfilled by the company officials. Policemen were placed on duty near the shop because of labor disturbances there in the past.

LIEUT. CONNORS

FOUND A LOST CHILD IN MERRIMACK SQUARE

Lieut. Connors of the police department found a little girl at Merrimack square this afternoon, who although lost did not seem to worry at all. The child is about three years of age and was wandering about the street when found. She was taken to the police station, where her parents came to claim her. She cannot speak a word of English, and apparently is of Polish descent. She is neatly dressed and at the station was given a royal welcome by the matron who will take care of her until she is called for. The child wears a white bonnet and a white dress with a small apron of the same color.

THE POPULAR ELECTION

Of U. S. Senators Favored by Legislature

BOSTON, May 17.—The house of representatives by a unanimous voice vote today adopted the Bristol amendment to the federal constitution providing for the direct election of United States senators. The matter probably will come up in the senate early next week. The Massachusetts house is the first state legislative body to act on the Bristol amendment.

Prior to the vote Gov. Foss had sent a message to the house calling to the attention of the members the fact that congress had provided for submitting to the states an amendment to the United States constitution whereby United States senators shall be elected by the people.

Governor Foss urged that Massachusetts be the first state to ratify the amendment, adding that this state would elect a senator next year.

TO NOTIFY GOVERNORS

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The proposed amendment to the constitution providing for direct election of senators will be mailed to the governors of the states by Secretary Knox today with a letter addressed to each governor certifying that it has been duly adopted by a two-thirds vote of each branch of congress.

As all the legislatures are not now in session and some meet only by-cannually, it seems reasonable to suppose that at least two or three years must elapse before the amendment can be acted upon by a sufficient number of the assemblies to indicate whether it can command the necessary three-fourths vote to put it into operation.

LARGE AUDIENCE

WITNESSED PLAY AT ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE HALL.

The second presentation of "Le Forgeron de Strasbourg" at St. Joseph's college hall last night drew forth a large attendance despite the inclement weather. The parts were all well sustained and the presentation of the play was as successful if not more so than on the first night. Mr. Geo. LaBranche played the part of George Bergeron in a delightful manner and his acting brought forth considerable applause. He also scored highly with his comic songs rendered between the acts.

The play was directed by Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of the parish and a substantial sum was realized for the benefit of the French American orphanage. The young men who took part will be given a day at the beach some time in June as a compensation for their trouble.

GENERAL AMEGLIO

ROME, May 17.—Premier Giovanni Giolitti, amid the cheers of the members announced in the chamber today that General Ameglio had surrounded and defeated the garrison of the Turkish island of Rhodes which had surrendered themselves and had been accorded military honors.

NEW CANDIDATES

ADMITTED TO COURT ST. PAUL, C. O. F.

The regular meeting of Court St. Paul, C. O. F., was held last night in C. M. A. C. hall with Chief Ranger Raoul H. Monier in the chair. Three new candidates were initiated and a grand of routine business was transacted. Mr. Arthur Lavore, who was appointed a committee of one to make arrangements for the annual communion of the members of the court jointly with those of Court St. Antoine, reported all was in readiness and the service will take place at St. Jean Baptiste church on Sunday, June 2.

At the close of the meeting Dr. Adalard Payette, vice high chief ranger of the state court, addressed the members on the good and welfare of the order as did Chief Ranger Monier. A number of membership applications were acted upon favorably.

OPERATIVES SAY THEY DID NOT GET WAGE INCREASE

LYNN, May 17.—Two hundred employees of the Thomas Kelley Co., maroon manufacturers, struck today, claiming that promises of increases in wages have not been fulfilled by the company officials. Policemen were placed on duty near the shop because of labor disturbances there in the past.

LIEUT. CONNORS

FOUND A LOST CHILD IN MERRIMACK SQUARE

Lieut. Connors of the police department found a little girl at Merrimack square this afternoon, who although lost did not seem to worry at all. The child is about three years of age and was wandering about the street when found. She was taken to the police station, where her parents came to claim her. She cannot speak a word of English, and apparently is of Polish descent. She is neatly dressed and at the station was given a royal welcome by the matron who will take care of her until she is called for. The child wears a white bonnet and a white dress with a small apron of the same color.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., May 17.—

The battleship Texas will be launched Saturday, May 18, at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding company. Miss Claudia Lyon, daughter of Cecil Lyon, republican national committee man from Texas, will act as sponsor for the big craft. An idea of its size can be had by comparing it with the men walking on the ladder and working on the temporary scaffolding surrounding the hull. Merely as illustrating twenty years' development in battleship building it is interesting to compare the new Texas with the old Texas, which was launched in 1892 and which, after having been renamed San Marcos, was shot to pieces and sunk in gun practice last spring. The old boat cost $2,500,000, was 301 feet long and sixty-four feet wide; her displacement was 6,315 tons, her draft twenty-two feet, her coal bunker capacity 500 tons and her speed seventeen knots. The new Texas is 675 feet long, with twenty-eight foot beam and a draft of twenty-eight feet. She will take the place of the old Texas in the New York navy yard, building in the New York navy yard, and will not be launched until some time in July.

water at 12,000 tons, and when completed her displacement will be 25,000 tons. Her coal bunker capacity is 2,800 tons. She will be the first ship to carry fourteen inch guns, of which she has ten. Her building has been remarkably rapid, her keel having been laid on April 17, 1911, and on May 18 she takes the water 70 per cent complete. Her twin ship, the New York, building in the New York navy yard, is two months behind her in construction and will not be launched until some time in July.

BOXING, GOLF
CLANCY IN THE NINTHOpening Rounds Very Exciting—
Charlie Anastos Lost to
De Lucca in Semi-Final

In the main bout at the Lowell Social and Athletic club last night Young Jasper of Boston won in the ninth round from Young Clancy, also from the Hub. Kid Egan was scheduled to meet Jasper, but, according to Referee Gardner he quit cold. In the opening rounds Clancy gave a very clever exhibition, but as the bout went on Jasper wore him down. He floored him several times. Clancy displayed great gameness, however, and several times after staying down for the count of nine he came back strong and sent in some good ones, that shook the fast Jasper. Jasper played a waiting game in the early stages. In the first three rounds, the members were treated to some of the best boxing ever seen here, particularly in the second. In this session Clancy got the jump and sent in his left to the head. Both then showed one another with blows. Each landed five, before a clinch ended the lightning exchange. The third was good and exciting. After that, however, Jasper was the aggressor and as the bout went on he seemed to get stronger. Clancy went to the floor twice in the fourth and was resting when the bell rang. At the opening of the fifth Clancy came in strong and sent in several good ones before he took a right to the stomach from Jasper. This was a pretty even round and Clancy surprised the members by the manner in which he came back after the previous round. The sixth was all Jasper, and the seventh and eighth went his way. At the opening of the ninth Jasper sent in an uppercut to the jaw that sent Clancy to the floor and this time he remained there and Jasper was the winner.

The bout was well enjoyed. Jasper was much heavier than his opponent but Clancy gave a great exhibition of how to use his left hand. He worked the latter continuously and his work, though against a disadvantage of only one day's training was well appreciated by those present. The semi-final between Charlie Anastos of Lowell and Paddy De Lucca of Boston, was one of the best ever seen here. The bout was scheduled for eight rounds and went the distance, the Hub man getting the verdict. Both boys showed up well and their performance was greatly enjoyed. As the attendance was rather small, the preliminary was not put on. Billy Gardner acted as referee. He announced that there will be no show next week, but a meeting will be held on Thursday evening, May 30. At this meeting Joe Thomas will appear in the main bout and the semi-final will be given by De Lucca and Anastos who met last night.

RAIN AGAIN STOPS
N. E. LEAGUE GAMESAm. League Also Halted
by the Weather

Rain not only put the blink on the Lowell-Fall River game, but all the other games of the New England and American leagues. The National league teams are now in the western part of the country and they played. The weather this far this season has been the worst in years and the team owners have suffered a severe loss of money. It also makes it necessary in order to complete the schedule to play many double headers later in the year. The Lowell players are in fine shape and ready to play any amount of double headers, in order to keep on the top. The race at the present time is very interesting and all the teams are going well. The real rivalry is between Lowell and Lawrence and as the two teams meet in Lawrence tomorrow a great game is expected. The Lowell team will be accompanied by a large number of rooters. Manager Pieper of Lawrence will use his star twirler, Young Keating, while Manager Gray will send in Wolfgang as the latter is anxious to get a chance to play. When the two met in Lowell the Lawrence boys won, but it is no fault of Wolfe that Lowell lost. He pitched a great game but his teammates were slow on the bases. There will be special cars from Merrimack Square to the Lawrence grounds. Owing to the intense rivalry between the teams two umpires will be used.

WHIST PARTY

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR HELD AT ST.
LOUIS' PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

One of the most successful whist and entertainment was held last night in St. Louis' parochial school hall under the auspices of the members of St. Anne's society. Over 400 people were present and the success of the evening was very flattering for the organizers. A delightful entertainment program was rendered by several young girls, all pupils of the convent, and was enjoyed in a thorough manner by the large audience. Mr. Marcel Roussel presided over the assembly and shortly after eight o'clock the whist started. There were over 80 beautiful prizes and it took the price of admission worth while. At the conclusion of the card game the following program was given:

Welcome song, school children, the soloist being Leo Pittre; "Les Deux Sources pour Rire," Gilberte Lemerle and Delia Thibault; "Le chole d'una Robe de Bal," Delia Thibault; "La Petite Foudrerie," played by the following: Florence Provost, Grace Bertrand, Anita Decosse, Alice Godin, Albert Picard and Gilberte Lemerle; "Les Deux Sources" operetta, Alice Ouellette and Maria Bonard; violin solo, Raymond Bourgeois, accompanied on the piano by his sister, Bertha Bourgeois. The program, which had been carefully prepared by the sisters at the convent, was very pleasing throughout and the little performers were heartily applauded. The singing numbers were encored several times.

The committee in charge of the whist was composed of the following: Rev. R. A. Fortier, chaplain; Mrs. Alfred Gosselin, president; Mesdames Joseph Masson, Phélie Souard, Servile Renaud, Camille Lequin, Philippe Fortin, Oscar Lemire, Charles Lusselle, Godefroid Caron, Eugene Vincent, J. A. Gervais, Joseph Mercier, Thomas Savard, Pierre Bourgeois, H. P. Boudreau, George Dion, Narcisse Gauthier, Napoleon Desmarais, Elui Breault and Laurent Favre.

JOHNNY KILBANE TO MEET JIMMY WALSHIn Boston Next Tuesday Night

Johnny Kilbane, the new feather-weight champion, arrives in Boston today and will immediately resume training at a nearby camp for his 12 round bout with Jimmy Walsh at the Pilgrim A. A. next Tuesday night in Boston.

The east is going wild over the new champion. He made his New York debut last Tuesday night and defeated Frankie Burns, escaping without a mark. He made such a wonderful showing that the New York promoters are now trying to secure him to meet Knockout Brown and Ad Wolgast. One New York sporting writer whose opinion is accepted by boxing experts has this to say about the new champion: "Some people who have a notion that all boxers are ruffians should meet Johnny Kilbane and suffer a severe shock. He is a real champion, no 'liker' as Abe Attell would lead us to believe."

Jimmy Walsh has always been recognized and admired as one of the cleanest and fairest boxers ever connected with the profession. This guarantee that the championship contest next Tuesday night between Johnny Kilbane and Jimmy Walsh will be between two of the cleanest boys ever known to the boxing game.

Y. M. C. A. ENTRY BLANKS

The entry blanks for the annual track meet, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., to be held on the South common at 8:30 o'clock on Memorial day, are ready today. Judging from the large number of requests for the blanks to meet, Physical Instructor Wickes went to Boston today to select the cups for the meet.

How To Be Beautiful
(Parisienne In Woman's Realm)

"To have a clear, soft and velvety complexion, massage the face, neck and arms daily with a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch hazel. It prevents facial blemishes and makes the skin lovely, smooth and fair. A dry shampoo is better than washing the head, and there is no danger of catching cold. Mix four ounces of powdered orris root with an original package of therox, sprinkle a little on the head and brush it out well. It refreshes the scalp and makes the hair clean, light, wavy and lustrous."

"Hairs on the face mark a woman's beauty. They will vanish quickly if Lotiona paste is applied. Mix enough powdered detache and water to cover the hairs; apply and permit to remain two or three minutes; then rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs will be gone. For sores, skin eruptions, pimples, eczema and similar beauty destroyers, try Mother's Salve. It heals cuts, burns, scalds without leaving a scar, and is recommended for obstinate sores."

Browns Believe They Have a
Second Johnson in Baumgardner

The St. Louis Browns appear to have discovered something that may be to them what Walter Johnson is to Washington. He is a young pitcher named George Baumgardner. He first attracted attention in the spring series between the Browns and Cardinals, but his real fame came on his first time out in an American league game, when he was pitted against Ed Walsh of the White Sox and outpointed him. Then when he went out his second time and held the same White Sox for fifteen innings without a run, his name was on the lips of every fan. Baumgardner is undoubtedly good, and, like so many good men who have come into the majors, he is as "green" as they make them. A story is told concerning his first game—that in which he beat Ed. Walsh. An admirer remarked that it was a noteworthy feat. Baumgardner wasn't impressed that way. "Who is this fellow Walsh?" he asked. "He was told that Big Ed is considered by many the greatest pitcher in the game. If he's so good why don't some of the National league clubs draft him?" Inquired Baumgardner innocently. He has since been told that the American league, in which he promises to win fame, is a major organization just like the National.

NEW FACTS ABOUT ECZEMA

For years eczema was thought to be incurable, and it is so considered today by many people. But since the commissioning of Cadum, eczema is now a curable disease. Cadum has proved a blessing to many who have suffered for years from distressing, stubborn and disfiguring skin diseases. It is soothing and healing to an inflamed, irritated or diseased skin. It stops the itching at once, and begins healing with the first application. It is anti-septic, and when applied to an open sore or wound prevents infection from disease germs. Cadum quickly acts upon eczema, pimples, sores, blotches, ulcers, eruptions, rashes, rough skin, chafings, itching piles, etc. At all druggists, 10c and 25c.

Ralph Capron is Not Sure
He Wants Big League Berth

Can you imagine a young man who has been given a chance to play with a big league baseball team and after signing to play for a fat salary, pondering whether he did the right thing or not? Well, there is just such a player on the Pittsburgh National league club, and this pill toaser is Ralph Capron, star quarterback on the University of Minnesota football team, last fall, crack baseball player and track athlete, who is now trying for a regular berth on the Pirates.

"I wonder if I did the right thing," and "I wonder if I should have stayed at school and finished my course in law," are the remarks often heard from this swartzy speed merchant. He appears to be always asking himself these questions, and to date has not come right out and said he believes he took the right course.

It must not be taken from this that Capron is dissatisfied with his lot. But put yourself in this lad's position and see if you wouldn't ask yourself the same questions. Here is a young athlete who can run the century close to the ten second mark, one of the few athletes who have been given places on Walter Camp's All American football team—that is one of the few westerners—a lad who had every opportunity to make the team that will battle for the athletic honor of the United States this summer in Stockholm, Sweden, in the big Olympic meet. Imagine that you were just in his position, and it is dollars to pennies that you would hesitate some time before adopting the course he took.

Capron has found that playing professional ball, especially on a National league team, is far different from holding down a job on the varsity. He finds himself thrown in with players who earn their daily bread by the sweat of their brow on the baseball diamond. He is not now hobnobbing with youths who monthly receive stipends from fond fathers at home who wonder why Charles, or Frank's "club dues," or "frat assessments" keep on increasing each month. Then there is the "real rah" element missing. There are no crowds of patronizing students and hero worshippers eagerly awaiting the chance to shake him by the hand after a hit or an exceptionally good bit of fielding.

Instead, he sees grim faces, on all sides. He sits on the bench shoulder to shoulder with men who know that next winter's ladder will be fat or small, according to what they are able to show Manager Clarke. After making a long hit or fine catch, there is no one on the bench to rush out and grasp his hand. A remark such as "pretty good," "you got it that time," is considered highly flattering, and to the recruits, who have been through the mill before, is enough to set their heads a whirling. But with all this, Capron is making good.

"No matter whether I did right or wrong in becoming a professional baseball player, I have made my bed and I will be the one that will have to lie in it," is the way Capron put it. "I am trying hard to make good, and am showing the Pittsburgh club management all that is in me. I have found a vast difference between the college brand of baseball and that played in the big leagues, but I am taking a different course than pursued by many who try to make good in fast company—I am storing away all the advice handed me."

The trouble with most college athletes who have a chance to make good in fast company is that they come to a league team with a great reputation made in college and think they know it all. They look down upon their teammates who might be their inferiors in mathematics or physics, but who invariably know more baseball than the college youth will ever be able to learn. I have seen a number of these youths fall from their high pedestals, and I am going to follow a different course. If I fall it will be because I am not of big league caliber and not because I thought I knew it all."

Coming from a youth who is not given to much talking, this sounds like the real thing, and if Capron but sticks to it he should soon be a member of the bright stars of the game. He never talks for effect, being rather quiet. For some time his teammates did not know how to draw him out, but at last the secret was discovered and was found to be his old love—football. When the gridiron game comes up for comment one might expect to find him all attention, and it was but a few moments until he was busily engrossed in telling about a brilliant play he had witnessed while at Minnesota.

One of the most pleasing things about this youth is that he never totters on his own horns. To any person who did not know his past record on the football field, little would be thought of this lad took an active part in every one of the gridiron battles he likes to talk about. But football will not win him a regular place with the Pirates and well does he know this.

CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILDREN
NEED GENTLE, THOROUGH CASCARETS

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, restless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle, thorough, physic—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and unfashioned.

Any child who gladly takes Cascarets which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanses the little one's system, sweetens the stomach and puts the liver and bowel in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

THE RESCUED CREW

Landed at Boston

BOSTON, May 17.—Twelve members of the crew of the fishing schooner Walter P. Goulart, wrecked Monday night on the coast of Nova Scotia, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Prince George from Yarmouth.

The schooner, with a crew of 14 men, drove on Half Moon ledge at the entrance of Cape Negro Harbor, Shelburne, N. S., in a heavy westerly gale while trying to make shelter.

A high sea was running and the crew took to the boats at once without time even to secure their clothes. Capt. Bellet and the 12 men who came here on the Prince George, reached shore at Cape Negro.

Up to the time the men left the scene of the wreck the other two members of the crew had not been heard from, and they are believed to have been lost. Capt. Bellet remained at Cape Negro to ascertain if it will be possible to salvage any of the gear of the schooner which was hard and fast on the ledges and badly broken up. The men were sent to Yarmouth and returned here as passengers.

The Walter P. Goulart hailed from Gloucester and was owned by Manuel Simmonds. She was built at Essex in 1904. Her dimensions are: 32 feet long, 11 feet beam and 10.2 feet draught, with a register of 34 tons gross and 31 tons net.

GOVERNOR FOSS

APPOINTED A DEAD DOCTOR TO A POSITION

BOSTON, May 17.—Through a clerical error Governor Foss, in his list of appointments sent to the council on Wednesday, named Dr. Homer Bushnell, formerly of North Adams, who has been dead for three years, as associate medical examiner of Berkshire county.

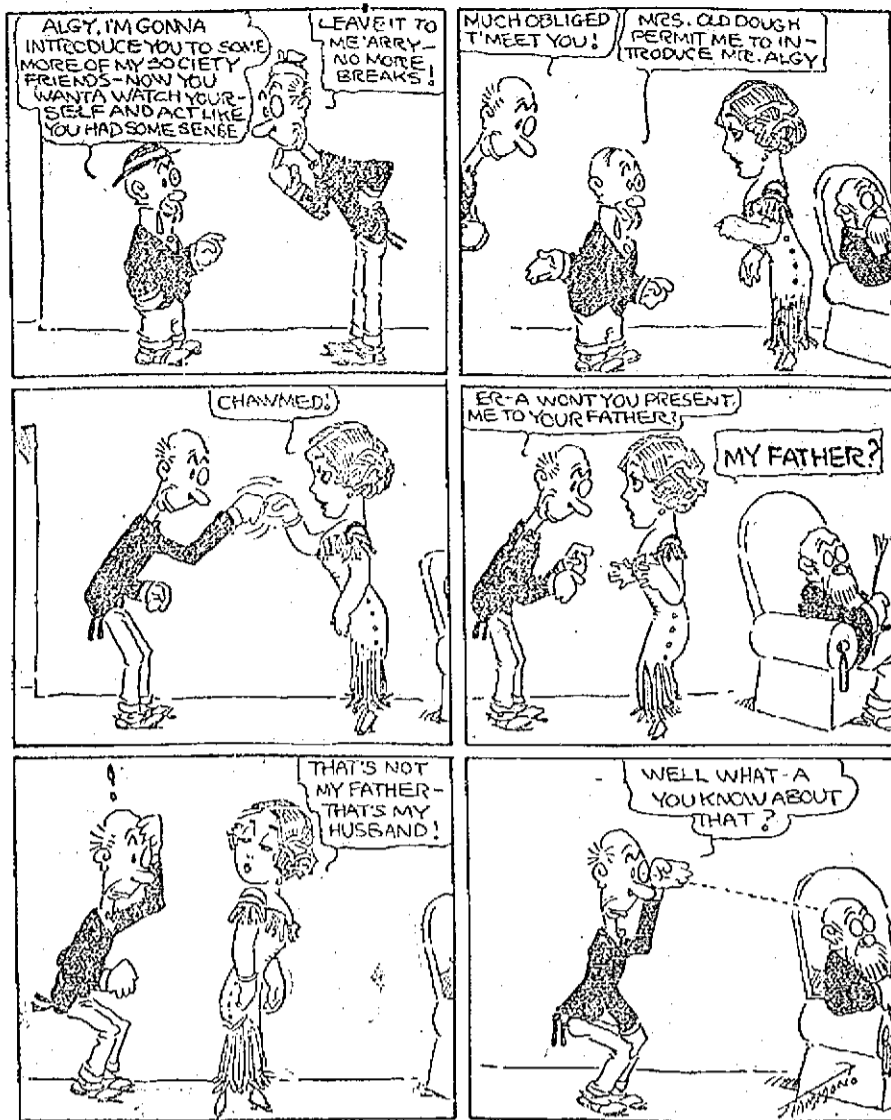

The appointment was made, despite the fact that Dr. Harry E. Holmes of Adams is now serving a seven-year term, which does not expire until 1918.

The action of Governor Foss brought forth much comment in the western part of the state. Dr. Holmes has not resigned and has not been removed from office, so it was impossible, under the law, to put another man in his place. For many years previous to his death Dr. Bushnell was the associate medical examiner in the district. Soon after his death Dr. Holmes was appointed to fill the vacancy.

COLLEGE ATHLETES

READY FOR THE BIG MEET AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, May 17.—The agile, fleet and strong undergraduates from 15 New England colleges gathered here today for a two days' struggle for athletic supremacy in the 26th meeting of the association. The contestants streamed into the city from four points of the compass. Williams, which holds the championship by reason of its well balanced team winning the meet on Pratt field last year, came from the west. Down the river appeared the University of Vermont, Dartmouth and Amherst, from the east came four Maine colleges—U. of Maine, Bates, Colby and Bowdoin, together with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Tufts from the Boston district. Brown from Providence and Holy Cross and the Worcester Polytechnic institute. Up from the south arrived Trinity and Wesleyan.

Today was one of elimination in five track and five field events, leaving the 100 yard dash and the two long runs for tomorrow, together with other final events.

Most of the athletes gathered in the hotels this forenoon to spend the time quietly under the watchful eyes of trainers and managers. Little betting has been done but a few bets were made on even money favoring Dartmouth against the field.

At the close of the entertainment, refreshments and cigars were passed, and the assembly was addressed by the grand chaplain, Dr. Hugh Walker.

MURDER CHARGED

TO EVANGELIST

Killing of Saloon Keeper
is Alleged

NEW YORK, May 17.—Accused of being engaged in a career of burglary which eventually led to murder at the same time that he was conducting a series of open-air evangelistic meetings, Francis Westley Muehlfeldt was indicted by the grand jury yesterday charged with murder in the first degree.

"King of the New York Automobile Bandits," was the characterization of the prisoner by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, in alleging the remarkable case of dual personality. Muehlfeldt with William Linsley, who was jointly indicted with him, is charged with the murder of Patrick Burns, a saloon keeper in the borough of the Bronx.

Burns was slain the night of Feb. 11, last, by masked highwaymen, who escaped in a taxicab. Headquarters detectives a week ago arrested Muehlfolded in Vineland, N. J., where he had obtained employment as an attendant in the New Jersey Home for Feeble Minded Boys and Girls. In this room the police found many books on criminology.

Muehlfeldt, who is 23 years old, recently married a young woman whose family, according to Commissioner Dougherty, is prominent in the Bronx.

For months before the Burns murder, Commissioner said, Muehlfeldt was engaged in conducting open air revival services in Harlem and the Bronx. He was convicted of robbery in the court of general sessions several weeks ago, and is now in the Tombs prison awaiting sentence.

BEQUEST OF $37,347.69
TO LOWELL GEN. HOSPITAL

From the Estate of the Late
be Held as Trust Fund

John J. Harvey, executor of the will of Charles E. Adams, has made a final payment to John F. Sawyer, treasurer of the Lowell General Hospital, of the bequest to the hospital, under Mr. Adams' will, the total amount reaching the sum of $37,347.69. This sum will be invested in a separate fund to be known as the "Charles E. Adams Fund," and the income of the fund only will be expended. The principal will be kept separate and intact. The total of all the trust funds has now reached $346,647.88.

Mr. Sawyer stated that the executive committee continues to follow the rule established at the time the present board of trustees was elected in 1904, to live within its income, and to invest all legacies and gifts in trust funds named after the giver or as the giver may designate.

The hospital needs a new building to provide for the children's and maternity wards, but the present income is not sufficient to pay for such a building, and this can only be provided for by gifts from friends of the hospital either by will or otherwise.

MURDEROUS ATTACK MADE
ON MAN AT BINGHAM, ME.

Sharp Instrument

BINGHAM, Me., May 17.—Alfred Curtis, 22, of Bingham, probably was fatally wounded today when he was struck over the head with a club or some sharp instrument shortly after he finished his night's work in a pulp mill at Solon. Frank Hawes of Solon, a fellow workman who had some trouble with Curtis during the night, was held under surveillance while an investigation was being made. Curtis was placed in the care of a doctor and it was feared he could not live. A hole had been torn in his skull. The two men had a quarrel while on duty it was claimed and it was thought they settled it outside of the mill, although the other workmen were not aware of the assault until after Curtis was found in an unconscious condition. All left the mill together and the fact that the two men remained behind was not noticed until afterward.

ON MEMBERS OF BOARD TO SETTLE RAILROAD TROUBLE

NEW YORK, May 17.—Daniel Wilford, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and P. H. Morrissey, president of the Railway Employees and Investors society, two members of the arbitration board to settle the demands of the locomotive engineers in the eastern territory, have been unable to agree on the other five members of the arbitration board and unless they do so by next Tuesday, Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, Judge Knapp of the commerce court and United States Labor Commissioner Neill will select the remaining five members of the board in accordance with the agreement made between the engineers and the railroad managers.

"WIRE TAPPER"

THREE YEARS

BOSTON, May 17.—For theft of $6000 from a farmer by a pretended wire-tapping scheme Harry Smith, a well known sporting man, was sentenced to three years by Judge Chase yesterday.

When a plea of clemency was made on behalf of Smith because of the alleged destitute condition of his family, Judge Chase said:

"There is another side of the story, and if I could sentence him to a longer term I would; but the statute does not allow me to."

Joseph Gagnon, indicted with Smith for the same offence, had his case filed because he had turned state's evidence.

The two men and another man on May 8, 1911, and the three days following swindled Rockwood D. Snow of Pelham, N. H., in a house on Warren avenue, in the South End.

James S. Murphy was counsel for Gagnon.

BOY HAS CONFESSED TO SETTING FIRES

He Says that He Sought
Revenge

STAMFORD, Conn., May 17.—Stamford has had a number of incendiary fires during the past year. At least two were accounted for yesterday afternoon when Harry Greenberg, a 14-year-old boy, who had been committed to the reform school on complaint of his father for incorrigibility, voluntarily confessed that he had set fire to the Speike block at Pacific and Brook streets on two occasions, once at midnight on Nov. 28, 1910, and again on May 4, 1911, at 2.23 a. m. Twenty-four families live in the house.

Both fires caused panic among the tenants and damaged the building considerably. Greenberg was employed for a short time last summer by David M. Barrish, a druggist, whose store is in the block. The boy was discharged for alleged dishonesty. He set the fires, he says, out of revenge.

Greenberg made a detailed statement to the police and when his father, Isaac, confronted him later, in the presence of the police, and asked him "to tell the truth," the boy persisted that he had set the fires. "The boy never set the fires, any more than I did," said his father. "He's an habitual liar." Detective Sergt. Hoffmann, who worked up the case, said, however, that the Greenberg confession bore out evidence that he had gathered. He believes the boy did everything he has confessed doing.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The May festival in the town hall last evening, under the auspices of the Men's Social and Literary society, the Young Women's guild and the Church aid society was a grand success and there was a very large and enthusiastic attendance. "The May Queen," a cantata in two scenes was the attraction and it proved one of the best productions ever seen in the hall. The children were all well adapted to their respective parts and everything in connection with the presentation was given in an exceptionally clever manner.

The following were included in the cast of characters:

Floral Maidens—Princess Good-will, Edna Dixon; Charity, the May Queen, Ethel Bertha, the Moss Rose, Ethel Dixon; Lucy, the Daisy, Rena Luke; Agnes, the Forget-me-not, Alice Ripley; Dora, the Golden Rod, Ella Kibberd; Amy, the Heliotrope, Helen Maiden; Tessie, the Pansy, Alice Alwood; Fannie, the Lily, Marion Daniels; Marion, the Althea, Marion Vasselin; Gertrude, the Pink, Gertrude Merrill; Hattie, the Violet, Dorothy Blinn.

Pages—Clayton Piggott, George De La Haye, Harold Kibberd, Forrest White.

May Pole—Seymour Davis, David Brown, Emma Davis, Harold Hadley, May Rue, Harry Hopper, Belle Hue, Kenneth Mitchell, Gertrude Davis, Chorus—Hazel Peterson, Mildred Buchanan, Vera Jordan, Lillian Russell, Violet Host, Sarah Hill, Jennie Durant, Bessie De Carteret, Florence De Carteret, Mildred Whitworth, Hazel McCombs, Vera White, Agnes Brown, Chester Senior, Florence Crockett, Walter Cawthra, Abbie Reno. Praise must be accorded to Mrs. Charles F. Scribner and Mrs. D. Frank Small, who were responsible for the successful training of the children, this being accomplished within a very short time.

WHERE INSECTS DWELL

USE CARBONOL

THE presence of ants and roaches is a sign of imperfect cleanliness.

Old houses or badly built ones are very hard to keep clean and accordingly a powerful disinfectant should be used so that if insects do come, they will find the place uncongenial.

Carbonol is better than insecticides and is not poisonous. Simply add a dash of it to the water used in cleaning and proceed in the usual manner. The vapor of Carbonol is obnoxious to insects and they will not stay near it.

LONDON, May 17.—The Welsh disestablishment bill passed its second reading in the house of commons last night by a vote of 348 to 267.

During the debate, the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George, effectively used the charge that the noble families, whose representatives were the most strenuous opponents of the bill on the ground that it pillaged the established church, obtained their vast wealth by spoliation of the church at the time of the reformation.

A stormy scene followed his reference to a political leaflet, in which, he said, the Duke of Devonshire charged them with "Robbery of God."

"Doesn't he know," queried the chancellor, "that the very foundations of his fortunes were laid deep in sacrilege and built on deserted shrines and pillaged altars?"

Among the voices raised in angry protest, Lord Hugh Cecil's was the most conspicuous, to which Lloyd George retorted:

"These charges that we are robbing the church ought not to be brought by those whose family tree is laden with the fruits of sacrilege at the reformation. Their ancestors robbed the Catholic church, the monasteries, the altars, the almshouses. They robbed the poor. They robbed the dead. Then when we try to recover some part of this pillaged property for the poor, their descendants accuse us of theft—their whose hands are dripping with the fat of sacrilege."

HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, May 17.—The timely discovery and the prompt action of the firemen prevented a heavy loss by fire, smoke and water at the factory of the Supple Shoe company on Fleet street last evening, the damage being less than $1000.

The blaze, of unknown origin, started in the making room on the fourth floor of the old hat factory building owned by the Duncan estate in the rear of city hall, and was discovered by Patrol Wagon Driver Justin E. Bridgman, who saw the reflection of the flames.

When the firemen responded the flames had spread through the room to a large quantity of racks and lasts, and the two upper floors of the four-story block occupied by the firm were filled with smoke. The main power belts in the factory, which extend from the first to the fourth floors, were burned.

which would enable each nation to reach its highest development and all nations to work together in the common interests of humanity.

"War," he declared, not only sets nations against nations but it prevents the nations from uniting against the common enemies of mankind. Nations are not natural enemies. The greatest interests of mankind are not conflicting but common interests. Men, women and children all over the world need the same things, food, clothing, shelter, health, intellectual development, development of the affections. War has been justified on the ground that it takes heroism, self-sacrifice, comradeship. One might as well define the wanton sinking of a ship upon the ground that it would show how calmly men can die.

"We must not be content with denouncing war. We must build up something better. We must seek to divert the energy and heroism of war into other channels so that the abolition of war will not be the decline of heroism but the conversion of heroism from destructive to constructive uses."

Arbitration Treaties

William Cullen Dennis of the District of Columbia Bar, formerly agent of the United States in the Orinoco Steamship and Chemical arbitrations and formerly assistant solicitor of the state department, addressed the conference on "International Arbitration" yesterday on the recent arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, and said in part:

"It is admitted on all hands that the great purpose of the recent general arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France was not so much to preclude the possibility of war with these two nations—which is already unthinkable—as to provide a treaty which might serve as a model for treaties between the United States and other countries with which our relations are not so close and intimate and as an inspiration for similar treaties between the other great nations of the world.

"The great service rendered by the treaties, as originally drawn, is that, in providing for arbitration of all justiciable questions between the parties, for the first time it is believed in the history of the world, great nations took cognizance in terms of the essential difference between things which can be determined by the methods common to all courts, whether municipal or international, and those which can not, and laid down the general principle that all questions which are susceptible of judicial treatment shall be decided by an international court.

"The senate has advised and consented to the ratification with three amendments. One is merely verbal. One, while material, goes, after all, merely to the question of the machinery ery through which the principle enunciated by the treaty shall be carried into effect. But the third or so-called Bacon amendment, strikes at the very fundamental principle of the treaties. It nullifies their basic proposition, namely, that it is the nature and not the importance of a question which determines whether or not it is arbitrable, by excepting from the scope of the treaties a list of specifically enumerated questions, some of which are and some of which are not justiciable.

"Moreover some of these exceptions are calculated to call attention to incidents which it would be far better to forget and to give offense to foreign nations.

"The negotiation of the recent treaties and the discussion which they have provoked has educated the country and has inspired the friends of arbitration everywhere. But the ratification of the treaties in their amended form would hinder rather than help the cause of arbitration."

Justice Riddell

Hon. Justice Wm. Renwick Riddell, of the High Court of Justice for Ontario, addressed the Lake Mohonk conference on "International Arbitration." He reviewed the treaties of arbitration affecting the United States and Canada since 1794, and pointed out that of nineteen treaties, thirteen had been markedly successful. He commented particularly on the Alaska Boundary Settlement of 1903, the North Atlantic Fisheries arbitration, and the Treaty of 1909 creating the International Joint Commission. In part he said:

"The geographical relation between the United States and Canada (and I use the word 'Canada' in the geographical and not the historical sense) permits, and indeed compels, these two countries to be an example to the rest of the world. They have the largest international boundary in the world; they also have vast realms which have not changed allegiance for a long period of time and which have had no discussion in form of government.

"The Alaska Boundary of 1903 was an imperative necessity—it is impossible, however, not to recognize that Canadians generally were not satisfied with the personnel of the board even before they began their labors. It was believed that some of those appointed by the president were not impartial jurists of repute—that they declared in advance a determination not to give up any of the American claim. The award was received with anger, openly expressed, and while no attempt was made to do anything else than loyally to abide by it, few Canadians can be got to believe that the decision was just, or that it was acceded to by the English representative upon any but diplomatic reasons. The two Canadian representatives refused to join in the award.

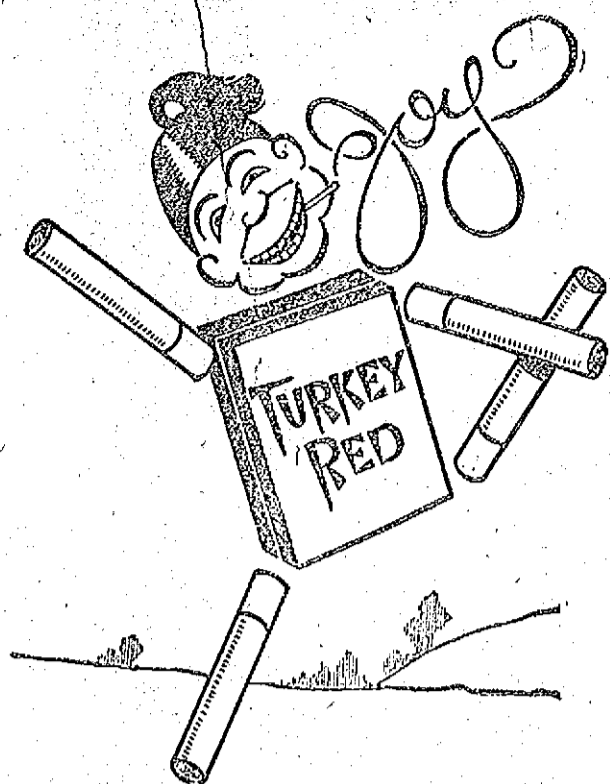

"A special agreement was made in 1909 as to the right to fish, etc., of American fishermen off the North Atlantic coast—and the matter came before a board sitting at The Hague in 1910 and composed of five persons, the chief justice of the supreme court of Canada, a distinguished American judge, an Austrian, a Dutchman, and an Argentine. The award was considered a masterpiece of judicial decision. Indeed, both parties claimed the victory—with reason, for it was a victory for international arbitration and common sense and humanity. The worst result by arbitration is infinitely better than the best of war.

"Then there is a treaty made in 1909 specially for the United States and Canada, providing for an international commission of six, three appointed by the United States and three by Canada, to pass (with the consent of the two countries) upon all disputes involving the rights, obligations, or interests of the United States or Canada either in relation to each other or to their respective inhabitants. This, I have on another occasion called a miniature Hague tribunal of our own just for us English-speaking nations of the North American continent.

"I do not propose to speak of abortive treaties which failed of confirmation by the senate—the defeat of these may not be the proudest boast of the senate in the future—I cannot judge that is for history."

STRUCK BY AUTO

MARTIN CASHMAN WAS INJURED
AND REMOVED TO HOSPITAL

Martin Cashman was struck and thrown down by an automobile owned and driven by Bart Scannell last night. The accident occurred in Middlesex street near the corner of Garnet when Cashman stepped into the path of the approaching auto. The chauffeur made every effort to stop the machine but without any success, for Cashman was struck and in his fall received a scalp wound. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was removed to St. John's hospital, where it was said the injury was not serious.

BABY'S FINGER NAILS

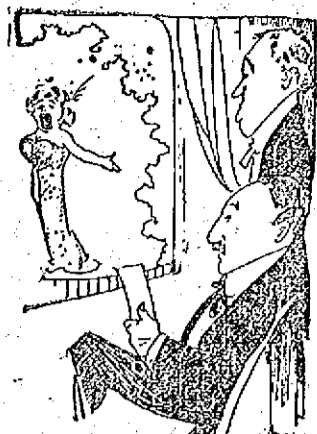

If you want your baby to have pretty finger nails when it grows up, don't cut them at all until after the first anniversary of its birth. You may, however, manure them daily by delicately pushing back the cuticle with a soft cloth dampened with sweet oil, but never clip about the base of the nail, as this makes the cuticle tough and thick of texture. Never neglect to rub a little cold cream on the baby's nails the last thing at night, for that will keep them so flexible that no matter how long they may grow before the end of the first twelvemonth they will not break off unevenly.

PRESIDENT TAFT

SAYS THAT BOSSISM IS NOT THE ISSUE

LOREIN, O., May 17.—President Taft delivered his first speech of today at Lorain to a crowd that had been lessened in size by a downpour of rain.

"Roosevelt says that the real issue of the campaign is bossism, but he is mistaken," declared Mr. Taft. "During the seven years he was in office did you hear of Theodore dyeing his hands with the blood of the bosses? Did you hear of the colonel going out with his elephant gun and shooting any bosses? No; you did not. Bossism is a false issue and a sham."

The president defended the Palmer-Aldrich tariff bill and upheld his administration and denounced the recall and the third term.

NOSEGAY NECKWEAR

The floral bow is one of the latest novelties in neckwear. It consists of a small satin or velvet norgay, with streamers of long, soft green stems, finished off at the end with tiny buds. Bunches of green, velvet foliage are sometimes used as substitutes for the ribbon bow, which has not been altogether discarded.

As regards the actual collar, an interesting revival is the colored detachable neckband which was so popular two or three years ago, but the present fashion requires a fringe of the same colored silk sewed to the lower edge of the collar.

These neckbands sometimes fasten in front with a pair of fancy links instead of being invisibly closed at the side or at the back. It is some time now since frilling has been used, but it is being re-enforced as the finest possible lace edging to these neckbands.

Probably some time will elapse before it assumes—if it ever does—the extravagant proportions which are still remembered, but as it is now being used it is certainly becoming, as most complexions are improved if something white is worn at the neck.

SUMMER BEDSTEADS

The sleeping apartment during the summer should be made to appear dainty and cool.

This is an easy matter, and little expense is attached to it. After all the draperies used during the winter are stored away and the unnecessary articles of furniture dispensed with, clothe your room in its summer garb.

Purchase plain, barred or figured dimity, any color your taste may dictate. From this fashion a cover for your bed, bureau dressing table and the window draperies.

Measure the length of the bed and allow three or four widths of material, according to the size of the bed. This may be finished by a ruffled flounce, a plaiting or a deep hem. Fourteen inches from the hem or bordering the ruffle stitch bands of figured dimity.

Cut these bands from a wide striped design, which may be had in great variety.

These spreads are easily laundered and may be kept fresh and clean through the hot, dusty summer.

WOMAN FLEEDED FARMERS BY ADVERTISING SCHEME

Some of the Letters That Were Sent to Her Were Received in This City

The complaints of farmers from all parts of New England that a woman has mulcted them out of thousands of dollars has resulted in considerable activity on the part of the postal authorities. So changeable has been the woman's place of abode and her name that the inspectors have as yet been unable to secure more than a description of her.

The woman works through an advertisement inserted in Boston papers, seeking a situation as housekeeper for a widower or bachelor. The ad sets forth that she is 30 years old, has had abundant experience as a housekeeper and that she will be pleased to work at a moderate salary, not being particular as to the locality.

According to the statement of the postal officials this description has proven satisfactory to New England widowers and bachelors who require the services of a housekeeper. They have written to her, addressing the letters to general delivery in Manchester, N. H.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Lowell, Lawrence, Hartford and Bridgeport.

Conn., Providence, R. I., and many other cities.

Upon the receipt of the letters the woman chooses those most promising for her purpose and drops a note to the effect that she is in debt for a small amount of room rent or something of the sort, and if the writer will send her the amount with sufficient to pay her car fare she will come immediately.

Her scheme has worked in at least 70 cases, according to the records of the postal department. Amounts ranging between $20 and $18 have been sent to her. In some cases the amount was not forthcoming until after a picture of a very attractive young woman of 23 or thereabouts had been sent to the prospective victim. The picture has worked in almost every case. It is a common Kodak picture about three by four inches in diameter and shows the young woman in an outdoor scene.

PEACE DAY EXERCISES HELD IN SCHOOLS TODAY

Bureau of Education

Tomorrow, May 18, will be Peace day, and exercises in connection with the day were held in most of the grammar schools today. A great deal of literature having to do with the observance of Peace day had been sent to the masters of the different schools; copies of Peace day suggestions issued by the United States bureau of education that were very helpful and were so complete as to include the form of program. The form of program was not copied in detail, of course, but it contained valuable suggestions.

In the observance of Peace day at the Vassar school the following program, which is very similar to programs in other schools, was presented:

Singing—"The Breaking Waves Dashed High"..... Hemans
Reading—"The Arsenal at Springfield"..... Longfellow
Singing—"O God, Our Help in Ages Past"..... Craft
Reading—"Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New"..... Tennyson
Reading—"Recessional"..... Kipling
Singing—"Angel of Peace"..... Holmes
Address—"Peace Among the Nations"..... Rev. Clarence R. Skinner
Singing—"America"..... School.

Significance of Peace Day
It was in 1906 that Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, commissioner of education, recommended that the 18th day of May, the anniversary of the assembling of the first Peace conference at The Hague, should be observed as Peace day in the schools.
On May 18, 1892, an event took place which will always be remembered as a landmark in the history of mankind. Unlike most of the world's happenings, this occurrence affects equally every civilized nation on the globe, and it is necessary, therefore, that everybody should understand its meaning. The anniversary of the establishment of The Hague tribunal has been observed in many countries, and like Christmas, the 18th of May is destined to become a great international day, which will promote good will among all men.

Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, writing on the significance of May 18, says: "In August, 1892, people all over the world were surprised by a letter which the czar addressed to the nations that were represented at the Russian court. This letter was an invitation to send delegates to a meeting which should consider what could be done to keep nations from going to war with each other. The czar stated in his letter that, for the best welfare of the world, the nations ought to restrict themselves in the spending of such enormous sums of money for armies and navies."

The Czar's Plans for Peace
The czar had been considering this matter for some time. He, however, was not the only ruler who had thought seriously about this condition of affairs, and his invitation to attend a peace conference met with unanimous response. Every government invited accepted, and this included all the nations of Europe, 23 in number, 4 from Asia, and 2 in America, the United States and Mexico.
On account of the unique nature of the conference, the czar thought it best not to hold it in the capital of any one of the great powers, where so many political interests are centered. He felt that this might hinder the work in which all the countries of the world were equally interested. Holland was selected as the country most admirably adapted for such a meeting. It was announced to the governments that the queen of the Netherlands would offer hospitality to the conference, and accordingly the Netherlands minister of foreign affairs sent out a formal invitation to the governments to meet at the Hague.

The Young Queen's Invitation
The young queen, who was then only 18 years old, to show her appreciation of the honor conferred upon her country, and of the deep meaning of the conference, placed at its disposal the most beautiful and historical building in the land. The conference was, therefore, held in this widely famed house in the woods, formerly the summer residence of the royal family, situated in a very beautiful park about a mile from the city.

This was a most remarkable gathering, for each nation had sent its greatest statesmen. Then, too, it was the first time in the world's history that a peace conference had been held by the nations.

Choosing an Umpire
The key to the whole subject, and that which became the most important part of the program, is how to end a dispute before war begins. Many differences between nations have been settled without war by calling in a third party, just as an umpire on the ball field is called upon to decide which side is in the right. Wouldn't it look

TAKEN FROM ROYAL YACHT, AT COPENHAGEN TODAY

COPENHAGEN, May 17.—The Danish royal yacht Dannebrog arrived at noon today at the forboden wharf in the inner harbor near Amalienberg palace bringing the body of the late king, Frederick VIII, from Travemunde. The coffin was borne ashore by twelve officers and placed in a hearse.

A procession was then formed, headed by a large force of cavalry. King Christian X of Denmark, King Haakon of Norway and many other royal personages followed the hearse on foot. Then came carriages containing Dowager Queen Louise, Queen Alexandrine and several of the princesses.

The streets from the landing place to the palace were thronged. On arrival at the chapel of Christiansburg castle, the coffin was placed on a catafalque. The members of the royal family then surrounded the coffin and knelt in silent prayer. Before leaving the chapel each of them kissed the Danish flag which had been spread over the bier.

You Must Kill the Germs to Remedy Sore Throat—

because it is a germ infection. We speak of "catching" sore throat—and we really do—inhalant millions of vagrant malignant germs when we breathe.

Deep in the throat cavities germs thrive lustily in their work of infection. The throat becomes dry and inflamed—swallowing a painful operation—you have sore throat or something worse—for you must remember that sore throat is often the forerunner of serious infectious diseases.

You may gargle until doomsday without getting at the seat of trouble—the liquid cannot penetrate into the folds of the throat where germs hide. At best, gargling casually washes the surface of the tonsils—it cannot remain long enough to be of real benefit.

Formamint

is a wonderful germ destroyer and preventive of germ infection. It succeeds where gargles fail—reaching the seat of infection. It is a pleasant-tasting tablet, sucked like candy, setting free a powerful, yet harmless, germicide that mixes with the saliva and is gently washed over the membranes of the mouth and throat—reaching every nook and cranny—killing the disease germs—and clearing the way for quick recovery. Formamint is soothing and grateful where there is irritation or soreness. It is the natural way—the safe way.

THE MODERN GIRL.

She never sings the sweet old songs that grandma used to sing. Like "Genevieve," or "Silver Threads," or "Welcome, Gentle Spring." For she's a girl that's up-to-date, and when she strikes the keys, she makes the welkin ring with ragtime melodies.

He Wouldn't Cheer.

HERE was a despondent, disheartened looking man about the middle of the street car, and after watching him sigh a few times the jovial man moved across to him and slapped him on the leg and said: "Cheer up, old man, and be in the swim!" "Can't do it," was the sorrowful reply. "Nothing to be down the banks about. We are going to have great crops this year." "They will be nothing to me." "Money is plenty." "Ah-um!" "Weather is good." "Ah-um!" "No war with Japan?" "I dunno." "Business getting better all the time." "Mebbe so." "Of course, it's so. Why, man, I'm surprised at you! The rest of us are whooping it up to beat the band, and here you are like a hump on a log. What's the matter, anyway?" "Ah-um!" was sighed. "Wife or children dead—house burned up—lost your money?" "Yesterday," answered the man with trembling lips, "I went to a five and ten-cent store." "Yes!" "And bought me a pair of spectacles." "Yes?" "And—this morning my wife sat down on 'em—and—and—" "I see, old man—I see. Sat down on 'em and bursted 'em, and you can't be cheerful to save your soul. All right—all right. Can't blame you a bit. It would be the same with me. Go right ahead and weep, and if any human hyena on this car gives you the hat ha! he'll have to settle with me!"

NATURAL AFFINITY.

Jack—I understand Percy is engaged to Miss Gush. I can't imagine what he can see in that girl to make him want to marry her. Fred—Well, Percy has a mania for yachting, you know, and she's such a breezy creature that he naturally took a fancy to her.

A SUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

WE were running a trolley line along a certain New England highway," said the electrical engineer, "and while we had the right of way some of the farmers were inclined to make trouble. We struck one old fellow, a widower, who swore he'd shoot the first man that put spade into the ground. I used many arguments without effect, and finally said: "Perhaps you know the widow Lamphero, living two miles below here?" "I do," says he. "Very nice woman." "She is." "She wouldn't object to marrying again, I hear." "I've heard the same." "I don't see why she and you shouldn't make a match," I continued.

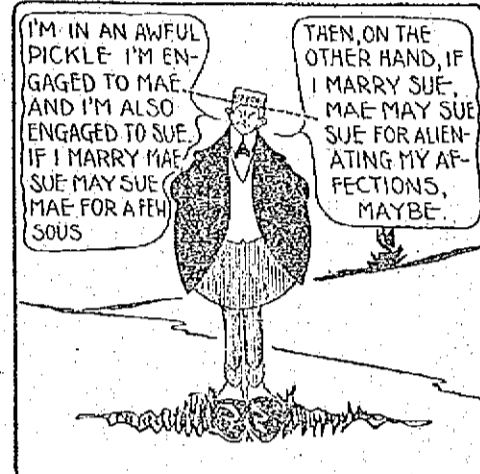

"Wall, I've sometimes thought it might come around," he replied with a smile. "I see only one drawback. There are two or three others after her, and some of them may get ahead of you." "Um! Um!" "Suppose you are working in the field some day, and all of a sudden you snake up your mind to ask the widow to be yours?" "Um! Um!" "It will take you an hour and a half to put on a clean shirt, grease your boots, and walk down there. What may not happen in that time? Suppose some other man is ten minutes ahead of you?" "Y-e-s." "Suppose you could take this electric line and be there ahead of all?"

The widow is yours, her farm is yours, and you are both happy for the rest of your lives."

"The widower looked at me for a long minute and then said: "You just go ahead with your durned old line, and from now every man working on it shall have a quart of cider with his dinner. I'm a-seeing things different from what I did, and you can't get the cars whooping along here and adding to the prosperity of North America any too soon to suit me!"

ODE TO THE CANDY KID.

"Sure—sure. Lord, but how he is hauling in the delegates!"

"Do you refer to Taft?"

THE RIVER ROAD BILL

Governor Foss would never be forgiven by the cities of Lowell and Lawrence if he should veto the bill to complete the state highway between these two cities. The whole United States would be set in turmoil if the road were blocked between Boston and New York, or between St. Paul and St. Louis. Lowell and Lawrence may be regarded as of slight importance in comparison to those great cities; but they can stir up the state of Massachusetts if they find that not only the county and highway commissions, but even the governor, has decided to ignore their interests and refuse them a square deal. If they had their due this small section of the state highway of the Merrimack valley would have been completed long ago. The county commission and the state highway commission have been haggling over this matter for nearly two years and the patience of Lowell residents has been tried to the breaking point. The road must be completed this summer or there will probably be some radical changes not only on Beacon hill but in the county ring and the state highway commission on the first opportunity.

Already the counties concerned have spent enough money to put the road in fit condition for the highway commission but the latter body has demanded the money before it does any more work on the road.

SWAT THE FLY

With the approach of warm weather the crusade against the house fly must be resumed. Of late years scientists and physicians generally have come to the conclusion that the house fly is a prolific distributor of disease. The fly has its origin in filth and on this it lives and thrives. It can pass so quickly from one source of disease to another, and from these enter the home and even revel in the dining room dishes, that the danger of its spreading disease germs becomes apparent.

The common fly is also accused of causing cholera infantum in children by running over the nursing bottles or over food prepared for the babies. In fine there are so many charges made against the house fly that it would be difficult to enumerate half of them and the probability is, that they are all practically true. Of late the fly has been charged with distributing typhoid germs which is a most serious matter. It is comparatively easy to exclude the fly from the home by the use of mosquito netting on the windows or else by metallic screens. Those who care for their health should provide this precaution and thus avoid the danger of many diseases that are communicated during hot weather by the house fly.

ELECTRIC FANS FOR SICK POOR

The National Electric Light association, whose specialty is to do welfare work for about 1200 electric light companies of the country, is to run electric fans for the sick poor wherever possible during the coming summer. This is something new and of course commendable. The company says the expense this summer may reach $100,000, but it will be well worth the outlay. Except in extreme cases this charity will extend only to the places that can be conveniently connected with the light cables. It would entail too much expense to lay a wire at a cost of $300 or $400 to fan a single room. The departure is a good one and it is hoped it will reach Lowell at some future day. The electric fan is a luxury that thousands who could well afford it never possess. Such luxury for the poor would seem to mark the coming of the millennium.

THE SUFFRAGET TRIAL

The trial of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragets in the recent outbreak in London, will attract much attention throughout the world. There seems to be very little in the line of defense as the government has evidence that Mrs. Pankhurst said "their purpose was to stagger humanity" and "we mean to do our bit; we may as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb; we may have to burn the place down."

The attorney general in opening the case for the government said that if such outbreaks and conspiracies by women were allowed to go unpunished the men would soon start similar campaigns and it would mean good bye to public order. The matter is certainly one that places the government in a very embarrassing position.

AFTER THE I. W. W.

The I. W. W. seem to have a peculiar predilection for San Diego, California, although the residents of that town are desperately opposed to them. A local committee of vigilantes has been formed for the special purpose of driving out the I. W. W. leaders. The other night rather severe and unwarranted measures were adopted when Miss Emma Goldman's manager was taken to the suburbs tarred and feathered. One report says the feathers were set on fire, but that is not credible as it would practically mean burning the man to death, something which was not intended. It seems that the I. W. W. in the San Diego regions are regarded as anarchists. The espousal of this cause by Miss Goldman strengthens this belief.

THE INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT BOARD

Governor Foss has appointed a remarkably good industrial accident board to have charge of the arbitration of disagreements respecting compensation under the workmen's compensation act. James B. Carroll, chairman, Edward F. McSweeney and D. T. Dickinson are each and all well fitted for the work of the board which calls for good judgment, strict integrity and judicial ability. The mode of arbitration is through a committee consisting of three members, one of whom shall be a member of the industrial accident board and the other two named respectively by the parties. This new board, we believe will give a good account of itself.

Roosevelt says he has Taft whipped and all the Munsey organs are shouting at the president to withdraw. Meanwhile the president announces that by tomorrow night he will have enough delegates to give him the nomination. Thus the contest will soon indicate a definite result.

Seen and Heard

The following is a "one-minute sermon" from "The Old Man" in the Manchester Union:
The art of letter-writing is deteriorating. It may be because the age is becoming too commercial. It may be that Americans hustle and hurry so, that they don't even eat right and certainly don't know how to write letters as they should be "written." Happily for the man or the woman who feels that he or she has a good correspondence and that the interchange of ideas and opinions is worth something. How many people there are who do not know, and perhaps never will know, the value of a letter. When a person writes a letter, and it is like the labor of sawing wood, the letter never should be written. Oftentimes, what a person thinks he has to do carries with it no inspiration and hence of the heart. The duty letter is all convention. The "bread and butter" letter is always expected, as a mark of breeding. But, except in rare instances, the good old-fashioned heart letter is gone. The busy woman now has to wash the dishes, or iron the clothes, and the letter is put off—and finally the time goes and goes and the letter that might find some response in another heart never gets started. If people would learn to write letters as they would be, how much more readable they would be! But nowadays, one says: "I must write a letter to So and So, or what will she think of me?" And the letter that has "must" for an answer is about as devoid of warmth as the edge of a Greenland glacier. Sometimes it does seem so funny that any person will buy a "Ready Letter Writer," as they used to do in the old days. What an array of grandiose phrases! Nothing therein of the individuality of the writer. "Oh, the mark of sympathy does brains. If one only knew it there is so much pleasure in the cultivation of letter-writing, even if it is just to please some 'society.'" A good letter is the heart's sunshine. A careless letter might just as well be tossed into the open grate. By all means, revive the art of letter-writing, even if you only help out Uncle Sam's expenses.

After an hour's hard prevarication, the musical instrument dealer had succeeded at last in working off the cheap contraption on a customer at four times its value. "Where shall I send it?" he inquired, when the customer signified that he gave in. "To 550 Big street. My flat is on the third floor," was the response. The enterprising tradesman's jaw fell. He had moved with his family the day before to the flat on the second floor of 550 Big street on a three years' agreement.

"A woman is a better talker than a man," said Harry Lehr, at a dinner in Newport. "A woman can say in one neat, graceful phrase more than a man could pack into a paragraph. I stood in a railway station the other day and on all sides wives about

DON'T STARVE YOURSELF

In an Effort to Cure Stomach Trouble.

It Is Better to Tone up the Stomach and Eat What You Want.

If you have indigestion, gas on the stomach, sour stomach, acid stomach, belching or heartburn, if you cannot eat substantial, nourishing food without distress, your stomach is weak. As a great deal of your comfort, happiness and success depends on a good digestion, you want to be able to eat anything your appetite craves. Don't try to get relief by cutting down your diet to a starvation basis but strengthen your stomach until you can eat good, nourishing food. What you want is a better digestion, not a poorer diet.

Mr. Schriver Simms, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to sufferers from stomach trouble because they cured me after I had failed to get relief from the doctors. I began to suffer from indigestion several years ago. I think the trouble was caused by overwork and irregular hours for eating. I had to be very careful about what I ate as anything but the lightest foods would upset my stomach. Gas formed on my stomach, causing me to feel bloated. My blood was in bad shape and my face was broken out. I tried several kinds of medicines and took treatment from several doctors but failed to get well. Finally I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by a druggist and had not taken more than two boxes before I could see they were helping me. I took the pills steadily for several weeks when my stomach was in better condition than it had been for a long time. I can now eat nearly anything I want to and feel no distress. I gained over nine pounds in weight and feel better than I have in years."

The value of the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is shown by the thousands of cures the pills have made in the various forms of stomach trouble, as acid stomach, nervous dyspepsia, neuritis of the stomach, gastritis and catarrh of the stomach. A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," giving valuable information will be sent free upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

HOW I MADE MY HAIR GROW

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gives Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures, I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It is equally good for removing dandruff, giving the hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and range in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has stopped the falling of his hair and wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Bay Rum, 6 oz.; Menthol Crystals, 14 drachms; Lavone de Compose, 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add a few drops of To-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary. Apply night and morning, rub thoroughly into the scalp. Go to your druggist and ask for an eight ounce bottle containing all the ingredients of Bay Rum; also one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals, and a two-ounce bottle of Lavone de Compose. Mix the ingredients yourself at your own home. Add the Menthol Crystals to the Bay Rum and then pour in the Lavone de Compose and add the To-Kalon Perfume. It stands one-half hour and it is ready for use.

Hall & Lyon, the well known and popular druggists of this city, have filled this formula for many of their patrons and state that the satisfaction from its use is so great that they have found it necessary to make a special provision to fill the prescription promptly and carefully.

To start south for the winter were taking leave of their husbands. I heard one really charming wife say, as she held her husband's hand: "Goodby, dear. Don't forget to write."

"No, no; I'll write often," he replied earnestly.

"Yes, do, if it's only a check," said she.

ONE FACE ALONE

One face, and one alone, I long to see,
Ten thousand others pass me on my way;
Ten thousand others! Yet I yearn for thee,
And yearning for thee, pine the live-long day.

The nesting thrush hath settled on her nest;
The raven through the twilight seeks his home;
But, banished from thy side, with aching breast
I sit forsaken in the gathering gloam.

Sweet from its turret peals the angelus
The pallid moon climbs yonder eastern tree;
Night folds around me, softly, piteous
One face, and one alone, I long to see.

The laborer ceases labor; at his cot
His wife awaits him with her little brood;
Ah, humble swain, how happy seems thy lot,
Viewed from mine empty void of solitude!

O, weight of utter, utter loneliness,
Amidst a multitude, yet barred from thee!
Without thee, all the world is wilderness,
One face and one alone, I long to see.

—Walter Malone.

MRS. PHILIP POWERS

BOSTON WOMAN GRANTED A DIVORCE AT ELKO

RENO, Nev., May 17.—Mrs. Mary Powers, wife of Philip C. Powers, junior member of a firm of paper manufacturers of Boston, was granted a divorce and the custody of her three daughters at Elko, Nev., yesterday.

In order to escape publicity she avoided Reno and made her residence at Elko, where she has lived in comparative obscurity since October.

Mrs. Powers testified that her husband, whom she married at her parents' home in Massachusetts, in May, 1899, was kind to her for several years, but later became indifferent, and in 1909 failed to provide for her. She did not ask for alimony, as property settlement was effected out of court. She left last night for Boston.

HUMANE SOCIETY

HAS ENGAGED AN ASSISTANT TO AGENT RICHARDSON

The directors of the Lowell Humane society have appointed an assistant to Agent C. F. Richardson in the person of C. Frederick Gilmore. The work of the society has grown so fast and the need of close application to the work of caring for suffering animals during the summer months being so evident it was thought best to employ a man at once.

Mr. Gilmore is 26 years of age and was a former employee at the Father John's medicine plant for a number of years. He is a member of Co. K, Sixth regiment and is now serving his second enlistment. For the present he will work in conjunction with Agent Richardson and will gradually assume charge of the small animal work.

CLEANING-DAY HINTS

To clean salty matted use a cloth wet in clean salty water, washing until clean, but wetting no more than necessary, then wiping dry at once. Do only a small space at one time, drying as it is washed, until the whole has been gone over.

For cleaning furniture a mixture of turpentine, well shaken, is recommended. Use only a very little at one time, rubbing well until all the oil is rubbed into the wood or removed. Use a wooden rag. This is said not only to hide all scratches and discolored parts, but restores the wood to its natural color and gives it a fine luster.

71 Baker St., Patience, N. Y. — "Shortly after my little nephew was born, his eyes became swollen and inflamed, and then the inflammation spread all over his face and head were fairly raw. He would go to sleep, then water would pour out of his face. His suffering was so terrible that his mother never slept in bed for four months as she had to lie on a couch alongside his cradle and rock him all night. His head was so bad that it always had to be wrapped in a silk handkerchief. He scratched his face until it bled. Every time he was held he had to be held in a blanket so as to keep him from scratching. He had it for nine months. One doctor said that he had never seen a baby who had ever been so badly scratched. The baby's face, neck and head were all raw and he would not let the baby's face be touched. He would scratch himself dead."

"We used different ointments advertised to cure eczema, but with no relief. Then I used a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my sister after trying, seeing that they saved him, bought the Cuticura Remedies. The ointment he would get would be when his mother would wash him with Cuticura Soap and then apply the Cuticura Ointment. He stopped scratching and when he had used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, his face was healed. He is now a year old and has as pretty skin as any baby ever had. There had not a scar on his face anywhere, and he has a fine head of hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment completely cured him." (Signed) Miss Lilla Valerius, New York City.

Write for a free sample. Ointment is sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. book. Address: "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Try Cuticura. It will save you from scratching. It will save you from scratching. It will save you from scratching.

A LITTLE NONSENSE

CUTTING THE COST.

Fishmonger—We have some genuine diamond-backed terrapin this morning. Mrs. Nutridge—But diamonds are so dreadfully expensive. Haven't you some with rhinestone backs?

HER THEORY.

"I get paid for what I know, not for what I do." "Aren't you always overdraining your salary account?"

EXTREMES.

Old Toper—My doctor says that drinking beer will make me fat! Mrs. Toper—That may be, but it's more liable to make you lean.

A LOTTERY.

"Do you expect to be happy in your married life?" "I'm taking a gambler's chance."

NOT THE HIGHEST RECOMMENDATION.

Friend—And who does the baby resemble? Proud Papa—Come outside and I will tell you. I haven't the heart to do it in the little fellow's presence.
